Issues

Is the termination of service of Shri V. Chacko justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

The facts of the case are as follows:—

Messrs. Williamson Magor & Co. Ltd. (hereinafter ferred to as the Company) is a Company having as business the agency of several Companies incor-rated in England and owning tea gardens in India, d functioning as the Managing Agents, Secretaries d Treasurers of several Companies incorporated in dia and owning tea gardens in India. Shri V. acko, the workman mentioned in the issue of the order of reference was employed by the Company as a garden auditor with effect from 1st September 1958. His main duty was to audit the accounts of the tea gardens under the management of the Company. He was appointed on probation for six months. The Company extended his probationary period up to 30th June 1959 and he was later confirmed with effect from 1st January 1960. A charge-sheet was issued to him on 23rd August 1960; he gave a reply to the charge-sheet on 27th August 1960 denying the allegation mentioned in the charge-sheet. Thereafter the Company did not pursue the matter further. On 24th January 1961 he wrote a letter to the Company making certain grievances as to the conditions of his tour in the tea gardens in Assam under the management of the Company. The Company gave him a reply on 28th February 1961. In that letter the Company pointed out that it did not like to receive such complaints about touring arrangement and suggested to him that it would perhaps be best for him to look for alternative employment elsewhere which would be according to his taste. On 30th March 1961 the Company issued to him a letter terminating his service. It is stated in that letter that the termination of his service is in accordance with the terms and conditions of his appointment as set out in the letter of his confirmation.

The case of Messrs Williamson Magor & Co. Employees' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union), briefly stated, is as follows: Mr. N. O. McDonald, Head of the Internal Audit Department of the Company and Shri V. Chacko who was working under him were out on tour together in the tea gardens in Assam under the management of the Company in July 1960. Shri V. Chacko was to return from tour to Calcutta on 10th July 1960 and Mr. McDonald was to return on 14th July 1960. Mr. N. O. McDonald accordingly asked Shri V. Chacko in writing to do two pieces of his personal work on return to Calcutta. On account of the situation then prevailing in Assam due to language trouble there Shri V. Chacko could not reach Calcutta earlier than 14th July 1960, the day on which Mr. McDonald also came to Calcutta from a different place in Assam. Naturally Shri V. Chacko could not do the private work which Mr. McDonald had asked him to do. So Mr. McDonald become angry with Shri V. Chacko. They met on 15th July 1960, when Mr. McDonald showed his anger by telling Shri V. Chacko that he was a lazy fellow and could easily come to Calcutta on 10th July 1960. Mr. McDonald also told him that unless he gave up his job in the Company, he would make his life miserable. Thereafter the Company issued to Shri Chacko the charge-sheet mentioned above. Failing to do him any harm by the issue of the charge-sheet, Mr. McDonald began to harass Shri V. Chacko by various ways while on tour together in the tea gardens in Assam. The arrangements for food and accommodation for Shri V. Chacko while on tour in the tea gardens were not good; they were made worse due to the harassing tactics of Mr. McDonald. So Shri V. Chacko brought the difficulties of his tour to the notice of the Company by his letter, dated 24th January 1961, mentioned above. The Company gave the reply, dated the 28th February 1961, mentioned above. Nothing happened between 28th February 1961 and 30th March 1961. It is true that the terms of employment of Shri V. Chacko contained a provision that the Company could terminate his service on two months' notice, as mentioned in the letter of dismissal, dated the 30th March 1961. The Union, however, contends that it has been decided in several cases by the Supreme Court of India that mere mention of a provision in the terms of employment is not enough to justify the termination of service of a workman and that the termination of service in such a case has got to be justified by proper reasons. As nothing happened after the letter of the Company, dated 28th February 1961, the Company had no reason to terminate the service of Shri V. Chacko. The Union contends that the termination of his service is an instance of victimisation on account of the anger which Mr. McDonald was nursing on account of the failure of Shri V. Chacko to carry out the private work entrusted to him. So the Union contends that the termination of service of Shri V. Chacko is unjustified.

The Company has raised a preliminary objection. It is stated in the preliminary objection as follows: -- "Shri V. Chacko was employed by the Company as a garden auditor. As a garden auditor his duty was to check accounts, statements and books which had been written and prepared by the clerical staff in the gardens under the agency of the Company and also to direct, control and/or supervise or manage the work of audit or maintenance of accounts in various gardens and to see that the accounts are kept in order". The Company has also stated that at the time of termination of his service Shri V. Chacko was drawing a monthly salary of Rs. 637.50. Though the Company has not stated in so many words, it means by the above statement that Shri V. Chacko is not a workman on account of the exception mentioned in sub-clauses 3 and 4 of clause (S) defining a workman in section 2 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company wants to say that Shri V. Chacko is employed mainly in managerial or administrative capacity or that drawing a monthly salary of more than Rs. 500 per month he is employed in a supervisory capacity. Therefore the Company contends that Shri V. Chacko is not a workman as defined in clause (S) of section 2 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and that as such the present dispute about the termination of his service is not an industrial dispute.

As to the merits of the case, the Company admits that Mr. N. O. McDonald asked Shri V. Chacko to do the personal work mentioned by the Union; but the Company denies that Mr. McDonald became angry and told Shri V. Chacko what has been alleged in the statement of the Union on account of the failure of the latter to do the personal wrok. The Company however says that Shri V. Chacko's inability to reach Calcutta on 10th July 1960 was due to his refusal to accept the transport offered by the tea estate from which he was to leave for Calcutta. As to the charge-sheet issued to Shri Chacko on 23rd August 1960, the Company says that the allegations mentioned in that charge-sheet are true and that the Company took a lenient view of the matter. The Company denies the allegation made by the Union as to the behaviour of Mr. McDonald in making the conditions of tour difficult for Shri V. Chacko. The Company admits the contents of its letters dated 28th February 1961 and 30th March 1961, as mentioned by the Union. The Company in its written statement reiterates its stand as stated its letter, dated 30th March 1961 (letter of termination of service) that the termination of service of S V. Chacko was in accordance with the condition his service. The Company also states in its writt statement that the termination of service of Shri Chacko was a 'termination simpliciter' and not the ground of misconduct or any other ground. the Company contends that the termination of service is justified.

Findings

I first take up the preliminary objection raised the Company. It is undisputed that the work of S V. Chacko consisted mainly of checking the books accounts prepared by the clerks in the tea gard visited by him. On this it has been argued on beh of the Company that his work is mainly that of sup vision. But checking of the work of a clerk can termed as supervision if the clerk is a subordinate the person who checks the work of the clerk. It clear from the circumstances in the present c that the clerks in tea gardens who have prepared t books of accounts are not subordinates of Shri Chacko. If checking the accounts prepared another is ipso facto supervision, then every clerk an audit establishment becomes a supervisor. this connection Shri D. L. Sen Gupta appearing the Union has referred to two decisions of the Labo Appellate Tribunal of India. One is a decision in t case of Madan Gopal reported at page 414 of L.L. 1956, Volume I. There it has been held that checking of agency vouchers, (ii) checking and sig ing of agency statements, (iii) drafting or checking agency letters, (iv) checking of current accou ledger, and (v) checking of cash book are duties essentially a clerical nature. The other decision is the case of National Tobacco Co. of India report at page 160 of L.L.J., 1954, Volume I. In that ca it has been held that the duties of a touring audit including checking and calculating figures we clerical in nature. These two decisions show t duties which should be considered to be clerical nature. In the present case Shri V. Chacko w doing duties similar to those mentioned in the abo two decisions. Further it is clear from the evidem of P.W. 1 Shri Balak Nath Ghosh, Secretary of t Union, that the Company has treated Shri V. Chack as a clerk for all purposes. So it does not now with the Company to contend that Shri V. Chacko not a clerk. So I hold that his duty was not of supe visory or managerial character and that as such is a workman. Hence I hold that this is an industri dispute.

I now enter into the merits of the issue. The mai contention of the Union is that the termination service of Shri V. Chacko is mala fide on the groun that his service was terminated as Mr. McDonal became angry with him on account of his failure t oblige Mr. McDonald by doing his personal work To prove mala fides the Union has tried to tak advantage of every circumstances. For example, th Union has stated in its written statement that thoug Shri V. Chacko was appointed on probation for si months, he was confirmed after more than 1 months. The Union has wanted to suggest that Mr McDonald was responsible for this delay and that h had a mala fide intention in the matter. The Union has adduced no evidence in support of that suggest tion. Mr. McDonald has explained the circumstance of delay in confirming Shri V. Chacko. So the delay in confirming Shri V. Chacko is not an instance of any mala fide action on the part of the Company. Another instance cited by the Union both in its written statement and in the evidence of P.W. 2 Shri V. Chacko is that Mr. McDonald became angry with him for his failure to perform Mr. McDonald's personal work. Mr. McDonald has denied that he became angry for that reason. He has explained that the work which he had asked Shri V. Chacko to do was not so important that the latter's failure to do the work would enrage him. But the vehemence with which the Company has tried to prove that Shri V. Chacko could come to Calcutta on 10th July 1960 does not lead to an inference that Mr. McDonald did not put any importance on the work entrusted to Shri V. Chacko. It is also worthy to note that in less than two months Mr. McDonald himself issued a charge-sheet to Shri V. Chacko. The Union contends that the allegations in the charge-sheet are false, whereas the Company says that they are true. The charge-sheet has not been produced before me by either of the parties. So it is not possible for me to ascertain the truth or otherwise of the allegations mentioned in the charge-sheet. But this has been brought out in evidence that after the receipt of the explanation of Shri V. Chacko to the charge-sheet, the Company did not proceed further. So it cannot be said that the issue of the charge-sheet had nothing to do with the personal feeling of Mr. McDonald about Shri V. Chacko on account of the latter's failure to do the former's personal work. Both Shri V. Chacko and Mr. McDonald have devoted a very large part of their evidence to different incidents in course of their joint tour in the tea gardens in Assam. Shri V Chacko has wanted to say that these incidents show a bias of Mr. N. O. McDonald against him. Mr. McDonald has given his version of the incidents and according to his version the incidents do not show any personal feeling of Mr. McDonald against Shri V. Chacko. Those incidents relate to the accommodation, food and transport arranged for Shri V. Chacko while on tour. It appears that on some occasions Shri V. Chacko had to give up staying with the managerial staff and had to stay with the clerical staff in some tea gardens. Shri V. Chacko says that Mr. McDonald was responsible for this; Mr. McDonald has denied this. Even if it be taken that Mr. McDonald was responsible for this, that by itself is not a proof of any ill-feeling of Mr. McDonald towards Shri V. Chacko. As Shri V. Chacko was entitled to stay with the clerical staff in the gardens while on tour, Mr. McDonald was perfectly justified in seeing that Shri V. Chacko did not stay with the managerial staff and stayed with the clerical staff. Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate of the Union, has questioned Mr. McDonald as to whether there was any stipulation in the letter of appointment issued to Shri V. Chacko as to the kind of accommodation and food to which he was entitled during his tour. But Shri Sen Gupta forgets that Shri V. Chacko even in his examination-in-chief has stated that ordinarily he was entitled while on tour to accommodation at the houses of clerks. So whatever version of the incident may be accepted, it must be held that Mr. McDonald was justified in seeing that Shri V. Chacko stayed with the clerks while on tour.

The Company in its written statement has not given any reason for the termination of service of Shri V. Chacko; it says that it is a 'termination simpliciter'. The written statement of the Company conveys the impression that the Company wants to say that it is not bound to disclose before this Court the reason why it terminated the service of Shri V. Chacko, since it terminated its service in accordance with the terms of his employment. But it has been held by the Supreme Court of India in several cases that it is too late now to contend that the contractual power of the employer to discharge his employee under the terms of contract of service could not be questioned in any case. Shri S. K. Bose, Counsel appearing for the Company has conceded that this Court has the jurisdiction to enquire why the service of Shri V. Chacko was terminated, even though the Company says that it is a 'termination simpliciter'. Shri Bose, however, says that if this Court is satisfied that the Company acted bona fide, this Court should not interfere. I shall advert to this proposition of law later on. Though the Company in its written statement has not stated the reason of the termination of the service of Shri V. Chacko, O.P.W. 1 Mr. McDonald, Head of the Internal Audit Department of the Company says in his evidence that the termination of service of Shri V. Chacko was due to his unsuitability for the job to which he was employed. So it is necessary for me to ascertain as to whether the Company has been able to prove that Shri V. Chacko was unsuitable for the post to which he was employed. Before considering the evidence adduced in this case, I am mentioning some of the decisions on the point of law involved in this case referred to by both sides. Shri D. L. Sen Gupta appearing for the Union has referred to a decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Sett versus United Commercial Bank, reported at page 248 of L.A.C. 1953. But in that case the Labour Appellate Tribunal did not give any decision on the question whether an employer could terminate the service of an employee for alleged misconduct by the method of notice according to agreement to avoid an enquiry on a written charge. The Tribunal only said that it was a substantial question of law. Shri Sen Gupta has also referred to a decision of the same Tribunal in the case of Co-operative Assurance Company Ltd., reported at page 608 of the same journal. In that case it has been held that bonafides in discharging an employee must be proved before an adjudicating Tribunal. Shri Sen Gupta has also referred to a decision of the same tribunal in the case of Buckingham & Carnatic Co. reported at page 490 of L.A.C., 1952. There it has been held that a Tribunal would be entitled to know the reason behind the termination of the service of an employee under the Standing Orders in order to judge whether the action of the Management was bonafide and not arbitrary. As a matter of fact, this is the first time that the Labour Appellate Tribunal enunciated this principle. That Tribunal followed this principle in its subsequent decisions. Shri Sen Gupta has also referred to a decision of the same Tribunal in the case of L. N. Dutta, reported at page 74 of L.A.C., 1954. Though the principle enunciated in that case is relevant for the purpose of the present case, the facts of that case are not on all fours with the facts of the present case, because in that case the service of the employee was terminated after the issue of a charge-sheet. The principle of law enunciated by the Labour Appellate Tribunal has been upheld by the Supreme Court of India in its several decisions including those in the case of Assam Oil Company and U. B. Dutt & Co., reported at page 587 of L.L.J., 1960, Volume I and at page 374 of L.L.J., 1962, Volume II respectively; Shri Sen Gupta has referred to these decisions. The sum and substance of those decisions of the Supreme Court is that an Industrial Tribunal has the right to enquire into the causes that might have led to the termination of service of an employee, and if it is satisfied that the action taken was a colourable exercise of power and was not bonafide, it would have jurisdiction to set aside such termination. Shri S. K. Bose appearing for the Company has referred to a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Chartered Bank reported at page 222 of L.L.J., 1960, Volume II In that case the Supreme Court has reiterated the principle of law enunciated by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Buckingham Carnatic Co. mentioned above. It has, however, held that in that case the employer has shown good reason for the termination of service and has therefore upheld the termination.

Let us now assess the evidence in this case in the light of the above principle of law. Mr. McDonald has stated that Shri V. Chacko was unsuitable for the post to which he was employed. The reason why he or the management came to this conclusion seems to be that Shri Chacko pestered the management with his grievances about his accommodation and food on tour. I appreciate the feeling of the management that it should be annoyed by such pestering. The management has shown its reaction by its letter dated 28-2-61 in which it suggested to Shri V. Chacko to look for alternative employment elsewhere. Nobody can find any fault with the tone or contents of that letter. But the question arises what happened between the date of that letter and 30th March 1961 when the Company issued the letter terminating the service of Shri V. Chacko. Mr. McDonald has wanted to suggest that even after 28th February 1961 Shri V. Chacko approached the officers of the Company and verbally placed his grievances before them. Shri V. Chacko has denied the suggestion. It appears from the evidence adduced in this case that Shri V. Chacko has stated the truth when he says that he did not do anything about his grievance after 28th February 1961 and that he submitted to what has been stated in the letter of that date. So it is clear that the Company has failed to give any reason for the termination of the service of Shri V. Chacko. Hence it must be held that the termination of his service is arbitrary. Shri S. K. Bose has argued that if the Company has been able to satisfy this Court that it did not act malafide, it has discharged its onus in this case. Even if this proposition of law is accepted, the Company has failed to discharge this onus in this case. The Union has referred to certain incidents which took place in course of the joint tour of Mr. McDonald and Shri V. Chacko as showing a vindictive attitude on the part of Mr. McDonald. I have held that these incidents do not necessarily lead to an inference of vindictiveness on the part of Mr. McDonald. But the issue of an infructuous charge-sheet soon after Shri V. Chacko failed to do the personal work of Mr. McDonald cannot be explained except by holding that Mr. McDonald became annoyed with Shri V. Chacko on the latter's failure to do the personal work. Shri S. K. Bose has argued that this may be an inference of malafides on the part of Mr. McDonald; but there is no evidence as to malafides on the part of the management. It cannot be within the knowledge of the Union as to what took place between Mr. McDonald of the management; but t circumstances clearly show that the management influenced by Mr. McDonald. So I hold that t termination of service of Shri V. Chacko is not or arbitrary, but also malafide. I do not also accept t proposition of law contended by Shri S. K. Bo that it would be sufficient for the Company to sh that it acted bonafide. It has been held by t Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Buckingh Carnatic Co. that when the action of an employer terminating the service of an employee is arbitra that itself is an evidence of victimisation or unf labour practice. That enunciation of law has be upheld by the Supreme Court. So I hold that order to justify a 'termination simpliciter', an e ployer must not only show that it acted bonafi but also that its action was not arbitrary or cap cious. The above discussion shows that the Co pany has failed to do either in the present ca Hence I hold that the termination of service of Sh V. Chacko is not justified.

Next comes the question of relief. On the poi of relief Shri S. K. Bose for the Company has referr to a decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in t case of Bank of India Ltd. reported at page 214 L.L.J., 1955, Volume II. In that case it has be held that the decision of an industrial tribunal awar ing compensation and refusing the relief of reinstat ment does not involve any substantial question law. The Labour Appellate Tribunal has howev held in that case that in granting relief an Industri Tribunal should have peaceful settlement of a industrial dispute in view and should take into cons deration the viewpoint of not only the employee bu also of the employer. It is now a settled law th the normal relief in the case of an unjustified term nation of service is reinstatement. In the preser case the Company has not shown why the reinstat ment of Shri V. Chacko should stand in the way peaceful settlement of industrial disputes. The em ployer in this case may say that he does not like t reinstate Shri V. Chacko; but such a contention i likely to be raised by every employer who loses case of industrial adjudication. So after considerin the viewpoints of both the employer and the em ployee in the present case, I hold that reinstatemen is the proper relief in this case. Hence I order tha the Company shall reinstate Shri V. Chacko and pa him all back wages.

The above order shall be carried out within month of the publication of this award in th "Calcutta Gazette".

AWARD

After service of usual notices, both the parties entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The Company raised a preliminary objection also alleging that the present reference was bad in law in-as-much as the West Bengal Government was not the appropriate Government within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act to make the present reference. This objection was heard preliminarily on contest, and this Tribunal over-ruled this objection. The Hon'ble High Court was moved by the Company under Art. 227 of the Constitution in the matter of this preliminary objection and the order of this Tribunal. A rule also was issued by the High Court. But the Rule was ultimately discharged on 15th June 1962 as the Company's Advocate had no instruction to press the Rule. On 16th June 1962 both parties filed a joint petition of compromise before this Tribunal in view of a se ment out of Court on 8th June 1962. The me randum is also made an annexure to the petitio compromise. I have gone through the petitio compromise as well as the terms of settlement, I think, the terms are fair and lawful. So, the tion of compromise with annexure thereof is rec ed. I direct that the award be passed in terms of compromise read with the memorandum of se ment. MEMORANDUM OF SETTLEMENT

Parties:

(1) Southern Bank Limited, 24 Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and, (2) Southern Bank Employees' Association, 45-B Hara Mohan Ghose Lane, Calcutta-10.

(a) In the matter of an industrial dispute covered by reference No. 1470-IR/1R/11L-95/61, dated 24th March 1961, by the Labour Department, Government of West Bengal, in respect of the issue 'Puja Bonus 1960'.

and

(b) In the matter of industrial disputes covered by the Ref. No. 5156-IR/1R/11L-95(A)/61, dated 24th August 1961 issued by the Government of West Bengal for adjudication of disputes relating to (1) scales of pay, (2) dearness allowance, (3) house rent, and (4) confirmation in service between

The above parties referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, Government of West Bengal.

Short Recital of the Cases

The Southern Bank Employees' Association representing the workmen of the said Bank after its formation in 1960, raised several disputes of which the demands for puja bonus for 1960 and other disputes including the question of scales of pay, the dearness allowance, house rent and confirmation in service figured prominently. The Bank used to pay one month's salary as puja bonus to the staff for the last several years and its abrupt stoppage in 1960 created unrest and discontentment amongst the employees. The dispute was referred to the Labour Department, Government of West Bengal, who held some conciliation proceedings, on failure of which the issue was referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, Government of West Bengal in terms of reference as mentioned in (a) above.

Subsequently, the disputes relating to pay scales, dearness allowance, house rent and the confirmation in service were also referred to the same Tribunal by a separate order of reference as mentioned in (b) above.

The said Tribunal issued notices on the parties calling for filing statements of claims from the workmen and also for rejoinder, if any, by the Management. In accordance with the said directions, the employees' union filed their statements of claim on 22nd April 1961 and on 6th November 1961 in respect of two references separately and the Bank submitted their statements in reply on 5th July 1961, and on 15th January 1962, respectively. The hearing on the disputes could not however take place as yet as the Bank, in connection with the dispute mentioned in (a) above, challenged the jurisdiction and competence of the said Tribunal in entertaining the dispute on the ground that in relation to the Bank, the Central Government is the appropriate Government. The Tribunal per its judgment, dated 13th October 1961, ruled out the objection raised by the Bank and assumed jurisdiction to entertain the dispute. The Bank challenged the said decision before the Honble High Court, Calcutta, and the hearing of the said matter is pending.

The parties, however, strongly felt that with a view to develop good employer-employee relationship, the disputes should be settled mutually and accordingly, the parties negotiated between themselves to decide the suitable terms and conditions for a settlement. The parties have now agreed to accept the following terms and conditions to settle the disputes.

The employees' association on behalf of all the employees of the Bank assure full and active co-operation of all the employees in the day-to-day working of the Bank at its Head Office and the Branches.

In lieu of the Bonus claimed by the employees from year to year it is hereby agreed between the parties:—

That henceforth, there would be only one scale of pay for the clerical staff and one scale of pay for the subordinate staff which would be as under:—

(i) Scale of pay for the clerical staff- Rs. 70—4—90—5—140—8—180—10—220.

(ii) Scale of pay for the subordinate staff—Rs. 35—2—65—3—92.

(2) That all employees (in both clerical and subordinate cadre) in the existing grades be fitted into the newly introduced scales as per clause 1, at a stage which is corresponding to or next above their present total emoluments (i.e. total of existing pay and dearness allowance in each individual employee's case) in the existing grades.

(3) That after the employees' total emoluments are adjusted in the new scale as per clause 2, dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 12.50 for the clerical staff and Rs. 7.50 for the subordinate staff be paid.

(4) That if the average cost of living for the city of Calcutta as published in Indian Labour Journal published by the Government of India (base 1949-100) for middle class employees, for three months beginning from April 1962 rises by 4 points or more over the first quarter of the year 1962, then the dearness allowance as provided in clause 3 will be raised for every such rise in the cost of living by Rs. 5 in case of clerical staff and Rs. 3 in case of subordinate staff for the succeeding quarter.

(5) That the puja bonus for the year 1961 shall be paid to the staff by the Bank at the rate of one month's salary as payable in the month of October 1961. All advances given against such bonus to the workmen shall be recovered and adjusted from the bonus so payable in terms of this clause.

(6) That in addition to scales of pay and the rates of dearness allowance a special allowance (which shall form part of the pay) shall be paid to the following categories of the staff at the rate indicated below in consideration of the higher skill and/or responsibilities involved in the nature of their duties.

	Per month Rs.
(a) Chief Cashier of all offices	... 15
(b) Zamadar	... 20
(c) Driver	... 15

Such special allowance shall be payable only during the period they are employed to carry out the aforesaid duties.

(7) That the existing pay of the workmen shall not be reduced in any case and all existing allowances other than the dearness allowance and the special allowances as in clauses 3 and 6 above will continue to be paid to concerned workmen at the current rates.

(8) That all employees engaged on probationery and/or temporary basis serving the Bank for a total period of 180 days with or without break of service shall be deemed to have been confirmed after the expiry of 180 days and will be entitled to all benefits accruing to all permanent members of the staff.

(9) That this agreement will be given retrospective effect from 1st January 1962 and will remain in force up to 31st December 1963. The payaments hereunder, due to the staff will be effected within three weeks from the date of this agreement, but in no case later than 21st June 1962.

(10) That the Bank agrees to withdraw its aforesaid appeal before the High Court within seven days of the execution of this agreement and on the same date this agreement will be filed jointly by both the parties before the 5th Industrial Tribunal, Government of West Bengal with the prayer to pass a consent award in terms of this agreement in settlement of both the disputes referred to it under reference No. 1470-IR/IR/11L-95/61, dated 24th March 1961, and reference No. 5156-IR/IR/11L-95(A)/61 of 24th August 1961.

(11) That as to payment of bonus in future, the General Manager and the General Secretary of the Association will meet at the end of every annual General Meeting and their recommendation will be duly considered by the Board.

Signed at Calcutta, this 8th day of June 1962.

After the parties made their appearances and put in their respective written statements and completed all necessary tadbirs, the case was fixed for hearing on 19th July 1962. On that date the parties came to terms and put in a joint petition of compromise settling the present dispute between them out of court. I have gone through the terms of settlement and accepted the same as being quite fair and reasonable. Accordingly I hereby pass a compromise award in terms of settlement. The petition of compromise shall form part of the Award as an Annexure thereto.

The Government of West Bengal by its Lab Department order No. 475-I.R./IR/10L-29/60, da 8th February 1960, referred to this Tribunal industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan I & Steel Co., 68 Jessore Road, Dum Dum, Calcu (Head Office at 8 Rajendra Deb Road, Calcutt (hereafter referred to as the Company) and th workmen represented by Hindusthan Iron & St Co. Workers' Union, 48 Dharamtolla Street, C cutta-13 (hereafter referred to as the Union), adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial I putes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adju cation in this case runs as follows: -

Whether the workmen are entitled to any bo for 1957 and 1958? If so, at what rate?

AWARD

Both the parties have filed their written sta ments stating their respective cases. The Un inter alia alleges that the present Company p ducing iron and steel engineering products for t last 30 years has been employing about 1,000 wo men. It is alleged that the Company has earned huge profit in the 2 years in question as a result hard work of its workmen who were never well-pa The Union accordingly pressed for 5 months' wag as bonus for each of the two years under reference.

The Company, on the other hand, inter alia alle that bonus was never paid to the workmen of t concern as a condition of service. Actually t Company paid bonus in 1957 and 1958 to its wo men equivalent to Rs. 71,459.08 nP. in full and fi settlement of their claim for bonus for the afores years. Hence, they are not entitled to any furth bonus for the said years.

Decisions

It may be mentioned at the very outset that th Company was originally a proprietory concern. Th concern has been, however, converted into a partne ship business since October 1959. The issue, as stands, is in respect of bonus for 1957 and 195 But it is the common case of both the parties th the business year of this concern ends some time i October or November of each year, and actually th business of this concern is carried on with referenc to Hindi year. Accordingly, it is not in dispute tha the workmen really claim bonus out of profits any, earned during the year 1956-57 ending on 21s October 1957 and 1957-58 ending on 9th Novembe

1958. In fact, the calculation of available surplus submitted by the workmen is based on such business years, and the balance-sheets filed by the Company also relate to these years. It may also be stated here that the claim for bonus in this particular case is not based on any custom connected with any festive occasion. Nor it is the case of the workmen that the payment of bonus is a condition of service. Customary bonus cannot but be connected with a festival, and bonus as a condition of service must be payable irrespective of profit or loss for a considerable number of years. In the present case, the claim is neither based on custom nor on condition of service. The workmen really claims for profit-sharing bonus out of available surplus, if any, from the profits earned during the relevant years. The first essential condition for justifying a demand for profit bonus is that the wages of the workmen fall short of the living wages, I may mention at once that it is not the case of the Company that it has been paying living wages to its workmen. It is the categorical statement of the workmen in their written statement that they have been always receiving poor wages. The Company, of course, vaguely denies this allegation, but never categorically asserts that the wages they have been paying to their workmen are actually living wages. It is more or less an accepted principle of law by now that the payment of living wages to one or a few workers is not sufficient for establishing that the Company actually pays living wages to all its workmen. If the average of the wages paid to the workmen as a whole reaches a living standard, then only the workmen may be said to have been receiving living wages. It is needless to say that in a country like ours, payment of living wages to general workmen is yet a dream to be fulfilled, and will remain an ideal for many years to come. So, from the facts and circumstances, I conclude without further discussion that this first essential condition for a demand for profit-sharing bonus has actually been satisfied, and in fact it is not in dispute also.

The second condition for profit bonus is that the Company must earn profits during the year for which bonus is claimed. In case of Company's incurring loss, the question of profit-sharing bonus does not arise at all. In this connection I may at once refer to the Company's balance-sheet for the relevant years, and it will appear therefrom that the Company earned a fairly big amount of net profit in each of the two years. It is also the categorical statement of the Company that it has already paid some bonus to its workmen out of the profits of the relevant years. So, it goes without saying that the second condition for claiming profit bonus is also satisfied in this case.

From what I have pointed out about, it will be clear that during the years under consideration, this concern was a proprietory one, and in respect of those years the Company has its balance-sheet and profit and loss account to show the business position. I may also mention that though the workmen have challenged the entries in the balance-sheets in respect of certain items, generally speaking the entries thereof are not seriously challenged on behalf of the workmen, and nothing sufficient has been shown why the balance-sheets or the profit and loss account should be outright rejected. The Union has practically adduced very little evidence to dislodge the balance-sheet or the profit and loss account in respect of the two years in question. As regards some objections regarding minor details, I shall discuss the same as and when the point is actually considered in this award.

As I am concerned only with the profit-sharing bonus in the present case, I may straightway mention that it is a settled law by now that this profit bonus should be determined in accordance with the Full Bench Formula since approved by their Lordships of the Supreme Court in different decisions and finally considered in the A.C.C. case. It may be argued that the Full Bench Formula must be applied with due caution, because all business concerns are not of the same type. There may be a proprietory concern where proprietor works day and night and takes no separate remuneration. It may be that the business is purely a trading concern and not a manufacturing one, and the elaborate principles enunciated in the Full Bench Formula may not be always equitably applied in a stereotyped form. But I may observe that it has been clearly held by their Lordships in the A.C.C. case that this formula can be and should be applied in all cases and no injustice is likely to be done to either party if the formula be applied after due consideration of the circumstances of each case. Fortunately for me, the present concern is a manufacturing concern, and the Full Bench Formula also was originally conceived in connection with manufacturing concerns. So, this contention has less force so far as the present case it concerned. With this brief observation, I may at once point out that for applying this formula, the first thing the Tribunal is to do is to find out the gross profits for the purpose of bonus in accordance with the Full Bench Formula, and then deduct therefrom the prior charges for calculating the available surplus for distribution as bonus amongst the workers. As the balance-sheet and the profit and loss account of the two relevant years remain more or less unshaken, the gross profits and the available surplus must be calculated with reference to these documents. The Union has filed two calculations to show what should be the available surplus in respect of the two relevant years. I quote these calculations verbatim for facilitating my discussion in respect thereof and complying the same with the calculations submitted by the Management:—

On the other hand, the Company has also filed two charts showing their calculation of available surplus for the two relevant years. These two charts have been marked Exts. C and C-1. Exhibit C will show that in calculating the available surplus for 1956-57 the Company at once starts with an idea that the gross profits earned during the year 1956-57 amounted to Rs. 3.50 lakhs. But it does not explain in detail how this amount of gross-profits has been arrived at. Similarly, in calculating the available surplus for 1957-58, the Company has at once assumed the gross profits to be Rs. 4.68 lakhs without showing how the figure has been worked out. So, I must see how far the Union's calculation is correct, and what is the amount of gross profits in either of these two years. The balance-sheet will show that the net profit earned during the year 1956-57 was Rs. 1.14 lakhs. In that year the Company paid Rs. 291 only as donation, and this donation cannot be considered as revenue expenditure. Similarly, certain amount has been shown as donation in the year 1957-58 also. As donation is not a revenue expenditure for calculating the gross profits for bonus purpose, these donations should be added back to the net profit of the years as shown in the profit and loss account. In respect of both the years, the Company has made provision for some depreciation. According to the Full Bench Formula, the amount shown as provision for depreciation must be added back for ascertaining the gross profits before the prior charge of notional normal depreciation is deducted. From the profit and loss account of the two years in question it will appear that certain amounts have been debited for machinery repair and replacement as also for factory building repair and replacement in each year. The learned representative of the workmen contends that these two amounts should not be treated as revenue expenditure and they should be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. The learned representative for the Company urges that these two items of expenditure in each year were really revenue expenditures, and not rehabilitation charges within the meaning of the Full Bench Formula. It is needless to mention that the repair charges are undoubtedly revenue expenditure. But while showing this item of expenditure in the profit and loss account, the Auditor has mentioned the same partly by way of replacement also. Hence, it is sought to be argued that the word "replacement" pre-supposes rehabilitation within the meaning of the Full Bench Formula, and so the amount should be added back before rehabilitation charges, if any, be deducted as prior charges. Only one witness has been examined on behalf of the workmen, and his deposition is that both in 1957 and 1958 the Company purchased new machines and constructed new buildings for different purposes. But in his cross-examination, he is forced to say that he saw the acquisition of one press machine only for the Anchor Department in 1957. He further admits that he cannot give the date of acquisition of different machines mentioned by him in his examination-in-chief. He also says that the work of the Anchor Department started in right earnest in May/June 1958 and not before. Thus it appears that the statement of this witness is rather vague and shaky. On the other hand, there is nothing in the balance-sheet or the profit and loss account to show that any new machine was acquired or that any new building was constructed in either of these two years. The Accountant of the Company has been examined on behalf of the Management, and he swears that the facts and figures of the profit and loss account and the balance-sheet are true and based on actual data disclosed by the Company's books of accounts. He further swears that the figures shown under the heading "maintenance, repairs and replacement" do not really include any amount by which any new machine was acquired. The whole amount under this head has been spent for repair, maintenance and up-keep of the machineries already existing in the Company. If any worn out part of a machine is replaced by way of repair or alteration, the life of the machine may be extended. But in the present case replacement was never wholesale replacement of any particular machine. According to this witness, during the period 1956-57 and 1957-58 there was no new construction, though there might have been replacement of some sheds in these two years. According to this witness, a new building in front of the factory gate actually commenced some time in 1959, and not during the two relevant years. Thus the word "replacement" as it occurs in the profit and loss account appears to me to be "replacement of parts of some worn out machinery by way of repair and overhauling" and it does not mean wholesale replacement or complete rehabilitation or modernisation of the machineries. I may also point out that in either of these two years, the Company has not claimed any amount by way of rehabilitation charges including charges for modernisation, rehabilitation and renewal. There is no spute that the Company has many machineries ed for its manufacturing purpose, and under the esent economic condition of the business world the mpany could surely claim certain amount as habilitation charges, and still the Company has not me it for reasons best known to it. So, it is fficult for me to believe that the Company indirect- included in the said two items of expenditure some nount for modernisation, renewal or rehabilitation contended on behalf of the Company. The Com- ny has filed two long lists to show how these penditures have been incurred by way of repair and placement. But these two statements have not en formally proved. So, I refrain from referring these lists. From the evidence on record, how- er, I may simply observe that these two items of penditure should be treated as revenue expendi- re debitable against the profits earned during the ar. In this view of the matter, I think, the charges maintenance, repair and replacement as shown in profit and loss account should not be added back determining the gross profits.

It is also urged that the interest paid by the oprietor on borrowed capital should also be added ck for ascertaining the gross profits. I may at ce refer to the balance-sheet of the year 1956-57 this connection and from the balance-sheet it will pear that the Company used a large amount of rrowed capital for carrying on the business besides e capital supplied by the proprietor himself. So, fail to see any reason why the interest paid on such rrowed capital should not be treated as revenue penditure. So, the interest shown in the profit and ss account cannot be added back for determining oss profits. The profit and loss account of the year 57-58 shows that the Company incurred some loss sale of machineries which were no doubt capital sets of the Company. It is now settled law that pital loss or capital gain cannot be treated as venue expenditures or business profit. The capital ss, if any, must be charged to the capital of the ncern and may be recouped from the rehabilitation harges as and when claimed. But such capital loss not be treated as revenue expenditure, and so I nk, the Union is right in asking me to add back s amount of capital loss for ascertaining the gross fits for the year 1957-58. I have already mentioned t some bonus has been paid by the Management the employees out of the profits of the two evant years, and evidently these amounts—not ng paid as customary bonus or as condition of vice should be added back for ascertaining the ss profits. So, I give below the proper calculations gross profits in respect of both the years in estion.

he gross profits having been assessed as above, n not to deduct the prior charges in accordance with the Full Bench Formula. The first item of deduction is notional normal depreciation. According to the chart filed by the Union, the Company has not claimed any amount under this item. But I may at once point out that this statement of the Union is not correct. In fact, the Company has filed a calculation to show the amount of notional normal depreciation (vide Ext. D-series read with Ext. E-series.) It has also shown therein what should be the amount of notional normal depreciation for deduction out of the gross profits of the years in question. It is now settled law that in calculating notional normal depreciation, we shall have to ignore the initial and additional depreciations allowed under clauses (vi), (via), (vib) and (vii) of sub-section (2) of section 10 of the Income-tax Act of 1922 as modified up to 1960. But the Company in its calculation in Exts. D-series and E-series have not shown the details as to how the calculations have been actually made. Such notional normal depreciation is to be calculated in Straight Line Method, according to prescribed rates—taking the original price of the relevant assets of the Company. But the Company in this case has simply taken the written down value as in the beginning of the relevant years, and calculated notional normal depreciation by deducting special depreciation out of statutory depreciation calculated for income-tax purpose. Normally, calculation of notional normal depreciation strictly according to rules is not likely to be smaller that what has been calculated by the Company in this case in the peculiar way mentioned above. So, for the purpose of this case, I take the Company's assessment of notional normal depreciation to be correct. Accordingly, I think, a sum of Rs. 1.38 lakhs should be deducted as notional normal depreciation out of gross profits of the year 1956-57. Similarly, a sum of Rs. 1.13 lakhs should be deducted as notional normal depreciation out of the gross profits of the year 1957-58.

The next prior charge for deduction is income-tax. According to the Union's chart, a sum of Rs. 3.35 lakhs may be deducted as income-tax out of the gross profits of the year 1956-57. But peculiarly enough, the Company itself wants to deduct only Rs. .92 lakh as income-tax out of the gross profits of the year. Evidently, the Union's calculation is not correct, because it has assumed the gross profits to be very high by a wrong method of calculation. The Company has shown its calculation of income-tax in Ext. B-series. The Company has assessed income-tax for the year 1957-58 at 1.63 lakhs on the assumption that the total gross profits amounted to Rs. 4.68 lakhs. But in fact the total gross profits amounted to Rs. 4.76 lakhs.

From what I have stated above, it is clear that the total gross profits for the year 1956-57 for bonus purpose amounts to Rs. 3.50 lakhs. Similarly, the total gross profits for the year 1957-58 amount to Rs. 4.76 lakhs. Income-tax has to be calculated on these gross profits less statutory depreciation. Statutory depreciations may be of different types including initial, additional and normal depreciation. It may also mean development rebate and balancing allowance or obsolescence allowance. The Company has filed nothing to show how it has assumed the statutory depreciation for 1956-57 to be Rs. 1.53 lakhs only or Rs. 1.21 lakhs for 1957-58. I am afraid, this assessment of statutory depreciation is not correct, and the papers filed by the Company do not bear out any such assessment. It is needless to mention that the Company has purposely withheld the Assessment Order of the Income-tax Department for reasons best known to it, though the Assessment Order is already at hand of the Company. A complete copy of the Income-tax Assessment Return has also not been produced before this Tribunal. Two statements have been filed to show (vide Exts. E and E-1) how the depreciation for the relevant years were actually calculated. Exhibit E-1 will show that the total amount of depreciation for the year 1956-57 was calculated at Rs. 1.96 lakhs besides development rebate claimed. Under the Income-tax Act, the Company is not only entitled to normal depreciation but also additional depreciation and development rebate allowance. So, the total amount of depreciation including different kinds of depreciation and development rebate should constitute the total statutory depreciation. Exhibit E-1 shows that the Company claimed Rs. 3.01 lakhs as the total amount of statutory depreciation. No reason has been stated before me why anything short of this amount should be treated as statutory depreciation. In this view of the matter, I think, this full amount of depreciation should be deducted out of the gross profits of the year 1956-57 for calculation of income-tax for the year. Similarly, Ext. E-1 will show that the total amount of statutory depreciation claimed by the Company was Rs. 1.65 lakhs. It is not the case of the Company that this amount was over assessed for any reason. Of course, there is nothing to show in Ext. E-1 that the Company claimed any development rebate for that year. So, in the absence of any other evidence on record, I find that at least a sum of Rs. 1.65 lakhs should be deducted out of the gross profits of the year 1957-58 for assessment of income-tax of the year. In this view of the matter, the income-tax for the year 1956-57 amounts to Rs. .23 lakh and for the year 1957-58 amounts to Rs. 1.46 lakhs. These amounts should be deducted as prior charges.

The next item of prior charge is return on capital, paid up capital or working capital. During the years under consideration, this concern was a proprietory one as I have mentioned above. From the balance-sheet of the year 1956-57 it will appear that the proprietor provided a sum of Rs. 12.21 lakhs as paid up capital, and accordingly the Company calculates Rs. .73 lakh as return thereon calculating the same at 6 per cent. per annum. No reason has been shown by the Union why return on this capital should be less than 6 per cent. Nor the Company has claimed return at a rate higher than 6 per cent. The usual rate in such cases being 6 per cent., I think, the Company's claim under this item is quite reasonable. Accordingly, I hold that Rs. .73 lakh should be deducted as return on paid up capital for the year 1956-57. Similarly, for the year 1957-58 the Company has claimed Rs. .91 lakh as returns on proprietor's paid up capital amounting to Rs. 15.13 lakhs. It is not the case of the Union that the amount of paid up capital has been wrongly calculated. For reasons already explained, I think, 6 per cent. return is proper for this year also. Accordingly, I hold that the Company is entitled to deduct Rs. .91 lakh by way of return on paid up capital for the year 1957-58.

The Company, however, claims certain amount as return on working capital in respect of both the years under consideration. In this connection, I may refer to the relevant balance-sheets. In these balance-sheets there is no amount which can be said to be general reserve or depreciation fund shown on the liabilities side. So, there is no evidence to show that there was any liquid fund either as general reserve or depreciation reserve in the hand of the Company to be utilised as working capital in the business in the relevant years. The Accountant of the Company in his evidence states in this connection that the depreciation reserve for the year 1956-57 has been used as working capital during the said year. In his cross-examination he further adds that there was no reserve fund of Rs. 1.97 lakhs as opening balance at the commencement of the year 1956-57. The amount which has been debited as provision for depreciation for the year 1956-57 has been treated as working capital during the year. What this witness tries to say is that the amount which has been shown as provision for depreciation in the profit and loss account before the assessment of the net profits, has been actually utilised as working capital. But there is nothing to show that any amount was transferred to the balance-sheet as depreciation fund out of the net profits of this year or any previous year. At the commencement of either of these two years, no reserve or depreciation fund was actually shown on the liability side of the balance-sheet, and this shows that there was in fact no fund or reserve made out of the profits available in either of these two years for being used as working capital. If there were any such reserve fund, then only this amount could be said to be Company's money and return at a reasonable rate could be allowed thereon. But whatever amount is theoretically calculated as working capital with reference to balance-sheet, is not the amount on which such a return is admissible. Provision for depreciation can be made even when the Company earns no profit, and so the provision made in the profit and loss account for this purpose does not mean the actual depreciation fund for the same purpose. The result is that the balance-sheets are sufficiently clear to show that the Company had no general reserve or depreciation fund to be used as working capital, and so no amount of return can be allowed to the Company under this item. So, claim for return on working capital must be rejected.

The last but not the least I may mention here that the Company has not claimed any rehabilitation charge in respect of either of these two years, and no evidence has been led before this Tribunal for calculation of such rehabilitation charge. So, no amount is admissible under this item also. The calculations given below will show the net amount of available surplus in respect of the two years under consideration.

Lastly, it is argued that the Company may be required to pay, though it has not yet been called upon to pay, some amount towards Equalisation Fund of the Iron & Steel Control on account of difference in price between M.S. Billet and E.F. Billet. It will be clear from the deposition of O.P.W. 1 Shri Anil Kumar Das Gupta that the Company does not prepare M.S. Billets, and such billets are procured by it from other sources, e.g., Tata Iron & Steel Works. The Company, however, makes ingots in its own electric furnace and converts the same into billets, such billets being known as electric furnace billets or E.F. billets. It is contended that in view of a circular issued by the Iron & Steel Controller of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India (vide Ext. F), forwarded to this Company by the Steel Rolling Mills' Association of India (vide Ext. G), this Company may be in future called upon to contribute certain amounts towards the Equilisation Fund in respect of the years 1956-57 and 1957-58. But I may simply point out here that there is no statutory provision for compelling the Company to make payment towards any such Equalisation Fund, nor it is at all clear to me that this possible contribution, if any, should be treated as a prior charge within the meaning of the Full Bench Formula. It is not explained by the Company what is the purpose of creation of such Equalisation Fund, and whether such contribution should be charged to the profits of the Company. So, I think, such contribution, if any, which yet remains a mere contingency, cannot be treated as a prior charge for the purpose of calculation of bonus. So, the available surplus calculated above can no doubt be distributed amongst the parties who have just claims over this surplus. It is the accepted principle of law by now that the shareholders, the labour and the Company may legitimately claim some share of this available surplus. So, the question arises how this available surplus should be distributed amongst these three claimants. The evidence is that the sole proprietor of this concern himself used to work for the business from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. on each working day, and yet he did not take anything out of profits as his personal remuneration. The Union does not challenge the fact that the proprietor used to devote his whole time towards the management and supervision of this business. So, it is needless to add that in distributing the available surplus, this will be an important point for consideration. It is also not in dispute that the Company has already paid Rs. .39 lakh as bonus to the workmen for the year 1956-57 and Rs. .44 lakh for the year 1957-58. It is also a fact that the Company will be entitled to rebate on income-tax in respect of the amounts paid by it as bonus to its workmen. So, after carefully considering the equity of claims of different parties on the available surplus of the relevant years, I think the Company should pay in all as bonus 3/12th of the wages earned by the workmen during each relevant year less bonus already paid to them. The bonus must be paid to the workmen within one month of the publication of this award.

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by Hariram (T. No. 27 L.J., New Shed III, C Shift), an employee of Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd., 42 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24 (Address: c/o Arun Sen, 1/1 Garden Reach Road, Beggs House, Calcutta-24), against the aforesaid Company, arising out of G.O. BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, M.A., LL.B., Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal.

Appearances:

For the Applicant: Shri Patit Paban Pathak.

For the Company: Shri S. K. Bose, Counsel, with Shri K. P. Mukherji.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by a workman of the above Company, named Hariram, for reinstatement of the petitioner to his original job with full compensation for the period of unemployment on the following allegations. The petitioner is a permanent worker under the Company as a Line Jobber of the New Weaving Shed No. III in Line No. 27, C Shift. Since 15th September 1961 he was removed from his usual place of work and engaged in the A Shift. He worked there till 1st November 1961 but was not given any Attendance Card. In his old place a badli hand was engaged. He was denied work since 2nd November 1961 without any reason. On 4th November 1961 he applied to the Labour Officer (Shri N. Rao) by stating the fact of denial of work. The Labour Officer expressed that the matter was being enquired into, but he was not given any work or allowed to work. Being apprehensive of foul play, the petitioner again wrote to the Factory Manager on 10th November 1961 stating that unless he got reply within a week he would deem his services to have been wrongfully terminated. On 20th November 1961 he received a letter from the Factory Manager to the effect that the Company did not get the letter, dated 4th November 1961, and a copy of the same should be supplied. In that letter it was alleged that the petitioner was absenting himself from work. In reply, he denied the truth of that allegation and enclosed copy of his letter, dated 4th November 1961. Next, the Factory Manager called the petitioner twice to attend an enquiry which was to be held on 28th November 1961 and 7th December 1961. But the petitioner was not allowed entrance to the place of enquiry though he went to attend the enquiry with witnesses. He made protests and reiterated his claim for work which was denied to him. On 11th December 1961 he informed the Company that he was being denied work and that if he was not allowed to resume duties within three days he would deem himself wrongfully dismissed. But no reply was sent by the Company. Thus the action of the opposite party Company is illegal, mala fide and against all principles of natural justice.

The written objection of the Company is a lengthy one. The substance of the objection is this. The Company did not at all violate the provisions of section 33 of the Act and hence the application under section 33A is not maintainable in law. The petitioner previously took leave in the later part of April 1961 and got it extended up to 5th July 1961. His application for further extention of leave was vague and unsupported by medical certificate and he remained absent till 14th September 1961. The Company took a lenient view and, on the petitioner's verbal request, engaged him to work in the A Shift since 15th September 1961. It is not true that he was not given Attendance Card till 1st November 1961, up to which time he worked in Shift A. On 1st November 1961 he was required, for purpose of record of his transfer to Shift A, to fill in a form and file it after getting it signed by the Labour Officer, the Factory Manager and other departmental in-charges, but he refused to file the same and wrongfully claimed to go back to C Shift. The Company did not get letter of 4th November 1961. It got letter of 10th November 1961 and sent reply on 17th November 1961. On receipt of letter, dated 22nd November 1961, the Company promptly replied by denying that the petitioner was not being given work. On the contrary, the Company intimated that the petitioner had never reported for duty since 2nd November 1961 and asked him to attend an enquiry on 28th November 1961 regarding the charge-sheet letter, dated 17th November 1961. But he failed to attend the enquiry on that date. He was given a chance to attend enquiry on 7th December 1961 but he still did not come to the enquiry. For another chance the enquiry was deferred till 23rd December 1961. It is untrue that the petitioner was not allowed entrance on 28th November 1961 and 7th December 1961. The Company did not get letter, dated 8th November 1961 and 11th November 1961. The enquiry was held ex parte on 23rd December 1961 as the petitioner did not come to attend. For all these reasons the application under section 33A must fail.

Decision

The Company's objections are two-fold: (i) that the application under section 33A is not maintainamle, and (ii) that on merit also the petitioner has no case as he himself remained absent form duty since 2nd November 1961. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case as well as the special features thereof, both these questions are intermixed and should be taken up and considered together.

It is an admitted fact that originally the applicant, Hariram, worked in the C Shift and since 15th September 1961 he was transferred to, or given work in, Shift A where he worked till 1st November 1961. The dispute now relates to what happened since 2nd January 1961. According to the applicant, he was denied work since 2nd November 1961 in spite of repeated demands by letters and personal requests. The Company's case is that Hariram did not fulfil the condition of filing the transfer form duly filled in by himself and signed by three officers as he wanted to go back to Shift C, and ceased to work or report for work since 2nd November 1961. It is also the case of the Company that it did not change or alter the conditions of the applicant's service, nor was he punished by dismissal or discharge and hence section 33A is not attracted at all. This section will apply only if section 33 itself is violated in any way. Clause (2)(b) of section 33 enables the Company to punish a workman by dismissal or otherwise on account of misconduct not connected with the original dispute, provided the Company pays one month's wages to the workman and applies for the Tribunal's approval of the action without unnecessary delay. In the present case the applicant, Hariram, has not been formally dismissed or discharged or his services have not been terminated in any way. The Company has put the report of enquiry held ex-parte on 23rd December 1961 to show that Hariram was found guilty of misconduct owing to alleged unauthorised absence from work since 2nd November 1961. But, before the Company took any final action of punishment, and even before the holding of enquiry, the present application was filed by Hariram on 16th December 1961. This, in my view, is only a superficial aspect. The matter at issue, however, is to be looked into by going deep into the real question involved here.

The applicant says that he was denied work since 2nd November 1961. The Company denies this and alleges absence from duty on his part. If the applicant's case be true, then denial or refusal of work will certainly tantamount to punishment "otherwise" and the present case under section 33A shall lie. If the Company's version be correct, then there was no punishment of any kind. Hence this one question is the only important point and would cover both the aspects of the Company's objections noted above. In this light, therefore, the matter of the enquiry and its result is not at all substantial here. I shall therefore proceed to see whether the applicant was denied works since 2nd November 1961, or whether he himself absented from duty since that date.

Both parties have put in some correspondences bearing on the point at issue. The charge-sheet letter was issued against the applicant, Hariram, on 17th November 1961 (Ext. 1), admitting receipt of hi letter, dated 10th November 1961, denying receip of letter, dated 4th November 1961, and allegin absence from duty since 2nd November 1961. B that letter the Company also called for a copy c letter of the 4th November 1961. In reply, Harirar denied absence from duty and asserted refusal c work. A copy of his letter of the 4th November wa also enclosed. There were other correspondence later on, and receipt of the same is not denied. I is beyond comprehension why the letter of the 4t November would not be received by the Compan while all other letters actually reached it. In m belief the fact of the receipt of the earliest letter o the 4th November is purposely denied lest it shoul indicate the very early protest raised by Hariran shortly after he was refused work since 2nd Novem ber 1961 as alleged by him.

Hariram has deposed that even after receiving th charge-sheet he went to Shri Dubey, Department-in charge, for reporting for duty but the latter express ed that he would not be given work. Shri Balaran Dubey, the admitted Department-in-charge of C Shift has deposed to deny that statement of Hariram. I is stated by Hariram that Shri Nayek is the Depart ment-in-charge of Shift A, in which he admittedl worked from 15th September 1961 to 1st Novembe 1961. It is argued for the Company that wher Hariram belonged at the relevant time to Shift A there was, or could be, no occasion or reason for hi approaching Shri Dubey, in-charge of Shift C. The reason is quite obvious from the correspondences, etc. In the charge-sheet (Ext. 1) and the Company's letter, dated 22nd November 1961 (Ext. 2) Hariram was addressed as belonging to Shift C, not Shift A. In all the letters of Hariram he mentioned Shift C. In the Company's enquiry proceedings of 18th November 1961, 7th December 1961 and 23rd December 1961 he was referred to as belonging to Shift C, not Shift A. That being so, it may very well be taken that all through he was led to understand that he was of Shift C and as such there was nothing unusual or improbable that he might go to Shri Dubey (incharge of C Shift) for redress. To counteract this probability and the effect of Hariram's evidence, the Company examined the Factory Manager (O.P.W. 2, V. W. Singh) to say thus:

> "If a worker is transferred from one shift to another, a transfer form is to be filled in and signed by three officers, Department Officer, Labour Officer and the Factory Manager, but Hariram did not deposit the filled in form and hence in the C/S Shift C, his original shift was mentioned."

This explanation is unreasonable and unconvincing. Of course such statement is mentioned in the written objection of the Company where it is stated that the practice is that the workman concerned is to make over the filled in form to the office. It is not understood how and why the Company did not insist on Hariram's depositing the filled in form even till 1st November 1961, up to which date he admittedly had worked in Shift C. In cross-examination the Factory Manager has said that Hariram did not submit the form by shilly-shallying. But Hariram himself was not asked anything on this point. The Factory Manager admits that the form is to be filled in by the Time-Keeper, but says that the workman concerned has to obtain signatures of three officers.

It appears that the workman concerned has no concern with the transfer form, even his signature is not required. The office itself could have done the needful in this respect soon after Hariram joined Shift A on 15th September 1961, and the management could have taken steps against him if he did not at all act according to the alleged practice, if any.

From what has been seen above, the probability of Hariram's going to the said department in-charge of Shift C in the abovementioned circumstances holds good and his evidence is far more acceptable than that on the side of the Company. It might be that he wished to go back to his old job in Shift C and the Company was reluctant. But that does not mean that he would remain absent from duty since 2nd November 1961 without any good reason. He has said in cross-examination that after Shri Dubey told him that he would not be given work he did not further report for duty. From this it is argued for the Company that he himself did not go for the work and hence there is no question of his punishment otherwise as alleged. But the thing is that Hariram refrained from reporting for duty since the 17th or the 18th of November 1961 or so after last refusal of work but not before that. The fact and circumstances taken as a whole and road in the light of evidence both oral and documentary fully dispose me to believe that he had tried his most to get work since after 1st November 1961 till the 17th/18th November 1961, but failed to get job. Not that the Company ever called him to duty and he refused to comply. Rather he himself tried for work which was denied to him. It seems that for some reason or other the Company wanted to get rid of him and brought about the proceeding against him on the plea of unauthorised absence while in fact the Company itself did not allow him to work since 2nd November 1961 for reasons best known to it.

In view of the above, I hold in conclusion that the applicant Hariram's case is true and he was punished otherwise as he was not allowed to work. Thus the Company violated section 33 as one month's wages was not paid and application for approval was made and hence the present application under section 33A is maintainable. This also covers the question of merit. Accordingly therefore the application must be allowed and the applicant's prayer granted. The Company is directed to give work to the applicant in his usual job and pay him all back wages for the period of unemployment, without break in service, within one month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

Award accordingly.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Indian Mineral Industries Ltd., 22/1 Dum Dum Road, Calcutta-2 (Factories at Dum Dum Road, Calcutta-2 and Agarpara, 24-Parganas), and their workmen represented by Indian Mineral Industries Workers Union, 4/5, Lalababu Lane, Calcutta-2. (Case No. VIII 333/1961.)

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Company: Shri N. M. Das Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Union: Shri Parimal Das Gupta, Advocate.

This reference has been sent to this Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 5992-I.R./IR/11L-399(A)/61, dated the 26th October 1961, for determination of the following issue:

1. Whether the dismissal of the following workmen is justified. To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

(1) Fulchand Jesswar.
(2) Chandradhan.
(3) Nanak Harijan.
(4) Tufan Jesswar.
(5) Kharpattu Harijan.
(6) Shew Narayan Molla.

The case of the Union, as mentioned in its written statement, is briefly this:

The Company has been pursuing an unfair labour practice and harassing and victimising the workmen on false allegations because of their allegiance to the Union. These workmen concerned rendered sincere, honest and efficient services for a pretty long time without any blemish. They are active members of the Union which has been fighting for the cause of the workmen. In December 1960 and January 1961 the Company illegally laid off some workmen with a view to harassing them. After a dispute had been raised on that account, an agreement was reached on 16th January 1961 due to the intervention of the Labour Commissioner, it being agreed that the laid-off workmen would be given work by the Company which, however, did not implement the said agreement. For that reason the workmen made a representation to the management on 24th January 1961 for implementation of the said agreement and for giving work to all laid-off workmen. For that representation, Fulchand Jeswar and Chandradhan were charge-sheeted and suspended by the Company by its letter, dated 28th January 1961. They were further charged for doing certain alleged acts subversive of discipline. The allegations were that they, along with some other workers, left their respective works and forming an unlawful assembly threatened the men who were loading some machine parts into a lorry with dire consequence, and did not allow the lorry to leave. The charges were false, concocted and malafide. The charge-sheeted workmen gave replies by denying the charges. But the Management dismissed them from service on and from 7th February 1961, without proper enquiry and by violating the principles of natural justice. The action of the Management was illegal, arbitrary and malafide.

The workers named Nanak Harijan, Kharpattu Harijan and Tufani Jeswar were charge-sheeted and suspended on 23rd February 1961 and 25th February 1961 on the allegations of their refusal to do some works on 21st February 1961 and 22nd February 1961. These charges were also false, concocted and malafide. These workers submitted replies to the charge-sheets denying the allegations, but all of them were dismissed by the Company from 10th April 1961 there being no proper enquiry held by it. Their dismissal was against the principle of natural justice, illegal and arbitrary.

Sew Narayan Molla was charge-sheeted and suspended on 17th April 1961 by the Company on an alleged refusal by him to and carry out orders of the superior officer along with some other workmen on 11th April 1961 and 12th April 1961. The charges were all false, mala fide and concocted. The charge-sheeted workmen submitted replies by denying the charges. But the Company dismissed Sew Narayan Molla with effect from 18th May 1961, without proper enquiry and depriving him of natural justice. His dismissal was also illegal and arbitrary.

The Union took up the cause of the abovementioned workman, but no fruitful result was achieved in the conciliation proceedings due to unreasonable and non-co-operative attitude of the Company. On these allegations the Union prays for reinstatement of the dismissed workmen with all back wages, etc.

The substance of the Company's case, as per the written statement filed by it, is as follows:

The Company denies the allegation of the Union that it ever pursued any unfair labour practice or ever harassed or victimised any workman on any false charge-sheet. The six workmen concerned in the present dispute were dismissed for commission of gross misconduct. They were properly charge-sheeted and after receipt of their explanation there were proper enquiries held in their presence. They were found guilty and were accordingly dismissed. Their dismissal has nothing to do with their Union activities, if any, nor was it made with any vindictive motive, as falsely alleged by the Union. As a matter of fact, the agreement mentioned in the Union's written statement was fully implemented.

On account of the breakdown of the Raymond Mills, 19 workers were laid off. Following the same, the workers struck work staging a stay-in strike at the incitement and instigation of some workmen. The workers concerned in the said instigation were charge-sheeted. Thereafter at the intervention of the Conciliation Officer there was a settlement on 16th January 1961, some workers having tendered apology. Immediately after the resumption of work in terms of the settlement, the workers again started various acts of indiscipline for which charge-sheets had to be issued against them. Nanak Harijan, Kharpatta Harijan and Tufani Jeswar did not submit any explanation, as directed by the Company. Even at the time of enquiry which they attended they were given opportunities to submit their explanations in writing. But they did not comply with. Neither did they produce any witness on their behalf. The enquiring officer found all the six concerned workmen guilty of the respective charges. The report of the enquiring officer was carefully considered by the Management which dismissed those six persons for gross misconduct. The enquiries were properly held and no principle of natural justice was at all violated. The dismissal of these persons was quite bona fide and justified.

Decision

In view of the places of works of the dismissed workmen, as well as the different charges brought against them for the alleged occurrence on different dates, it will be of convenient to classify the facts and particulars concerning them into three different groups.

Group A

The workmen concerned are (1) Fulchand Jewwar and (2) Chandradhan.

They worked at the Dum Dum factory of the Company. Each of them was dismissed on account of alleged misconduct on two particular dates--24th January 1961 and 27th January 1961. For each day's occurrence there has been one charge-sheet, i.e., both of them had two identical charges against them. The charge-sheets as per Ext. 2(b) were issued against them on 28th January 1961. They submitted their replies to the charges. The enquiry relating to these charges was held on 3rd February 1961. These two workmen were dismissed on 7th February 1961.

The first charge against them is that on 24th January 1961 they launched a stay-in strike, along with other workers who were instigated by these two persons, from 6 a.m. on that date, and their conduct was subversive of discipline. The second charge is that they on 27th January 1961 threatened other workers who were loading a truck with machine parts intended to be sent out for the purpose of repairs and they did not allow the truck to move and go outside the factory. These are the two identical charges brought against these two particular workers, Fulchand and Chandradhan.

The charges against these workmen were issued on 1th January 1961 (vide Ext. 2-b). These workmen bmitted their explanations. There was a domestic quiry on 3rd February 1961 and these two work-en were discharged from service on 7th February 61 (vide Ext. 2-c).

It is an admitted fact that in December 1960 and nuary 1961 the Company laid off 19 workmen, and dispute was raised therefor. It is also admitted at an agreement was reached on 16th January 1961 xt. 1). The Union's case, as per paragraphs 6 and of the written statement, is that an agreement was ached that the laid-off workmen would be given ork by the Company which, however, did not plement the agreement, that on 24th January 1961 e workmen of the factory made a representation to e Management for implementation of the agreement d for giving work to the laid-off workmen. The mand for giving work to all the 19 workmen, laid , cannot stand, as the terms of the agreement were ite otherwise. The agreement (Ext. 1) shows that ne workers out of 19 laid-off would be allowed to rk on rotation on weekly basis. It is undisputed at in the first week after the agreement, nine out 19 laid-off workers were given works. The dis-te appears to have arisen from the second week ien nine out of the remaining 10 of the laid-off rkers were given works by the Company in ms of the aforesaid settlement. The evidence ven on the side of the Union is to the effect that a presentation was made for giving works to one li Charan, the 10th man who was left out, and the anagement refused to comply with that demand. cording to the Company's case, the workers, being ffled in their attempts to get Kali Charan into tual service, became dissatisfied and started a sit-wn strike as a measure of protest against the Com-ny's decision. The terms of agreement are not at the 19 laid-off workers would be given work two batches by weekly rotation. The clear term is, as stated above, that only nine out of 19 workers uld be given works on rotation, on weekly basis, at is to say, that nine of these workers were to be tually employed by weekly rotation, not that nine uld be taken in one week and the remaining 10 the next week. In this regard, therefore, the Com-ny's stand in refusing to take Kali Charan appears be well founded, as it was not bound to take in workers on any week according to the agreement.

It is the Company's case that the two workmen ncerned took the leading part in launching the sit-wn strike which was quite illegal within the mean-of section 23(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act, d with section 24(1)(i) of the Act. If the story the strike is believed to be correct, then it was tainly illegal inasmuch as it must have been com-nced during the period of operation of the afore-d agreement.

The Union vehemently denies that there was any ke at all. It transpired from the evidence given ore me that the strike in question lasted for one ur, say, from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. It is in evidence on side of the Company that after one hour of the ke from 6 a.m. somebody announced from out-e the factory by means of loud-speaker, and the ke was accordingly ended at about 7 a.m. The ion's contention is that this evidence of strike for hour as well as the story of stoppage of the strike after the announcement by loud-speaker is totally unbelievable. It is said for the Union that the alleged strike was too short-lived to be believed in any way. But there is one salient feature against the contention of the Union. It appears from the evidence that for the alleged strike by the workmen for one hour, one hour's wages were deducted by the Company from the wages of all the workers including the two concerned workmen. Of course, there was no previous charge or notice for this cut in wages. But the fact remains that the Company cut wages for one hour because of the strike which is said to have lasted for one hour only. No protest of any sort appears to have been raised against that cut in wages. That being so, the fact of the strike for one hour on 24th January 1961 must be taken to be true, otherwise there would have been no cut in wages ,and there would have been protest against that cut in wages. In my view, this one fact alone is sufficient to uphold the contention of the Company that there was really a strike by the workmen, though for one hour only. I hold accordingly that there was that strike undoubtedly, and that it was an illegal strike. That being so, the strikers were liable to be properly dealt with by the Company. It is said for the Union that even if there was strike for one hour, there was punishment by deduction of wages, and no further punishment by dismissal of two workmen was necessary or called for. There can be no question of double punishment for one and the same offence. The cut in wages was because of the Company's loss on account of less production by reason of the strike. That does not mean that there was sufficient punishment for fomenting the illegal strike.

If there was strike, some of the workmen must have been responsible for that measure. The Company charged the two workmen concerned for having instigated or fomented the said illegal strike. The two workmen concerned denied their complicity as having instigated any strike. During the enquiry by the Company sufficient evidence appears to have been adduced by the Company to show that these two workmen were the leaders for the strike. Similar evidence has also been adduced before me. The two workmen were present at the time of the enquiry. The contention of the Union is that the enquiry was not properly conducted, and the workmen were not given proper opportunities to defend themselves. Of course, one witness for the Company has stated that he put signature in the typed copy of his statement about half an hour or so after his examination. Perhaps he has bungled the matter by confusion or by mistake inasmuch as in the original recorded statement he appears to have put in his own signature, and as such the signature in the typed copy must have been put much later. However, that fact alone is not sufficient to dispose me to hold that there was no proper enquiry or there was a bogus enquiry, or no enquiry at all. Considering the proceedings of the enquiry, and the enquiry report, in the light of evidence recorded at the time of enquiry, I find no material loophole in regard to the enquiry itself. Tested by the evidence before me, the enquiry appears to have been quite fair and quite proper. In view of the facts and circumstances, I am quite convinced that the two workmen concerned were really responsible for the launching of the illegal strike and, as such, their dismissal is quite justified on the score of the first charge. The Union is entitled to no relief.

Regarding the second charge for an incident on 27th January 1961, I think the facts and circumstances are very much shaky. It is the Company's case that on that date a lorry was loaded with machine parts for being taken out for repairs, but the workmen under the leadership of the two concerned workmen prevented the lorry from being taken out. The evidence on the Company's side discloses that there were three Durwans at the place of the occurrence, near the gate of the Company's factory. The Manager of the Company (O.P.W. 1) Shri Atanu Mohan Ghosh says that the three Durwans verbally complained to him that Fulchand and Chandradhan obstructed the lorry from being taken out and that he got the news at 11-30 or 11-45 a.m. What he says further is quite funny. He himself did not go to the place of occurrence. Instead, he asked the three Durwans to ask the two workers to let the lorry go. He did not enquire whether the lorry could go or not later on. The Durwans also did not tell him anything afterwards. If the conduct of the workmen amounted to misconduct for preventing a lorry from moving out with articles for repair purposes, it is expected in ordinary course of events that the Manager, on getting the information, would at once rush to the spot and try to do the needful. Nothing of this sort was done by the Manager who is himself guilty of apathy and disinterestedness so much so that the story seems to be unreliable. According to the Company's Store-keper, Suraj Prosad Dubey (O. P. W. 3), he, as well as the Manager came near the lorry on hearing the golmal, and found the mazdoors squatting in front of that lorry for nearly an hour. Had it been a fact, the Company would certainly have informed the police to come and disperse the workers. But no such step was taken by the Company. At the time of enquiry, Suraj Prosad Dubey, Prayag Singh, Satyanarayan Singh, Shaheb Singh, Tej Protap Singh, Ganga Singh and Danaya Telegu were examined. A joint statement of the last five persons was recorded. This was entirely unusual and improper. Even, leading questions appear to have been put to them in eliciting answers in favour of the Company. Tested in the light of evidence given before the Tribunal regarding the incident of 27th January 1961, the evidence given at the enquiry appears to be absolutely unreliable and, in my view, no proper or prima facie case regarding the second charge could be established upon such evidence at the enquiry.

For all that has been seen and discused abov I hold that the second charge against the workmen concerned has not been established and the Company's action in dismissing these two workmen cannot stand as being unjustified.

Group B

Re: (1) Nanak Harijan, (2) Kharpattu Harijan and (3 Tufan Jeswar.

These three workmen worked in the Dum Dum Factory of the Company. Two-fold charges were framed against them, viz., (1) that on 21st February 1961, at about 11-45 a.m., they were asked to go to the Railway siding for unloading goods from lorry and loading the Railway wagons, but they refused to comply and sat idle for the whole day; (2) that on 22nd February 1961, at about 9 a.m., they were asked to work on the job-crusher machi but they did not do the work and incited others to work with the said machines which could not worked that day owing to their conduct, and Company sustained losses. The charges were iss on 23rd February 1961 (vide Ext. 2-h). Accord to the Company, none of these workers submi any written explanation to the said charges. Bu case of the Union is that written replies to charges were actually submitted on 25th Febru 1961 (vide Exts. 3, 3A and 3B). There was domestic enquiry on 23rd March 1961 and th three workers were dismissed on 10th April 1961.

The two charges are quite identical against e of the three workers. They challenged the corr ness of the allegations made in the charges denied having refused to comply with the ord for work at the Railway siding or with the crushing machine. They also deny having remai idle, as alleged, on the particular day in questi The evidence on the side of the Un is that their written replies to charges were made over to the Compan Accountant, named Arunendu Bhattacha This Accountant was present in Court, but he not examined by the Company. From this it is s for the Union that the story of non-submission explanation is not correct. Even if the Compan Accountant has not been examined before me, the he was present in Court, there are certain facts d closed from the enquiry proceedings to show that written explanation was filed even at a very l stage. It appears that even during the enquiry st explanations were called for from these th workers. Had the explanations been submitted 25th February 1961, as contended by the Union, t Company would not have demanded for su explanations about the time of the enquiry which w held nearly a month after the incidents in questi

Tufan Jeswar (P. W. 3) says that he and t other concerned workmen used to work inside t Company's factory, but not outside at all; that th had no concern or duty to do near the Railway si ing, etc. At the same time he denies having be asked to do work near the Railway siding. Th witness, Tufan, has spoken for himself and t other workers of this group. He admits that the three workers are mazdoors, i.e., labourers. I cann understand how and why labourers like them wou not required to do any work outside the factor In cross-examination, this P.W. 3 says that stones a crushed in the Company's factory, and the crush goods are sent outside to Railways, etc., in lorri But he pleads ignorance as to persons who actual take such things outside. The contention on beh of the Union is that the Company has a contract for the purpose of doing such works at the Railw side. The Company denies this and makes out th case that these particular works at the Railway si ing are also done by the Company's own mazdoo viz., Tufan, Kharpattu, Nanak and others of th class It is argued for the Company that when mazdoors are there, it is absurd to suggest that Company would keep or engage outside contract for doing such particular kinds of work. This co tention of the Company is very reasonable a acceptable. In the absence of any cogent evidence reliable facts or circumstances, I cannot persua myself to believe that the mazdoors of the Co pany would not go outside the factory to do works at its biddings. Of course, Tufan has denied that anybody had asked him to do job at the Railway siding. As against this, there are ample evidences on the side of the Company, both here and before the enquiring officer, to show that at least these three workers were asked to do the job, but they refused to comply with the same, and did practically no work on 21st February 1961. This attitude of their amounts to gross misconduct in refusing to do work which was part of their normal duties. So, in my view, the first charge has been established against these three workers; and the action taken by the Company against them is justified.

Similar is the position of these three workers in regard to the second charge concerning the incident of 22nd February 1961. Of course, Tufan says before me that they did their usual works in the factory on 22nd February 1961, and denies stoppage of work on that day. But at the domestic enquiry he as well as Nanak and Kharpattu appear to have admitted that they heard a rumour that they would be charge-sheeted for the incident of 21st February 1961, and so they did not do the work with the job-crusher on 22nd February 1961. Attempt has been made on the side of the Union to show that enquiry by the Company was not fairly and properly done. I have carefully gone through the entire proceedings of the enquiry and persued the statements given by the workmen, including the three workmen there. Except, perhaps, the confused statement of putting signature in a typed copy of statement, as already mentioned, there is nothing before me to challenge the propriety and fairness of the enquiry held by the Manager of the Company. The evidence recorded at the enquiry against these three workmen, read with that given before me, is overwhelmingly convincing to prove that the second charge also is proved against them, that being so, the refusal to work on their part without any justifiable reason was a gross misconduct meriting dismissal. In the result I hold that the two charges against these three workmen are correctly established. They were really guilty of misconduct and their dismissal on those accounts is justified. No relief is available to the Union.

Re: Sew Narayan Molla.

This worker worked at the Agarpara factory of the Company. Two charges were brought against him on 17th April 1961 (vide Ext. 2L). The charges against him are (i) that on 11th April 1961, at 10-30 a.m., he was asked by the Supervisor of the factory to feed the job-crusher machine, but he refused to carry out the order and do his normal work, and (ii) that on 12th April 1961 he was asked to work on the job-crusher machine, but he deliberately refused to do that and incited others not to work, and damaged the screens by shovels. He submitted written explanation (Ext. 2-m). A domestic enquiry was held on 25th April 1961 and he was dismissed on 18th May 1961. It is to be noted that Indrasan Ahir, Gopi Marao and Ram Protap Singh were charge-sheeted along with Sew Narayan. But only Sew Narayan was punished by dismissal.

This workman Sew Narayan has totally denied the allegations made against him in the charge-sheet and submitted his written explanation to that effect.

The Union challenges about the fairness and propriety of the domestic enquiry. It is also said that the evidence against Sew Narayan is entirely unreliable. According to the Company, the enquiry was properly made, and full opportunities were given to the workman concerned to defend himself. But there are certain facts and features which, if properly and adequately analysed, would go to nulify the charges brought against Sew Narayan.

According to the Manager, Shri Sailendra Haldar, the Supervisor of the Agarpara factory, verbally complained to him on 11th April 1961 and 12th April 1961 against Sew Narayan and others and Shri Baid, Managing Director, asked the Manager to issue charge-sheets against those persons. Though the charges were framed on the verbal report of the Supervisor of the Agarpara Factory where Sew Narayan used to work, that Supervisor has not been examined before me, or at the domestic enquiry. That was a fundamental mistake on the part of the Company. The Manager (O.P.W. 1) admits that he had no personal knowledge about those allegations and that he took no statement from Sailendra Haldar, the Supervisor. No reason is forthcoming for the omission of examining the Supervisor at the enquiry or before me. The Company appears to have examined only one Durwan of the Agarpara Factory, named Biswanath Singh, at the domestic enquiry. This Durwan was asked about the alleged incident of 11th April 1961 only. No question was put to him as regards the other alleged incident of 12th April 1961. This Durwan said that Sew Narayan instigated others not to feed the machine on 11th April 1961. At the same time he says that the Supervisor himself was there. I do not understand why and how the Company examined this Durwan in preference to the Supervisor himself who would have been the best person to depose about the allegations made against this worker. The evidence of the Durwan is not only poor, but also very vague. I do not think any possible view of the guilt of the worker concerned could be taken on such flimsy piece of evidence. It is to be noted that the said Durwan was also not examined before me. In fact, no witness was examined before me by the Company in regard to the charges brought against Sew Narayan.

Considering all these facts and circumstances together, in the light of evidence as above, I come to the conclusion that the charges against Sew Narayan Molla have not been established and his dismissal by the Company is quite unjustified.

In view of the above decision, I direct that the Company shall reinstate Sew Narayan Molla of the Agarpara Factory of the Company to his former job with continuity of service and shall pay all his back wages for the whole period of his forced unemployment till the time of his reinstatement within one month from the date of publication of this award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Bhima, represented by Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, Q-77 Akra Road, Calcutta-24, a workman of Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd. T. No. 154, Warp/Spg. "C" shift against the aforesaid Company, in connection with G.O. No. 2339-I.R. IR/8L-32/58, dated 27th May 1959.

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Shri S. K. Bose, and Shri K. P. Mukherjee.

For the workman: Shri P. P. Pathak and Shri Arun Sen.

This is an application by Shri Bhima under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act for an award directing his reinstatement with full compensation for the period of forced unemployment due to his dismissal with effect from 15th July 1959. The application is very short and merely states that there is an industrial dispute pending between the parties and that from an application filed by the Company the petitioner finds that he had been dismissed with effect from 15th July 1959 after enquiry although according to the petitioner no enquiry was held nor any letter of dismissal was ever sent to him and the action of the management was in contravention of the Standing Orders. It is further his case that he is not guilty and the charges are false and baseless and the Company's action is in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and that the petitioner will refer to his reply to the Company's petition under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act at the time of hearing. That reply, however, contains nothing new and was not referred to on behalf of the workman at any stage.

The Company's case, on the other hand, as made in its written statement is that the applicant merited dismissal on being found guilty after proper enquiry and that the application under section 33A is not maintainable because there has been no contravention by the Company of the provisions of section 33 of the Indusrtial Disputes Act.

On behalf of the workman only the workman was examined and on behalf of the Company Shri Jagmal Singh, the Officer-in-Charge of the Warp and Weft Spinning Department in the "C" shift, Shri G. P. Chandak, Assistant Chief Officer, Shri Bhawanidas Bhattacharjee, Medical Officer, Shri Paria, Line Jobber in Line No. 2 and Sudhir Kumar Sen, Factory Manager, who held the enquiry were examined. It is admitted by Shri Bhima in his examination-in-chief itself that he received a charge-sheet Ext. 1 and that his reply to it is Ext. 1(1). The charge mentioned in Ext. 1 is that on 23rd September 1958 while Bhima was working on machine No. 26/27 he deliberately stopped more than 80 spindles thereby dislocating the normal working of the department and also causing heavy loss to the Company and that he refused to creel the inter-materials and also to take inter-back stuff from the trolley, acts he is in the habit of repeating too often. He was accordingly asked to show cause why appropriate disciplinary action should not be taken against him in terms of clause 14(c)(iii), (ix) (x)(xxi) and (xxii) of the Standing Orders. Bhima's explanation in Ext. 1(1) is that the allegations are not true and based on facts. His own version is that he found some spindles, not more than seven had stopped on account of shortage of materials but when he reported the matter to the authorities nothing was done in that respect to supply the necessary materials and that at about 3 a.m. Shri Gopiji and Shri Chandakji came to him and asked the reason for the stoppage of the said seven spindles and he told them the reason of the said stoppage and they were convinced with the reasons given by him. Then he stated in another paragraph that he presumed that this false charges were levelled against him because of his Trade Union activities and particularly the Officer-in-Charge of his department was busy cooking up grounds to harass him as he had once reported to the authorities about his negligence because he used to sleep regularly at night while on duty. It is Bhima's evidence that about seven or eight days after the charge-sheet had been served on him, Sudhir Babu sent for him and he accordingly saw Sudhir Babu and when he saw him Sudhir Babu told him that Chandakji and Misraji were not present then and would tell him later and Bhima received no further intimation. This, however, is a fact he did not care to mention in his application where he merely stated that there was no enquiry. It is also curious that he nowhere says in his evidence that he had reported against Jagmal Singh nor is it suggested to Jagmal Singh on his behalf. In his cross-examination Bhima says he knows Jagmal Singh and he does not know what work he does in his department but he goes there not every day but once at about 10 p.m. in the evening and sometimes he found Jagmal Singh on his rounds on duty from his machine. He further says that he does not know of which department or shift Jagmal Singh was n-charge. He further says that he found on counting hat seven spindles had stopped and those spindles ad stopped for lack of supply of roving materials. le further says that as the materials on the spindles vere going to be exhausted he had reported the fact o Sarpal Singh, Jagbandhu Routh, the Head Jobber, Misraji and Chandakji. He admits that one worker amed Paria used to work as his Line Jobber, that 'aria supervised his work, but he did not mention his fact to Paria. He admits also that once a naterial is loaded on the frame, a spindle can work or 10 hours, that Shri Paria looks after 14 machines ncluding that of his, that if material is exhausted in iny of these 14 machines, they have to inform either 'aria or the Head Jobber Jagabandhu Routh. Then ie was questioned as to why he did not call Jagabandhu Routh and his answer was "why should I call Jagabandhu to prove the correctness of my statement?" He told later that he stated to Paria that there was lack of materials and further that the machine had been oiled too much and there the arn was breaking; therefore he asked him to mend ie machine. He denies that Paria told him that here was back stuff or materials and he should load ie materials. He goes on to say that Paria called harani Doffer, who oiled the machine and got the machine in running condition. But even then seven indles remained stopped for want of material. He enies that Paria ordered him to run the machines ith the materials which were lying nearby. He also enies that the spindles of his machine usually stop. hen in cross-examination as to his going to Sudhir abu on being called, he says that when he went to ee Sudhir Babu he found Goyal sitting there but agmal Singh was not there and he was there only or four or five minutes. He also denies that Jagmal ingh was making any statement when he went there nd that Sudhir Babu did not inform him on that day hat the enquiry would be held on the 3rd October nd so he would have to attend on that day. He lenies further that there was any enquiry on the 3rd of October.

As against this there is the evidence of Jagmal Singh and Paria as to what happened on the 23rd September 1958 and also during the enquiry. Jagmal Singh says that on his rounds on the 23rd of September 1958 at 2-45 a.m. he found in machine No. 26/27 on which Bhima was working about 80 spindles lying idle. He then sent for Paria, In-charge of that line and asked him why so many spindles had stopped. Paria told him that he had asked Bhima already to start the spindles but Bhima refused to start the spindles. Then Jagmal Singh asked Paria to count how many spindles had stopped and he also counted the number of spindles. It was found that about 80 spindles were stopped and Jagmal Singh asked Bhima in presence of Paria, the Line Jobber, why so many spindles had been stopped and Bhima said that he would carry on exactly as it was being carried on. Paria also told Bhima to run the spindles. Then Jagmal Singh made a written complaint Ext. A. In this written complaint Ext. A, Jagmal Singh says that Bhima, working on machine Nos. 26 and 27 on 23rd September 1958, stopped "more than 80" spindles knowingly and deliberately at 2-45 a.m. and he refused to creel the inter-materials and also to take inter-back stuff from the trolley. He also stated there that he repeated such things so often. On this written complaint there is a note Ext. A(1) by Shri P. Chandak S.P.W. 2 the Assistant Chief Officer. This note is to the effect that he understood that in spite of "show-cause" notices to him several times he did not improve and his suggestion is that he should be suspended this time. It was this Chandakji who is referred to in Bhima's reply to the charge-sheet. In cross-examination Chandakji says that he did not know of the "show cause" notice but before he put this remark he equired about the matter from Jagmal Singh. Evidently he was embodying here the report he had from Jagmal Singh as to the previous "show cause" notices. In his cross-examination he denied having gone to the machine in which Bhima was working, on the night of 23rd September 1958 at 3 a.m. and having been satisfied with the explanation given by Bhima regarding spindles stoppage of that machine. He says he knew nothing of this incident and it must have been reported to him in the usual course. Thus Chandakji's evidence gives a lie direct to the explanation of Bhima Ext. 1(1). The Company could not produce H. L. Sarpal because he was lying ill and that fact was testified to by the Medical Officer of Kesoram Cotton Mills.

Then Jagmal Singh adds towards the conclusion of his evidence that on 23rd September 1958 at about 2-45 a.m. there were materials lying in a trolley in the place where Bhima was working and he said that he would not take the materials from the trolley. This is a fact mentioned in Jagmal Singh's report Ext. A. In his cross-examination Jagmal Singh states that the back stuff is called inter-material, which the workmen call roving materials and there are three bobbin carriers in the department in Warps Spinning Department "C" shift, who bring back materials in trolleys from frame section to the Spinning Section, and that these carriers bring back materials by trolleys and bring them to the line, wherefrom the Karigors put the materials on their frame. He further says that there are back materials both on the frame as well as on the trolley, kept by the side of his machine and Bhima did not run the stopped spindles even after Paria requested him to do the same.

The evidence of Paria supports that of Jagmal Singh. There is nothing in his cross-examination to suggest his unreliability or bias as against Bhima. Much has been made of the fact that in his report, Ext. A, Jagmal Singh speaks of more than 80 spindles having stopped while in his evidence he speaks of about 80 spindles though they were counted both by Jagmal Singh and Paria. Paria's distinct statement is that 80 spindles had stopped, and all that one may say about the expressions "more than 80 spindles" used by Jagmal Singh is Ext. A and "about 80 spindles" used by him in his evidence here is that probably he tries to be over-cautious. In any event, that is no reason for disbelieving either Jagmal Singh or Paria. The evidence of Jagmal Singh about the enquiry is that on the first day of enquiry, namely, 29th September 1958, Bhima himself was present. Jagmal Singh placed the charge-sheet and other records before Shri S. K. Sen, Enquiring Officer, and then he gave his own statement. Before he was examined, the charge-sheet was explained in Hindi to Bhima and after his examination, Bhima declined to cross-examine him when he was asked to do so. He further says that when the Enquiring Officer explained the whole proceedings in Hindi to Bhima and asked him to sign the proceedings Bhima declined to do so and said that he would not sign and he would appear on the next date of enquiry and on the next date also he appeared and on that day Paria was first examined and then after the recording of Paria's statement Bhima was asked to cross-examine him but Bhima declined to cross-examine Paria. Bhima himself did not make any statement at the enquiry although asked by the Enquiring Officer during the enquiry and when he was asked to produce witnesses on his behalf he said that he had no witness to produce and again Bhima declined to put his signature.

The evidence of Shri Sudhir Sen and the record of the enquiry proceedings Ext. C also corroborate Jagmal Singh as to what happened during the enquiry. Shri Pathak pointed out during his arguments that according to Paria Bhima said during the enquiry when Shri S. Sen asked him to explain why he had not run the spindles according to Paria's directions, that he had no materials etc., and so he could not run the spindles. In the proceedings, however all that is recorded about Bhima's statement is that he would not make any statement and he had no witness to produce. There is thus a discrepancy between Paria's statement as to what Bhima stated before the Enquiry Officer and what is recorded in the proceedings as having been stated by him during the enquiry. The enquiry appears from the record to have been held on two days, namely, 29th September 1958 and 3rd October 1958, i.e., about four years back. It is just possible that Paria was introducing something which Bhima did not actually state during the enquiry but earlier in his reply to the charge-sheet and for this lapse on his part the long interval between the enquiry and the date when he deposed may well be held responsible. It does not seem to me to be at all likely that if as a matter of fact Bhima stated during the enquiry that he could not run the machine because he had no materials the Enquiry Officer would possibly have had any reason for refusing to record that statement and for recording instead that Bhima would not make any statement. In the circumstances, I am not prepared to hold on the evidence that Bhima was actually not present during the enquiry as he stated.

It was also argued by Shri Pathak that the production records of the Company were not produced to show that actually 80 spindles were stopped. Shri Jagmal Singh has explained this by saying that the production registers would not show the stoppage of 80 spindles when the number of spindles in the department is 75,000. If as a matter of fact the workman thought that those registers would disprove the employer's case of the stoppage of 80 spindles they might well have been called for on his behalf but when that was not done there was no obligation on the part of the employer to produce them. The non-production therefore of the production registers does not entitle one to hold that Jagmal Singh and Paria were lying.

On the evidence before me as well as on the evidence as recorded during the enquiry the charge that Bhima was guilty of having stopped 80 spindles on 23rd September 1958 even though there were roving materials in a trolley close by and thereby cause loss to the employer must be held to have been established.

The charges mentioned in Ext. 1 are under clause 14(c)(iii), (ix) (x), (xxi) and (xxii). Clause 14(c)(iii) relates to wilful damage to or loss of the employer's goods or property. Although the Company might have suffered a loss as a result of the stoppage of 80 spindles, I am inclined to think that this is not covered by clause 14(c)(iii). There was here wilful damage to or loss of the employer's goods property, although there might have been a loss the employer in the sense that the goods that mi have been produced if the spindles had worked w not produced, clause 14(c)(ix) relates to habit negligence or neglect of work, and clause 13(c)(x) frequent repetition of any act or omission for wh a fine may be imposed. These counts of misconduct also do not appear to me have be established because apart from mentioning in charge-sheet that Bhima used to repeat such thin very often there are no specific instances cited either Jagmal Singh or Paria when Bhima repeat this kind of omission. Clause 14(c)(xxi) relates deliberate low efficiency or production, and clau 14(c)(xxii) to making unnecessary waste. While misconduct under clause 14(c)(xxi) must be held have been established by Bhima's deliberate stoppa of 80 spindles when he could have easily run t spindles with the materials in a trolley lying clo by, the misconduct under clause 14(c)(xxii) cann be said to have been established because apart fro wasting time, he cannot be held responsible f unnecessarily wasting materials and what clau 14(c)(xxii) seems to me to refer to is unnecessar waste of materials and not of time. The misconduc therefore, that must be held on the evidence to hav been established is that under clause 14(c)(xxi) an that misconduct makes Bhima liable to dismissa The notice of dismissal is Ext. E, dated 14th Jul 1959. It was addressed to him as follows:

"C/o Room No. 618 Kesoram Cotton Mill Line No. 6 Calcutta-24".

It came back unserved with the postal remark "left" Bhima stated in his cross-examination that when h accepted the service his address was Line No. 6 an room No. 615. There is no statement on the sid of the employer as to what the address of Bhim was, when he accepted the employment. There however, the fact that not merely in the notice dismissal Ext. E, but also in the Compan application under section 33(2)(b). Bhima's addres stated to be room No. 618, Kesoram Cotton M Line No. 6, Calcutta-24. If the Company had m a mistake in addressing Bhima on the 14th of J 1959 which is the date of the notice of dismis Ext. E, it is most unlikely that the same mist would have been repeated by the employers in th application under section 33(2)(b) filed on 21st J 1959, i.e., a week later. From this it seems to fairly clear that the books of the Company must ha borne this address of Bhima. There can be hard any reason why the Company should deliberat address Ext. E to room No. 618 if the books of Company showed that he was living in room No. 6 as Bhima stated. From this, one is entitled conclude that Bhima was not actually living at roo No. 615 as stated by him here but in room No. 6 during his employment in the Kesoram Cotton Mi Ltd. Of course, it is possible that Bhima might n have been in that room at the time when the noti of dismissal was taken to that room for service an that is in fact what the postal endorsement seems show.

Bhima did not state in his application under section 33A in what specific way the employe contravened the provisions of section 33A nor di he stated this in his evidence. It appears, however from case No. 494 of 1959 that Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd. filed on 21st July 1959 application under section 33(2)(b) for approval of its action in dismissing Bhima. The application was filed a week after the notice of dismissal Ext. E, dated the 14th of July 1959. This notice tells Bhima that he is dismissed with effect from 15th July 1959. It also tells him that one month's wages in accordance with the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act are being tendered therewith to him and he was directed to collect this amount along with other dues, if any, forthwith from the time-keeping office during working hours. It is also stated there that a necessary application under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act is being made before the Industrial Tribunal for approval of the action taken against him. The filing of the application and the issue of the notice of dismissal should have been almost simultaneous but although there was a delay of seven days in filing the application after the notice of dismissal had been issued, I do not think it can be said to be anything beyond a very technical violation of the requirements of the proviso to section 33(2)(b) for which the workman does not appear to me to be entitled to any compensation, specially when the principal charge against him of having deliberately stopped 80 spindles has been held proved. One month's wages was tendered to him by this notice. The Company, therefore, must be held to have substantially complied with the requirements of the proviso to section 33(2)(b). There was thus no contravention by the employer of the provisions of section 33(2)(b). As regards the employer's violation of section 33(1), there is nothing whatever to show that on the date of dismissal of Bhima there was actually any conciliation proceeding pending. The evidence on the side of the employer is that the order of dismissal was made after the conciliation attempts had failed towards the end of June 1959. Shri S. K. Sen admitted that he had documents to show that there were cases pending before the Conciliation Officer after 25th February 1959, but he has not produced those papers. The non-production of those papers which there was no obligation on the part of the employer to produce does not give rise to any adverse presumption against the employer. Even if there could be any such adverse presumption it would have shown at best that after 25th February 1959 there was no conciliation proceeding pending before the Conciliation Officer. But that would not help the applicant Bhima in establishing that there was a contravention by the employer of the provisions of section 33(1). It must accordingly be held that there was no contravention of any provision of section 33 on the part of the employer.

My award accordingly is that Bhima's application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable, and that his dismissal is justified on the merits, as he was rightly found guilty of having deliberately stopped 80 spindles in spite of roving materials being available in a trolley near him under clause 14(c)(xxi) of the Standing Orders and he was rightly dismissed for that misconduct. He is accordingly entitled to no relief.

Taken at my dictation and corrected by me.

AWARD

This is an application by Giridhari under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act for appropriate relief for his forced unemployment from the 21st November 1958 when he was placed under suspension for some alleged misconduct.

The application refers to an industrial dispute referred by G.O. No. 2339-I.R./IR/8L-32/58, dated 27th May 1959, and then it proceeds to state that the workman is a leading member of the Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union which was never in the good grace of the employers and that on the 21st November 1958 a charge-sheet was issued against him and he was placed under suspension. In his application the only case he makes is that he has been all along under suspension and in spite of his repeated letters, he was neither allowed to resume his duty nor was any enquiry held.

The Company's case on the other hand in its written statement is that after Shri Giridhari submitted his explanation, Ext. (1), in reply to the charge-sheet, Ext. 1, served on him, a notice was issued on him on 23rd November 1958 fixing 25th November 1958 for enquiry into the charges, but Giridhari did not attend on that date and another notice was issued on 27th November 1958 fixing 1st December 1958 for the enquiry. Copies of the notices were also posted on the Notice-Board. Giridhari, however, did not attend the enquiry on 1st December 1958 and the Company had to proceed with the enquiry in his absence. The charge was that on 19th November 1958 in the second half of "B" shift, Giridhari allowed an unauthorised person named Sotiram to operate his spindles on Giridhari's machine No. 10 and that at about 6-45 p.m. he was found absent from his place without permission. During the enquiry two witnesses were examined by the Management, namely, Shri R. K. Goyel and Shri Ramavatar who had seen Sotiram, an unauthorised person, working on the machine of Giridhari on 19th November 1958. It is further stated that a letter signed by Sotiram was produced by witness No. 2, on 19th November 1958 admitting that he was an outsider and not an employee of the Company and was receiving training on the machine of Giridhari and praying to be excused. It is further the employer's case that although the enquiry was completed on 1st December 1958 the actual notice of dismissal was not issued till 20th July 1959 because meanwhile the Union took up the cause of the workman concerned and started negotiations with the management about a settlement of the dispute and there were joint conferences before the Conciliation Officer but no settlement was actually arrived at, and then when the management found that there was no chance of a settlement, it issued a letter of dismissal to the complainant on 20th July 1959 and the complainant was offered one month's wages at the time of his dismissal on 27th January 1959 under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company also filed an application under section 33(2)(b) for approval of the action taken against Giridhari. The employer in its written statement also raises the question as to whether the application under section 33A is at all maintainable, in view of the fact that the application itself does not mention any contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

On behalf of the workman only the workman was examined and on behalf of the employers, Shri R. K. Goyel, Labour Officer, Shri Ramavatar, who was in-charge of High Speed Winding Department "B" Shift at the relevant date, Shri Daulat Singh, the Gate Babu of Kesoram Cotton Mills in 1958, Shri Adhesh Missir, a contractor of the Kesoram Cotton Mills and Shri S. K. Sen, the Factory Manager, who also held the enquiry, were examined.

Admittedly during the enquiry, Giridhari was not present. The question further arises whether he received a notice of the enquiry. The Company's witness No. 3, Shri Daulat Singh, who was the Gate Babu of Kesoram Cotton Mills in 1958 says that he served on Giridhari the notices Exts. B and C on 24th November 1958 and 28th November 1958 respectively when Giridhari came near the gate. Of course at first, he states in his cross-examination that he served Ext. B on him on the 24th of November at 9-30 p.m. when he was going to work at the end of "B" shift. But in the next sentence he corrects it and says that he served this notice when he was just outside the gate, because he could not get into the mills as he was under a charge-sheet. He also says that on the 28th of November also Ext. C was served on him in the same way, outside the gate. The notices, of course, do not bear any signature of Daulat Singh but they purport to bear what according to Daulat Singh are the thumb impressions of Giridhari. Giridhari of course denies having received the notices Exts. B and C and denies also having put his thumb impression on either of them in token of his having received the notice. At one stage of the proceedings before me, Shri Pathak, appearing on behalf of the workman represented to me that he would pray for a comparison of the thumb impressions appearing on Exts. B and C with the admitted thumb impressions of Giridhari, but ultimately he did not make any such prayer. When Shri Pathak expressed his desire to have the thumb impressions examined by a Finger Print Expert, Shri Basu on behalf of the employer made a similar prayer verbally for a comparison of the thumb impressions appearing on Exts. B and C, with the thumb impressions of Giridhari on his application under section 33A and when Shri Pathak did not press his prayer, Shri Basu also withdrew his, with the result that these thumb impressions remained unexamined by any Finger Print Expert. There are thus on the one hand, the denial of Giridhari that the thumb impressions on Exts. B and C are his and his statement that he received no notices at all and on the other, the evidence of Shri Daulat Singh that he served them on Giridhari and that the thumb impressions on Exts. B and C are Giridhari's. On his evidence it is impossible for the Tribunal to say that the notices of enquiry actually remained unserved on Giridhari, particularly when the burden of proving this in an application under section 33 rests on the applicant.

Even if it could be held that there was no notice served on Giridhari, as both have led evidence before me on the merits, namely, on the question whether Giridhari allowed an outsider, namely, Shri Sotiram to be trained on his machine on the 19th of November 1958, it has to be decided whether on that evidence the charge against Giridhari has been established. On this point there is on the one hand the denial of Giridhari and on the other, the positive evidence of Shri Goyel and Shri Ramavatar. That Sotiram was not in the employment of the Company is admitted by Giridhari. He also admits that he had been away from his machine and when he came back, he found Sotiram near his machine and at that time he was not doing anything except talking to Shri Goyel and he was standing near the machine on which Giridhari himself used to work. But he did not hear what Sotiram was saying to Shri Goyel. It is Giridhari's statement that that was the occasion when he got to know Sotiram for the first time. He also denies that Sotiram was staying with him or that he belongs to his village. As against this the evidence of Ramavatar is as follows: "On 19th November 1958, at about 6-30 p.m. when I was on my rounds, I found Giridhari was training an outsider on machine No. 10, Giridhari was a worker of machine No. 10. I had occasion to warn him previously 3/4 times not to train any outsider, because I had seen him previously about 3/4 times training this very person, Sotiram. Then on finding this on the 19th, in spite of my previous warning that he should not do this, I telephoned to the Factory Manager, Shri S. K. Sen, and told him that Giridhari was training a man on his machine. I also asked him to send the Labour Officer." It is the evidence of the Factory Manager Shri S. K. Sen in his cross-examination that he had sent Shri Goyel to machine No. 10 in the High Speed Winding Department on receipt of a telephonic message from Shri Ramavatar. The evidence of Shri Goyel is that on being asked by the Factory Manager to go to the High Speed Winding Department and meet Ramavatar in-charge of that department, he went there and met Ramavatar. Shri Ramavatar told him that an outsider was learning work on the machine and one Shri Giridhari, a worker of the High Speed Winding Department, was teaching him. Then he and Ramavatar went to the machine of Giridhari and found there that one person was working on Giridhari's machine, namely, machine No. 10, and when he was asked to disclose his name, he said that he was Sotiram. When he was asked for his attendance card, Sotiram said that he had no attendance card and when Shri Goyel asked Sotiram for how many days he was learning work there, he said he was doing so for 3/4 days. And when he asked Sotiram how he came to know Giridhari, Sotiram replied that he used to live with Giridhari in the Workers' Line and he used to have meals with Giridhari and he also belonged to Giridhari's village. In the meantime Giridhari also came to his machine. Then when Shri Goyel asked Giridhari why he was teaching work to Sotiram without permission, Giridhari admitted his mistake. Shri Goyel then reported the matter to the Factory Manager. Exhibit A is the report of Ramavatar to the Factory Manager about this incident. It bears the endorsement of Shri Pujari, who was then the Assistant Chief Officer. In this report, it is stated that Giridhari, the Winder, working on machine No. 10, engages a person not working in this department named Sotiram, and leaves his place of work and wanders here and there and that he was many times verbally warned for the same, but he paid no attention to it and on the day in question, that is on the 19th of November 1958, at 6-45 p.m., Ramavatar claims to have telephoned the Factory Manager and he was good enough to send Shri Goyel, Labour Officer, who had also himself seen Sotiram working at the machine and Giridhari was not there. Giridhari came to his place after fifteen minutes. In this report, there is no mention of Giridhari having admitted his mistake before Shri Goyel or Shri Ramavatar. I have been asked to disbelieve both Shri Goyel and Shri Ramavatar on the ground that Ramavatar's report does not mention the fact that Giridhari expressed regret and promised that he would not allow Sotiram to work again, as stated by Shri Ramavatar. Shri Goyel stated that Giridhari admitted his mistake. I do not think that these two officers should be disbelieved merely because Ramavatar did not for one reason or another, mention in his report, the fact that Giridhari admitted having committed a mistake. Ramavatar's omission to state this fact does not affect the credibility of Shri Goyel and when both Shri Goyel and Shri Ramavatar say that Shri Giridhari admitted his mistake, I am not prepared to disbelieve them because Ext. A does not mention it. The mere fact that Sotiram, an outsider, could work on his machine when he was himself absent would go to show that there must have been some connivance at least on the part of Giridhari, otherwise Sotiram on his own could hardly have worked on his machine. When Ramavatar says that he saw Sotiram doing some work on 3/4 other occasions and of having warned Giridhari on those occasions, there is no reason at all why I should disbelieve him, although he did not report what he had seen prior to the 19th of November 1958. He appears to have taken a lenient view of Giridhari's papers and he might well have thought that Giridhari would take his warnings seriously and refrain from repeating the art. But as sometimes happens, leniency is apt to be misunderstood and Giridhari now takes full advantage of his absence when Sotiram was found working on his machine. Of course, Sotiram's statement before Shri Goyel and Ramavatar, as well as his written letter of apology to the Factory Manager, could not be considered in evidence as against Giridhari because these statements were not made by him in Giridhari's presence and he had no opporunity of cross-examining him on these statements. But even if these statements of Sotiram are left out, the mere fact that Sotiram was found working on Giridhari's machine, not only on the 19th of November 1958, but on 3/4 occasions before that, as stated by Ramavatar, would go to indicate that in all probability it was Giridhari and no one else, who had allowed Sotiram to work on his part of the machine. In Giridhari's explanation, Ext. 1(1), he stated that he had gone to answer a call of nature at about 6-45 p.m. and at the time of going out from the department he informed his co-worker Yead Ali who worked just beside him and at that time neither Sardar nor Department in-charge was near about and he thought it better not to while away his time in search of his superiors for such a petty matter and that when he went out, there was none else nor Sotiram, and when he came back he found Sotiram before his machine and Sotiram said that he was a man of a contractor and he was not operating the machine but just waiting for his hand-cart on which he worked. But Giridhari's evidence before me gives the lie direct to this part of his explanation. He says in his cross-examination distinctly that although Sotiram was talking to Shri Goyel, he did not hear what Sotiram was saying to Shri Goyel. When he did not hear what Sotiram was saying to Shri Goyel how could he possibly say that Sotiram was telling him that he was a man of a contractor and that he was not operating the machine? That Giridhari does not always tell the truth is also apparent from another thing. He states here in his cross-examination that when he was working in the mills, his address was 90 Kesoram Mills Line No. 1. But two of the annexures to his application under section 33A namely annexures C and D, one dated 8th December 1958 and the other dated 11th June 1958, both mention his address as follows:

K. C. Mills Line,
Line No. 1, Qr. 88,
42, Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24.

This was also the address to which the notice of dismissal Ext. G, dated 20th July 1959, was sent by registered post. But this came back unserved with the postal endorsement "Left, ref. to sender." It is of course possible that by the time the registered notice was sent, Giridhari was not there and had actually left. But that does not mean that while he was actually working in the mills, he was living in quarter No. 90, as stated here and not quarter No. 88, as stated by him in two of his own letters, copies of which were annexed to his application under section 33A but which were not proved on his behalf. The fact that the Company sent the notice to this address would go to show that that was the address of Giridhari. On behalf of the workman much was made of the fact that Yead Ali, mentioned in Giridhari's explanation, was not examined on behalf of the management either during the enquiry or before me. Yead Ali was mentioned in that explanation only as a workman whom Giridhari informed before he went out to answer a call of nature. He did not mention Yead Ali as having seen what happened between Sotiram and Ramavatar and Goyel or what Sotiram was doing during the absence of Giridhari. In any event, if Giridhari thought Yead Ali of any importance, as a witness, he might have called him as his own witness but he took no steps to have Yead Ali summoned. In this state of the evidence, it must be held that the charge against Giridhari that he allowed Sotiram to work on his machine was proved.

The other charge against him is that he was absent from his place of duty without permission and that when he returned to the department after 10 or 15 minutes he could not give any satisfactory reply to the departmental in-charge and the Labour Officer for the said act of misconduct. Under clause 14(vi) and clause (xiv), remaining outside the place of duty during the working hours without permission and allowing an unauthorised person to operate on his machine constitute misconduct. The explanation of the workman regarding the charge of absence during the working hours without permission is admitted but he says that he went to answer a call of nature and at the time of going out from the department he informed his co-worker Yead Ali who works just beside him. That Giridhari informed Yead Ali about it, there is nothing whatever to show except his own uncorroborated statement. The fact however remains that he was absent without permission from his place of work. That fact is admitted by him in his explanation. If he had actually gone to answer a call of nature after informing Yead Ali, when he found both Ramavatar and the Sardar absent, he could have easily obtained corroboration regarding this matter by citing Yead Ali as a witness but he has not done so. This charge also must therefore be held to have been established. Of course this second charge could not by itself have made him liable to dismissal because after all it is only a trivial charge. But the other charge is far from trivial, particularly when as Ramavatar said he found Giridhari allowing Sotiram to work on his machine on 3/4 occasions before and although he had been warned by Ramavatar, he did not take the warning at all seriously.

Under clause 14(b) of the Standing Orders, Ext. H, the workman is liable to be dismissed if he is found guilty of misconduct. Although the evidence was completed on 1st December 1958, the report was not submitted till 20th July 1959 more than eight months later. The explanation offered on behalf of the management, viz., Shri S. K. Sen, for this delay is that he submitted his findings and report Ext. F, after negotiations and conciliation had failed. In his cross-examination he states that he sent a list of the disputes, looked after by Shri Nawaj and he cannot say whether after this list was submitted on the 25th February 1959, the management wrote any letter to the Labour Commissioner about this dispute but there was correspondence from the Labour Commissioner's office to the management either for joint conference or for discussion. As an explanation of the long interval between the conclusion of the evidence and the submission of the report, I must say this is not at all convincing because a conciliation could have been attempted, even after the service of the notice of dismissal. But then the delay cannot vitiate in any way the enquiry or the finding particularly when on the evidence before me I find the findings to be justified on the merits.

The next question is whether there was any contravention of any of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The notice of dismissal, Ext. G, dated 20th July 1959, addressed to Giridhari, I have already said, came back unserved with a postal endorsement, "left, ref. to sender, Calcutta-24." I have also said that the address on the envelope in which this notice was sent, Ext. C(2), was the address mentioned in annexures C and D to Giridhari's application under section 33A, although Giridhari stated that he was staying at quarter No. 90 and not quarter No. 88 as mentioned in his own letters, annexures C and D to his own application. No. 88 was evidently the address of Giridhari on the Company's books and not No. 90. The management thus did everything it could possibly do in having the notice of dismissal served on the workman. In this connection I may also point out that although Giridhari in his application said nothing to indicate that he knew about his dismissal, he states here in his examination-in-chief that he got a letter of dismissal, though he does not exactly remember the date when he received it. The notice of dismissal was actually returned unserved. The Company's application under section 33(2)(b) mentions the fact of dismissal, but there is nothing to show that a copy of the letter of dismissal was annexed to it, the only annexure to the application under section 33(2)(b) being a copy of the charge-sheet. Still Giridhari admits having received the notice of dismissal. He now admits that it was a case of dismissal and not merely a case of suspension without enquiry as he tried to make out in his application. That being so, the contention on behalf of the management that the application under section 33A was not maintainable because according to Giridhari it was not a case of dismissal at all, does not appear to be tenable. There is nothing whatever to indicate that the Company had any other address of Giridhari on its books so as to be able to make another attempt to have the notice served on him. This notice Ext. G tells him that one month's wages in accordance with the provisions of section 33 were being tendered to him and he is directed to collect this amount along with other dues, if any, forthwith from the Time-Keeping Office during working hours. He is also told that an application under section 33(2)(b) is being made before the Industrial Tribunal for approval of the action taken against him.

The application under section 33(2)(b) was actually filed on 29th July 1959 but the dispute referred to in that application is the dispute referred by G.O. No. 5035-I.R./IR/3L-32/58, dated 28th November 1958, whereas Giridhari's application mentions another dispute. It is obvious that at the relevant date, two disputes were pending before the Tribunal. The law does not certainly require that for approval of the same action as many applications should be filed, as there are references pending. One application is enough except when two references are pending efore two different tribunals when two applications ay be necessary. Now this application filed by the ompany was struck off by the Tribunal on 16th larch 1961 under a misapprehension that because ie dispute in connection with which this application rose had been disposed of, the Tribunal no longer ad any jurisdiction to deal with the application nder section 33(2)(b). A large number of cases ruck off in that matter has been subsequently evived at the instance of the Union, representing ie workmen concerned. But the application against iridhari was not one of them. It is not certainly ie fault of the Company that the application was ruck off by the Tribunal. The dismissal I have lready said had effect from the 21st of July 1959 nd the application was filed on the 23rd of July 959. There was thus no unreasonable delay in filing iat application. The provisions of the proviso to ction 33(2)(b) were thus substantially complied with v the employers. As regards the provisions of ction 33(1), the workman has not been able to rove that on 27th July 1959 when the notice of ismissal was issued there was any conciliation roceeding pending. On the other hand, the factory anager has stated that it was only when the nciliatiton proceedings failed that he submitted his port, and the order of dismissal was issued. In ese circumstances, my award is first that there was contravention on the part of the management of y of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial isputes Act and that Giridhari's application under ction 33A is not maintainable and secondly, that the merits, Giridhari's dismissal was justified as was rightly found guilty of the charges against m.

AWARD

By Order No. 6312-I.R./IR/10L-216/60, dated the 1st December 1960, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Yule Engineering Corporation, 157/2 Howrah Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by Howrah District Engineering and Metal Workers' Union, 4 Panchkari Mahanta Lane, Salkia, Howrah, regarding the matter specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by Notification No. 808-I.R. IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

This is a reference in respect of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Yule Engineering Corporation of Howrah (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Howrah District Engineering and Metal Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

Immediately after receipt of the reference notices were sent out for service upon both parties. The Company promptly entered appearance following the service of notice, but the Union appeared very late. However, both parties talked of amicable settlement even after filing of their respective written statements, and they ultimately succeeded to come to terms.

The only dispute to be adjudicated upon is: Whether the termination of employment of Shri Tarak Nath Dey is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

Both parties have amicably settled the dispute out of Court and have filed a joint petition of compromise on 2nd August 1962 embodying the terms of compromise. I have perused the terms. The Company has agreed to pay Rs. 200 to the concerned workman, who has also agreed to accept the said amount in full and final settlement of all his claims.

The aforesaid terms are fair, legal and reasonable. They are accepted and an award is given on compromise in terms of the joint petition of compromise filed on 2nd August 1962, which be made a part of the award as an Annexure.

This is my award.

AWARD

By Order No. 866-I.R./IR/7L-28(A)/59, dated the 27th February 1960, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Issues

1. Whether the clerks can be transferred on promotion or otherwise from factory to office and vice-versa? If so, what should be their leave rules?

2. Whether Management can ask clerks of the pay-sheet section to work on festival and national holidays? If so, what payment should be made for this work?

3. If clerks working in the offices are asked to work overtime after normal working hours, what should be the payment for such work?

This reference is in respect of some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. Fort William Jute Co. Ltd., Sibpur, Howrah (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Fort William Jute Mills Employees' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

There are three issues formulated in the reference for adjudication by this tribunal.

On receipt of the reference from the Government, notices were issued to both parties, who in response thereof entered appearance and filed their respective written statements.

At the hearing the Union examined one workman and the Company also examined one officer as their witnesses in addition to some documents tendered into evidence by both parties.

The case of the Union in the written statement is that the Company is one of the oldest and biggest unit of jute industries in West Bengal, and is a prosperous concern having in its employ nearly 190 subordinate and clerical staffs and about 2,500 workers. The Company was under the management and control of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. up to April 1952. Thereafter Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. assumed charge of the Company as Managing Agent. At the time of the change-over, proper assurance was given to all the employees that their service conditions as existing then will remain unchanged. But thereafter under the Managing Agency of Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. the Company altered the old service conditions and introduced new leave rules and overtime rates which are of discriminatory nature and highly prejudicial to the interest of the employees. The Company also discarded the old rules of promotion of clerks to higher posts from among the clerks in service in the mill office as well as in the factory and started direct recruitment from outside to the higher posts without any consideration for promotion of the clerks already in service. The Company has also arbitrarily forced the clerks of the pay-sheet section to work on festival holidays in spite of protests. The Company has also arbitrarily reduced overtime rates. Previously while the Company was under the Management of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co., the employees were being paid overtime at double rate of wages. But the present Managing Agent has introduced arbitrary rules of varying rates of overtime rate. Hence disputes arose. No conciliation was possible because of the unyielding attitude of the Company. In consequence, the present reference has been made.

The Company in reply has given a general denial to the Union's allegations. It is contended that the services of the employees are still transferable from office to factory and vice-versa. It is admitted that different sets of leave rules have been introduced for the clerks working in the office and in the factory in terms of the Jute Tribunal Award. It has also admitted employment of clerks of the pay-sheet section on festival holidays in the exigency of the situation on payment of one day's extra wages as per Second Jute Tribunal Award. It has further contended that the clerks employed in the factory are being paid for overtime work at double the rate of their normal wages inclusive of D.A., but other clerks working in the general office are not being paid at the same rate for overtime work as they are not entitled to.

Issue No. 1

The Union's case is that previously while the Company was under the management and control of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. there was no discrimination between a clerk working in the general office and a clerk working in the factory. On the contrary, their services were transferable from one office to the other and they were equally eligible for promotion to higher posts. But since the Company came under the Managing Agency of Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd., old rules of procedure and service conditions are being disregarded and discarded and promotion to higher posts are being made from outside in utter disregard to the long existing practices. The question of promotion is not involved in the present reference having regard to the issue as framed and formulated, I am of opinion that the question of promotion of clerks to higher posts is outside the scope of the present reference. The matter of promotion, only incidentally comes up in connection with transfer of clerks from factory to office and vice-versa either on promotion or otherwise. Therefore, within the limited scope of this particular question of promotion only this much can say that it is certainly a management function as claimed by the Company but in the interest of an industry as a whole, the Company must not overlook the general interest of its employees, efficiency and satisfactory services of the clerks certainly deserve consideration of the management irrespective of their caste, creed or community, if promotion is altogether denied to the clerks already in service and in spite of their efficiency, then they will have little incentive to work. On the contrary, it may give rise to dissatisfaction and consequential unrest in the industry. Therefore, the Company must exercise its discretion honestly and fairly without indulging in discrimination, favouritism or nepotism. That will surely pay in the long run and will ensure industrial peace and harmony.

The Company admits that the services of the clerks employed in the general office of the mill and those of the clerks employed in the factory are interchangeable. The Company has stated in the written statement page 2 that "the services of the employees under the Company are transferable from office to factory and vice-versa." It is further stated that 'the clerks were transferred from factory to office and vice-versa at the discretion of the management * * *". Therefore, in view of the Company's admission the first part of the issue will be answered in the affirmative.

The next consideration would be: What should be their leave rules? Previously while the Company was under the management of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. there were uniform leave rules in respect of all the clerks irrespective of their works either in the general office or in the factory as has been deposed by P.W. 1 Shri Gobinda Ganguly who is the Assistant Secretary of the Union and who has been in service of the Company from 1951 as an office clerk. This fact has not been denied by the Company or by the Company's solitary witness D.W. 1 Shri B. K. Jajoo who is the principal administrative officer of the mill. On the contrary, he has admitted that sometime after the Third Jute Textile Award of 1955 the Company introduced new leave rules in accordance with the Jute Textile Award. There was no such issue for adjudication before the Third Jute Textile Tribunal but that issue was adjudicated upon by the Second Jute Textile Tribunal and the award was published in the "Calcutta Gazette." November 12, 1951. At that point of time Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. was not in the picture so far as this mill was concerned. But then the Managing Agent was Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. That Managing Agent did not consider it just and proper to introduce the new leave rules as per award of the Second Jute Textile Tribunal. That Managing Agent must have acted wisely because of certain conditions imposed upon by the Second Jute Textile Tribunal. It is provided in paragraph 9(9) of the said Award that "if any employee or employees in any particular jute mill are enjoying leave or holidays of any character which are better than those which we have provided for in the present award, the existing privileges of leave and holidays shall be maintained." When the said Managing Agent parted with this mill and Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. took over, a general notice was issued assuring the employees that "their continuity of service will not in any way be affected and the existing condition of their service will continue to remain unchanged." This notice is Ext. 1. It is dated 22nd May 1952. It was signed by Shri R. N. Bangur of Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. and by the then Manager Mr. G. D. Hoskins. It was also signed by the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Howrah, and two other officers of the Indian Jute Mills Association. Therefore, by this document the workmen in service of the Company were assured of security of their service conditions. The Company, therefore, cannot now arbitrarily and unreasonably and without valid grounds change their service conditions for the worse and curtail the privileges and amenities so long enjoyed by them. According to the Company's witness Shri Jajoo, the Company introduced new leave rules in respect of new recruits only and that was done sometime after the publication of the Third Jute Tribunal Award in 1955. Leave rules were actually prescribed by the Second Jute Tribunal Award published in 1951. There is no material to justify introduction of new leave rules in respect of old employees in service before such introduction, specially when it is specifically provided in the award that the existing privileges, leave and holidays which are better than those provided for in the award should not be affected.

In that view of the matter I must hold that the old employees must be governed by the leave rules in existence with the concern before the introduction of the new leave rules in respect of new recruits sometimes after the publication of the Third Jute Tribunal Award in October 1955. It is nowhere in the Company's evidence that in respect of old employees the new Managing Agent has also introduced new leave rules as per award of the Second Jute Industrial Tribunal. That shows that the Company is well aware of the position. It cannot find any justification to affect adversely the service conditions of the old employees irrespective of their employment either in the general office or in the factory. As regards new recruits, they will also be entitled to the same leave rules so long in existence with the concern unless they have agreed to be bound by the new leave rules introduced by the Company in accordance with the Jute Tribunal Award as deposed by the Company's Secretary Shri Jajoo (D.W. 1).

Admittedly there are nine festival holidays observed every year by this concern. Festival holidays include not only religious festival holidays but also national festival holidays. They are: (1) The Independence Day (15th August), (2) the Republic Day (26th January) and (3) Mahatma Gandhi's Birth Day (2nd October). These three days in every year being national festival holidays are of national importance, as such, the Company, in all fairness and in consideration of national importance and national prestige, should not insist upon the clerks of the pay-sheet section to work on these three days in a year even on payment of double the rate of normal wages. As regards the remaining six religious festival holidays, Company may ask them to work in extraordinary circumstances of extreme urgency. It is, however, desirable that the Company should see that the clerks of the pay-sheet section can also enjoy these religious festival holidays along with other workmen and employees of the mill. In case their employment is justified on these religious festival holidays, they should be employed by rotation instead of employing all of them at all the times. No doubt these clerks of the pay-sheet section are entrusted with very important and responsible job. The regular weekly payment of about 2,500 operatives of the mill will depend on the timely completion of the works of the clerks of the pay-sheet section. To avoid dislocation in the regular weekly payment of the operatives, it is the duty of the Company to see that the work of this particular section is completed within time. Therefore, in the interest of expediency of the regular and smooth working of the mill, it may be necessary to employ the clerks of the pay-sheet section even on these religious festival holidays. But the Company should see that all of them are not employed at all times but they should be asked to work by rotation. If it is not possible in view of the heavy work of this particular section, the Company is to see that extra hands are employed or a number of clerks employed in the pay-sheet section is increased to cope with the increased volume of work.

On the three national festival holidays, I have already observed, the clerks of the pay-sheet section should not be asked to work. These three national holidays are universally observed throughout the country irrespective of the religion and faith unlike the religious festival holidays which may be different in different parts of the country and the employees may be of different creed and religion. So, the empolyment on some Hindu festival holidays, of workmen not professing the particular faith is not altogether impossible and may not be very unfair in the very exigency of the situation provided he is adequately paid for the work. Similarly on a Muslim festival holiday a Hindu clerk may be asked to work on the above conditions. The pay-sheet section personnel may accordingly be selected by the Company as far as practicable.

The next question is: What should be the rate of payment for the clerks of the pay-sheet section for their employment on a religious festival holiday? The Company's witness Shri B. K. Jajoo had to admit overtime payment at double rate of the normal wages. According to him clerical staffs employed in the factory are governed by the Factories Act and as such they are always being paid at double rate of wages for overtime work. In respect of others there is no fixed rate for overtime work. But he admits that double rate is also paid for the overtime work. So, he practically supports the Union's case that previously when the Company was under the management and control of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co., all the clerical staffs used to get double rate of wages for overtime work which fact finds support in the evidence of P.W. 1 Shri Gobinda Ganguly who has long been in service of the Company. He entered service in 1951, whereas the Company's witness Shri Jajoo sometime after 1955. Therefore, Shri Jajoo has no personal knowledge as to the rate of overtime payment prevalent before 1956. The Company has not produced any register or records to show that it was otherwise than what is deposed by an old employee Shri Gobinda Ganguly (P.W. 1). He has not been challenged on this point in the cross-examination nor there is any denial given by the Company's witness in his evidence. On the contrary, there is some admission that double rate of payment for overtime work is still prevalent but not without discrimination. There is no evidence on the side of the Company to deny the fact of payment at double rate of the normal wages for overtime work all along during the period Company was under the management and control of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. The Company has not placed any material before this tribunal to justify reduction of the prevalent rate for overtime work. Therefore, clerks of the pay-sheet section will be entitled to receive at the double rate of the basic wages and dearness allowance for their work on a religious festival holiday in addition to the holiday pay.

The Union claims that all clerical staffs employed in different sections be given wages at double the rate of normal wages for overtime work, which was the prevalent practice in this concern so long the Company was under the management and control of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. as Managing Agent. The Union's allegation is that since Messrs. Bangur Brothers Ltd. became the Managing Agent, the employees are not having the fair and square deal in respect of their service conditions and amenities in spite of definite assurance given in this regard by them at the beginning of their taking over charge as Managing Agent in May 1952. It has already been observed that the present Managing Agent definitely assured the employees in writing issuing a general notice, dated 22nd May 1952 (Ext. 1), witnessed by the Assistant Labour Commissioner of the Government and two Officers of the Indian Jute Mills Association that their existing conditions of service will not be affected.

The Managing Agent of the Company, according to the Union, did not adhere to their promise and assurance, but shortly after, they started to break their promise and to act contrary to the written assurance, by altering the service conditions, and changing the existing rates of overtime work in respect of employees of some sections like labour office and pay-sheet section and in this way the Company is said to have introduced discrimination and differential treatment.

The Company has not specifically denied all these allegations in the written statement. According to Company's solitary witness Shri Jajoo (D.W. 1), the clerks employed in the factory are paid for overtime at double the rate of normal wages as they are entitled to under the provisions of the Factories Act. He goes on to say that other clerks are also paid for overtime at double rate but not all, such payment is, according to this witness, at the discretion of the management and depends on the nature of the job. It seems to me that in order to justify the apparently discriminatory rates of payment for overtime work, this principal administrative officer of the Company has pleaded accidental payments through oversight at the double rate for overtime work done by the clerks. I can hardly attach any credence to this uncorroborated oral testimony. It transpires from his evidence that overtime rate is fixed by him in consultation with or on the recommendation of the office master. Be that as it may, it is crystal clear on careful study of the pleadings of the parties and the evidence on the record that previously the Company under the management of Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. Ltd. used to pay for overtime work at double rate of wages and that system is still in vogue but not for all the clerks without discrimination. The present Managing Agent, as it appears, is responsible for introducing discrimination and differential treatment in respect of service conditions and amenities so long uniformly enjoyed by the employees under the previous Managing Agent Messrs. Kettlewell Bullen & Co. Pay-sheet section clerks and labour office clerks are said to be the sufferers. No doubt they cannot invoke the aid of the provisions of the Factories Act in this regard, being employed in the general office but the fact remains that they had been in enjoyment of this privilege or benefit for some years and the Company has not been able to put forward any justifiable ground for curtailing the long enjoyed privileges. However, there may be some justification for the management to reserve the right to decide what should be the overtime rate, i.e., the minimum or more than the minimum depending upon the nature of the job and the circumstances leading to the accumulation of arrears of work, as for example, wilful avoidance or shirking of work by the clerk or clerks concerned during the normal working hours or otherwise.

Accordingly I direct that the clerks employed in the ffer nt sections of the general office including the ay-sheet section and the labour office be entitled to ceive for overtime work beyond the scheduled orking hours at the rate to be decided by the anagement but not below the rate of 1½ (one and alf) times the normal wages.

The decisions given as above will take effect from ie date this award becomes enforceable under the ovisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

This is my award.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs, The Oriental Research and Chemical Laboratory Ltd., Qumaresh House, 61 Hurragunj Road, Salkia, Howrah, and one of their workmen Shri Sudhir Kumar Mukherjee, represented by Oriental Research and Chemical Laboratory Workmen's Union, 4 Panchkari Mohanto Lane, Salkia, Howrah (Case No. VIII-444 of 1960.)

Present

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Company: Shri P. K. Nandi, Advocate.

Present for the Union: Shri A. P. Chakravorty, Advocate.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4552-I.R./I.R/11L-224/60, dated the 24th August 1960, for determination of the following issue:—

Whether the dismissal of Shri Sudhir Kumar Mukherjee is justified? To what relief is he entitled?

Originally this very dispute was referred to the First Labour Court, Government of West Bengal, by Government order No. 4420-I.R./IR/10L-127/58, dated the 15th October 1958. The First Labour Court having been replaced by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal, constituted under notification No. 3115-I.R./IR/3A-6/59, dated the 21st June 1960, and in consequence it having been abolished by the notification No. 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, the same dispute was referred to this Second Industrial Tribunal by the Government order as aforesaid.

After the parties had put in their respective written statement and completed all their tadbirs in usual course, the matter came up for hearing on 28th June 1962. On that date the parties came to terms and put in a petition of compromise settling the dispute amicably between themselves. I perused the terms of agreement which were accepted as being fair and reasonable. By the agreement the Company agreed to pay a total sum of Rs. 364 to the workman concerned, in full and final settlement of all the claims of the workman, including the claim for reinstatement or re-employment. By this agreement the workman agreed to have no other claim including that of reinstatement against the employer. On that very date the workman concerned received cash payment of Rs. 364 from the Company, and granted a stamped receipt to that effect which has been kept with the record.

In view of the above, I pass a compromise award in this case. As cash payment in terms of the settlement has been actually made in full and final satisfaction of all sorts of claims of the workman concerned, the compromise petition need not form part of this award.

AWARD

The above dispute over the Issue given in the order of reference and re-produced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6490-I.R./IR/10L-67(A)/60, dated the 9th December 1960.

Issue

Whether the dismissal of Shri Sanat Kumar Ghose is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

According to the facts stated in the written statements of both parties, it is an undisputed position that the concerned worker was dismissed by a letter of the Company, dated 23rd March 1959, and the dismissal was on the grounds of some alleged misconducts of the worker for which a charge-sheet was issued to him and after his reply, some enquiry was held by the Company. It is also an undisputed position that the Company made an application to the Third Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, for approval of the dismissal of the concerned worker under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, because another dispute between the Company and its workmen was then pending for adjudication before that Tribunal. It is further an undisputed position that the said application for approval of the action taken by the Company was heard on merits and finally dismissed by the said Tribunal. The Union in its present written statement has alleged that the concerned worker was not guilty of the alleged misconducts and no fair and proper enquiry regarding the charges levelled against him was held by the Company and the worker, who had put in 14 years' service under the Company, was dismissed in that manner, because he incurred the displeasure of the Company as he was in the habit of pointing out defects and irregularities in the work of some departments of the Company where he was placed in course of his employment. The Company has, on the other hand, contended that the charges were all correct and these amounted to misconducts on the part of the concerned worker and he was duly served with a charge-sheet for his misconducts and after his reply to the charge-sheet, there was a fair and proper enquiry according to the principles of natural justice and upon the findings of the enquiry, he was dismissed from the Company's service. In regard to the application made by the Company to the Third Industrial Tribunal under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, which admittedly failed, as already indicated above, the Company has pleaded in its written statement that the said Industrial Tribunal misconceived its jurisdiction and acted beyond its jurisdiction and against the principles laid down by relevant decisions of different Courts and Tribunals and it acted illegally in not according approval by the Management's action. The Company has further pleaded that as the matter has now been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication under section 10, Industrial Disputes Act, this Tribunal should adjudicate the matter on merits.

I have briefly indicated above the relevant undisputed facts of the case and also the respective cases of the parties on points of dispute. It is now necessary to refer to another fact which has given a new turn to the case. The fact is that the Union filed a petition before this Tribunal on 4th July 1962 referring specifically to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Strawboard Manufacturing Co. versus Gobind, reported in 1962(1) L.L.J., page 422, on the effect of disapproval of the action taken by the employer in dismissing an employee by a Tribunal upon an application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, and stating that it was held by the Supreme Court that in case of disapproval by the Tribunal, the action taken by the employer would fall and thereupon the workman would be deemed never to have been dismissed or discharged and would remain in the service of the employer. In view of the aforesaid decision of the Supreme Court, it was submitted that this Tribunal "should no longer proceed to determine this matter finally disposed of by the said order of the Third Industrial Tribunal, and should be pleased to proceed to determine and adjudicate upon the dispute on the basis that the said Shri Sanat Kumar Ghose should be deemed to have been rightly in employment after the said order, dated 13th February 1960, of the Third Industrial Tribunal". It was also finally prayed that this Tribunal should proceed on the basis that Shri Ghose had been rightly in employment. It is to be noted here that the Company's application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b) in respect of the disputed dismissal of the concerned worker was disposed of by the order of the Third Industrial Tribunal, dated 15th February 1960, and not 13th February 1960, as wrongly stated in the aforesaid petition of the Union. The date clearly appears in the certified copy of the order produced before me. A copy of this petition of the Union was served upon the Company's representative, but the Company did not file any written reply to the petition.

At the hearing, it was contended by the representative of the Union that in view of the undisputed facts of the case relating to the Company's application in respect of the disputed dismissal of the concerned worker under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, made to the Third Industrial Tribunal, and in view of the decision of the Supreme Court as to the effect of disapproval of the Company's action in the present case by the Third Industrial Tribunal, before whom the Company applied under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, in the case of Strawboard Manufacturing Co. versus Gobind, referred to above, which fully applies to the facts of the present case, this Tribunal should not go into the merits of the disputed dismissal but should act on the legal position that there was no dismissal at all and the concerned worker is to be deemed to be in service of the Company all along in spite of the purported order of dismissal and should afford him suitable reliefs accordingly. On behalf of the Company, the learned Advocate appearing for it has, on the other hand, contended that in view of the position taken up by the Union in its application, dated 4th July 1962, this Tribunal has now nothing to adjudicate upon and it should pass a "no dispute" award.

I think that the present case can be disposed of on the basis of the legal position arising out of the Supreme Court decision in Strawboard Manufacturing Company's case, referred to above, and in view of that decision, it is not only unnecessary but also incompetent for this Tribunal to go into the merits of the disputed dismissal. It has been clearly held in the Supreme Court case that in a case where an employer dismisses an employee in circumstances calling for an application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, and makes an application under that section to the appropriate Tribunal but the application is dismissed and the action of the employer is disapproved, the result would be that the action of the Company would fall altogether and the concerned employee is to be deemed to have been never dismissed or discharged and would remain in the service of the employer. I reproduce below the precise decision of the Supreme Court in this matter:—

> "It is, however, urged on behalf of the respondent that if the employer dismisses or discharges a workman and then applies for approval of the action taken and the Tribunal refuses to approve of the action, the workman would be left with no remedy as there is no provision for reinstatement in section 33(2). We, however, see no difficulty on this score. If the Tribunal does not approve of the action taken by the employer, the result would be that the action taken by him would fall and thereupon the workman would be deemed never to have been dismissed or discharged and would remain in the service of the employer. In such a case no specific provision as to reinstatement is necessary and by the very fact of the Tribunal not approving the action of the employer, the dismissal or discharge of the workman would be of no effect and the workmen concerned would continue to be in in service as if there never was any dismissal or discharge by the employer. In that sense, the order of discharge or dismissal passed by the employer does not become final and conclusive until it is approved by the tribunal under section 33(2)."

A similar decision was also made by the Punjab igh Court in the case of Matchwel Electricals ndia) Ltd. versus Muni Lal Verma and others 962(1) L.L.J., page 568]. It was argued in that case n behalf of the Company that all that the Company as required to do under section 33(2) was to make an application seeking approval of the order of dismissal, and once the application had been made, the order of dismissal became effective irrespective of the fact whether the Industrial Tribunal approved the order or refused to do so. It was pointed out that section 33(2) nowhere lays down that the order of dismissal passed under that provision of law shall not take effect until it is approved. These contentions were negatived by the High Court and it held as follows:—

> "It is true that these express words are not used, but the language of clause (b) of section 33(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act XIV of 1947 leaves no doubt that the legislature intended that in cases falling under that clause, the workman should not be entirely at the mercy of his employer, and if he is to be discharged for his alleged misconduct, it must be with the approval of the authority before whom the dispute is pending. If the ultimate result of an application for approval of the employer's action is not to affect the order of dismissal, there could have been hardly any object in making it obligatory upon the employer to make an application for approval of his action. Such an application is not an idle formality and, in my opinion, the clear intention of law is that an order of dismissal passed under section 33(2) shall not take effect unless it is approved or affirmed by the authority concerned. In cases in which the employer's conduct in discharging or dismissing the workman is not approved, the order of dismissal passed by the employer would have no effect, nor would it operate to end the relationship of the workman and employer between the parties concerned."

It can now be safely held upon the aforesaid decisions of the Supreme Court and the Punjab High Court that where dismissal of a worker made in circumstances requiring an application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, is not approved by the Tribunal upon such an application being made, the result is that there is no dismissal of the concerned worker and he is to be deemed to be in the service of the employer all along in spite of the order of dismissal which is of no force and effect whatsoever. This must also be the position in the present case where the facts and circumstances are absolutely similar. Here, the dismissal was made for some alleged misconducts and there was an application for approval of the dismissal by the Third Industrial Tribunal, before which another dispute between this Company and its workmen was then pending for adjudication on reference by the Government. The application was hotly contested and after hearing on merits, the Tribunal refused to approve the action of the Company in dismissing this workman and rejected the application. The resultant position, therefore, in the present case must be held to be that the purported dismissal of the concerned worker was of no force and effect whatsoever and it was not a legal dismissal at all and the concerned worker continued to be an employee of the Company without any cessation of the relationship of master and servant between them and this position must be deemed to be still continuing. As this is the legal position in respect of the disputed dismissal covered by the issue referred for decision, this Tribunal must dispose of the Issue as to dismissal accordingly without going into the detailed merits of the disputed dismissal. And as to reliefs, it would naturally follow from the said position that there would be no question of reinstatement, because there was no dismissal but the worker would be entitled to recover his full wages ever since the date of the purported dismissal, 23rd March 1959. In my view, this must be the award in the present case. It has been contended by the learned Advocate for the Company that in view of the legal position arising in respect of the purported dismissal in the present case, which is the subject-matter of the precise issue referred for decision, from the Supreme Court decision in the case of Strawboard Manufacturing Co., and also in view of the clear position taken up by the Union in its special petition filed before this Tribunal on 4th July 1962, that there was no dismissal of the concerned worker, this Tribunal cannot and should not make any award on the Issue and it should make a "no dispute" award and this Tribunal is particularly not competent to make any award regarding any relief to the concerned workmen. I am unable to accept this whole contention. The main issue is whether the dismissal of Shri Sanat Kumar Ghose is justified and the subsidiary issue is to what relief, if any, is he entitled. The Union has challenged the dismissal as not justified. It has also referred to the facts relating to and arising out of the Company's application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. The Company has supported the dismissal on merits and also on points of law. From the undisputed facts relating to and arising out of the Company's application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), the incontrovertible legal position is that in view of the disapproval of the action of the Company in dismissing the worker by the Tribunal, before which the application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b) was made, the whole action of the Company falls to the ground and there is no dismissal of the concerned worker whatsoever and consequently, the worker is to be deemed to be in the service of the Company all along since then. Both the main and the subsidiary issues may quite legitimately be disposed of on this incontrovertible legal position arising out of the undisputed facts and this Tribunal has, in my view, every jurisdiction to dispose of the issues accordingly. I am further of the view that in view of the incontrovertible legal position, which arises in the present case out of the disapproval of the Company's action in dismissing the concerned worker by the Tribunal, the present reference can and should be disposed of by this Tribunal on the said basis.

In the result, I award that there was no dismissal of Shri Sanat Kumar Ghose and the purported dismissal of this worker by the Company's letter, dated 23rd March 1959, which was not approved by the appropriate Tribunal in the proceeding arising out of the Company's application under the proviso to section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act, was of no force and effect whatsoever and do not effect any cessation of the relationship of employer and employee between the Company and the concerned worker and consequently, the worker is to be deemed to be in the Company's service all along ever since the date of the purporting dismissal and the Company must pay him his due wages from that date uptil now and all arrears of wages are to be paid to the worker within two months from the publication of the award in the "Calcutta Gazette." As the concerned worker's service under the Company must be deemed to be still continuing, the Company shall allow him to resume work on his reporting for duty within 15 days from the publication of the award.

No. 3619-I.R./IR/11L-174/59(Pt.). — 11th August 1962.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 5510-I.R./IR/11L-174/59, dated the 1st November 1960, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Bengal Porcelain Co. Private Ltd., P. O. Belghoria, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Pottery Workers' Union, 64 Feeder Road, Belghoria, 24-Parganas, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the second and the third schedules to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Sixth Industrial Tribunal;

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Bengal Porcelain Co. Private Ltd., P. O. Belgharia, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Pottery Workers' Union, 64 Feeder Road, Belgharia, 24-Parganas. (Case No. VII-568/60.)

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by Order No. 5510-I.R./IR/11L-174/59, dated the 1st November 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute for adjudication to this Tribunal.

Issues

1. Festival Holidays.

2. Whether the following workmen should be made permanent in their services?—

(1) Shri Joy Narayan Singh, (2) Shri Jhulan Kahar, (3) Shri Ramprosad Nag, (4) Shrimati Mallika Bala Dassi, (5) Shri Dandapani Patra, (6) Shri Tulshi Das, (7) Shri Ramdeo Singh, (8) Shri Subodh Dutta, (9) Shri Shew Bachan Singh, (10) Shri Kinu Bal, (11) Shri Deman Dusad, (12) Shri Rajpati, (13) Shri Shew Prosad Singh, (14) Shri Dhaneswar Mahato, (15) Shri Keshta Sardar, (16) Shri Dhaneswar Sau, (17) Shri Harak Chand Sau, (18) Shri Surja Roy, (19) Shri Ram Bilash Rajbhar.

3. Working hours, leave and holidays for durwans.

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, is in respect of a dispute between Messrs. Bengal Porcelain Co. Private Ltd. (hereinafter called the Company) and their workmen represented by Pottery Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union). The dispute was raised in respect of three points, viz., festival holidays, permanency of 19 workmen under reference and working hours, leave and holidays for durwans.

It is the case of the Union that the workers are given only seven days' festival holidays but they are entitled to festival holidays of 10 or 11 days per year. Regarding the next issue, i.e., issue No. 2 relating to the permanency of 19 workmen under reference, both the parties submitted that this issue had been amicably settled between the parties and no adjudication is therefore necessary for this issue. Regarding the issue No. 3, it is the case of the Union that the durwans have no fixed hours of duty, that they are granted only 14 days' leave on full pay per year, but are not allowed festival holidays or any other holidays when the factory remains closed.

It is the case of the Company that there was a dispute previously which was adjudicated upon by the Third Industrial Tribunal and which was published in the "Calcutta Gazette" on 11th December 1958 and that the Tribunal had already given an award in respect of the festival holidays holding that the workers were entitled only to seven days' festival holidays including the three national holidays. The Company contends that in view of the previous adjudication, this matter cannot be re-agitated before this Tribunal. Regarding issue No. 3, i.e., working hours, leave and holidays for the durwans, the Company alleges that besides the two durwans, the Company engaged two night guards to keep a watch over the factory and its properties, that the durwans do not work for 24 hours a day and that they are not factory workers, but members of the Watch and Ward Department.

Decision

I will now take up the dispute in respect of issue No. 1, i.e., festival holidays. It is proved by the award of the Third Industrial Tribunal published in the "Calcutta Gazette" on 11th December 1958 that this particular point was gone into and it was awarded that the workers were entitled to only seven days' festival holidays in a year including the three national holidays. This award has not been terminated and it has not been proved that there has been any change in the circumstances which will justify the matter being reagitated before this Tribunal. In my opinion, the principle of resjudicata is attracted in this case as there has already been a finding that the workers are entitled to seven festival holidays per year including three national holidays. This matter cannot now be adjudicated upon by me. I therefore hold that the workers will get seven days' festival holidays including three national holidays as they have been getting from before.

Issue No. 2

Both the parties to the dispute submitted before me that this particular issue had been settled out of Court between the parties and this issue need not be gone into. I therefore hold that this issue be answered in favour of the Company.

Issue No. 3

This issue relates to the working hours, leave and holidays for the durwans. It is the case of the Union that the durwans are factory workers but even then they have no fixed hours of duty but they remain on duty for 24 hours a day. The Company, on the other hand, alleges that there are two durwans who remain on duty at the gate from 9-30 a.m. to 4-30 p.m. and even during the duty hours they cook their meals and take their cooked food. The durwans are provided with residential quarters inside the factory premises and O.P.W 1 the factory Manager deposes that the durwans by mutual arrangement may leave the factory after 4-30 p.m. and they are also permitted to spend the night outside. It is also in the evidence of O.P.W. 1 that the Company engaged two night guards to keep watch over the factory and its properties during the night. The durwans and the night guards are members of the Watch and Ward staff and they cannot be said to be factory workers. I am satisfied that the durwans remain on duty only from 9-30 a.m. to 4-30 p.m. and that even during their duty hours they are permitted to cook their food and take their meals. None of the durwans has come to give evidence in this case. P.W 1 Shri Judisthir Nag is the only witness examined by the Union. He admits in his cross-examination that he was not sent by the durwans to speak on their behalf and he has no authority to speak for them. There is nothing to prove that the durwans working under the Company have any grievance or if they have themselves raised any dispute regarding their working hours, leave and holidays. Regarding leave of durwans O P.W. 1 says that the durwans are granted leave for 15 days a year with full pay. This is quite reasonable. Regarding holidays, it is in evidence that the durwans only remain on duty at the gate when the factory is open and when the workers come to the factory and go out after completion of their duties. The durwans, in fact, are not manual workers and they have only light duty. In my opinion, so long the factory remains open, the durwans are not entitled to any holiday, festival holidays or other holidays. As the durwans have not come to give evidence in this case and as the evidence of O.P.W. 1 the factory Manager satisfactorily proves that the durwans are not working for a period more than seven hours a day and as their work is light and as they are permitted to remain outside the factory area by mutual arrangement, the durwans have no case against the Company. I therefore find that the existing arrangement cannot be disturbed. In view of the findings above, the Union is not entitled to any relief.

This is my award.

Workers' Union, 26/B Dum Dum Road, Calcutta-2 (hereinafter be referred to as the Union), relating to the undermentioned issue, to this Tribunal for adjudication.

Issue

Whether the termination of service of Shri Paresh Chandra Paul is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

AWARD

Both the parties have filed their written statement stating their respective cases on the point at issue. Shri Paul was admittedly an employee of the Company and it is also not in dispute that he has been retrenched by the management. Shri Paul's case is that his services have been terminated arbitrarily by way of retrenchment during the pendency of certain proceedings before a Tribunal. It is contended that this retrenchment was illegal and mala fide because he was not really a surplus hand and that the principle of "last come, first go" also was not followed in this case.

The Company on the other hand contends that Shri Paul was employed by it as the Officer-in-Charge of the finished goods, Despatch Department, in the factory and thus he was not a workman within the meaning of the Act in view of the nature of his duties. It is accordingly urged that the reference itself is bad in law.

It is also contended that the Union concerned also actually consented to the retrenchment of Shri Paul as a measure of economy. It is further urged that the principle of "last come, first go" does not apply in this case as his services appertain to a particular category and had to be dispensed with as a measure of economy.

This Company is a manufacturer of paints, etc., and Messrs. James & Co. (P.) Ltd. were the managing agents thereof previously. But Messrs. Birla Brothers took over the management of the Company in December 1960. On the 27th of January 1961 a notice was given to Shri Paul for retrenchment with effect from 1st February 1961 for the purpose of economy on the ground that the Company was suffering heavy losses in the previous years (vide Ext. 1). Of course it is nobody's case that Shri Paul was discharged or dismissed for any delinquency, misconduct or misdemeanour. Termination of his service was contended to be a simple case of retrenchment for economy. It is not in dispute that the Company was suffering losses year to year at the relevant time. Profit and Loss Accounts by the years 1958-59, 1959-60 and 1960-61 will support this contention of the Company. Ext. B, an unchallenged list of retrenched staff, will show that since 1960 the Company had to retrench considerable number of persons in Calcutta and elsewhere for reasons of economy and these retrenched staff not only included clerks but highly paid officers also. So retrenchment by itself cannot be said to be the result of any mala fied intention or simflar motive. The real question is whether in retrenching Shri Paul, the management violated any statutory provisions or other mandatory principles of law. The Union contends that the Company iolated the principle of "last come, first go" mbodied in section 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act; because Shri Paul was only one of the several workmen of the clerical category he belonged to and yet he was retrenched for some mala fide reason, leaving other junior clerks untouched. It is also urged that the management has not recorded any reason for specially selecting him for retrenchment n violation of the said principle. Company's contention is that Shri Paul is not a workman at all and hat in fact there was no other workman of his ategory or grade and thus the question of violation of the said principle in his case does not arise. Ext. 1(6) will show that Shri Paul was appointed as "General Assistant" with effect from 1st May 1963 n a consolidated salary of Rs. 250. He has a first lass M.Sc. degree to his credit and he was confirmed in his job with effect from 1st June 1955 though he was intended to be on probation for six months with effect from the date of his appointment. At the time of his retrenchment Shri Paul was drawing a salary of Rs. 320 only. Shri Bishnupada Mukherjee, the Administrative Officer of the Company (O.P.W. 1), tries to say that Shri Paul was n officer and thus one of the managerial staff he eing the Officer-in-charge of a particular department of the factory and that Shri Paul was one of he few officers who were authorised to sign gate ass and bonds on behalf of the Company for excise uty purposes. Shri Paul was drawing less than s. 500 as his salary at the time of his discharge. ate passes and bonds are signed by other persons lso including one who is nothing more than a clerk. n fact Shri S. R. Ghose a B grade clerk - also was ne of such authorised persons. So, mere signing f gate pass or bond does not make Shri Paul an fficer as different from a workman. But this much clear that Shri Paul was in-charge of finished oods, Despatch Department, in his time and pecially at the time of his discharge. Even if anybdy else was in-charge of the department previously the relevant time he was surely in-charge thereof. enerally speaking, a person in-charge of a department cannot ordinarily be a clerk even though he ay not have powers to take disciplinery action or ven though he may have another superior officer bove him. Even lately there were three grades d scales of clerks in the Company and the highest ade thereof used to bear a pay scale of Rs. 130–)–240–250 only and this scale of pay was introuced lately after bargain and demands; and in ttlement of a dispute on revision of old scales. t Shri Paul was appointed in 1953, i.e., long before e introduction of this revisional scale at an initial lary of Rs. 250. Lately he was drawing Rs. 320 d he was a 1st class M.Sc. degree-holder. So I n unable to believe that he was really appointed a mere clerk and that his duties were mainly rical. He was appointed originally as a "General sistant" and not as a mere clerk. Whether an ployer is an officer or workman is a question of t and the nature of duties is the real determining tor. The Administrative Officer Shri Mukherjee ears that normally head office places orders for oduction of particular goods or things with the tory and until the goods are despatched from the tory as required, Shri Paul would remain inarge thereof and run the whole show. Shri Paul o admits that orders regarding supply of goods uld be received by him and he would deal with the same. He used to assign valuation of the orders received and arrange supply of goods from the factory stock as per orders received. I am afraid this is not a mere routine duty of a clerk and he had considerable control over certain section of the factory, i.e., finished goods, Despatch Section. Simply because there are other clerks in his department it does not show that he is also one of them. Simply because he used to enjoy same leave with the clerks, it cannot be held that he is also a clerk, because admittedly all members of the factory staff including officers are governed by some leave rules. Simply because he used to sign pay books and attendance register which are signed by other clerks also it cannot necessarily be held that he was also a clerk. It is really the work and not the registers signed which determines the status. Considering all the circumstances including his attainments and nature of duty, I have reasons to think that Shri Paul was not treated as a simple clerk and thus a workman. However it may be argued that the facts on record are not quite sufficient to prove beyond any shadow of doubt that Shri Paul was an officer and the point is not altogether free from difficulty.

Conceeding for arguments sake only and assuming for the present only that he was also a workman, let me see if the Company has really violated the provisions of section 25G of the Act. From what I have discussed above it will be clear that he was appointed on a pay which is not normally admissible to any clerk on first appointment and he was always placed in-charge of a department and from the very beginning of his service. So I think he was never intended to be clerk pure and simple. So it cannot be held that he belonged to the general category of clerk of the factory establishment. Even if he was a workman, he formed a class by himself and belonged to a particular category in between Officers' Grade and Clerical Grade. So it cannot be argued that there being other clerks appointed after him he cannot be retrenched leaving the junior clerks untouched. So in any view of the case it cannot be hold that Shri Paul's retrenchment was illegal. While reorganising a business for economy and other reasons, it is the management function to determine who is to be retrenched or retained unless law curves out that discretion for any reason. In this case I think statutory provisions were not transgressed.

It is a fact that some clerks have been appointed after the discharge of Shri Paul and it is nobody's case that Shri Paul would like to be considered for any one of those appointments. In fact, it is not the case of the Union or Shri Paul that provisions of section 25H also have been violated by the Company. In fact nobody of Shri Paul's category has been appointed since his retrenchment. It is nobody's case that retrenchment benefits were not offered to him. In fact there is positive evidence of such offer and refusal to accept. There is also no evidence to prove that retrenchment was affected during the pendency of any proceeding before a Conciliation Officer or an industrial court or tribunal. So this discharge or retrenchment cannot be said to be hit by the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

Thus in conclusion I hold that there is no sufficient material for my holding that the retrenchment of Shri Paul was mala fide and illegal and thus without any justification. So in any view of the case this Tribunal has no reason to interfere with the management function. Shri Paul is therefore not entitled to any relief in this case.

This is my award.

Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by Order No. 7378-I.R./IR/4L-90/60, dated 30th December 1960, and Corrigendum No. 2180-I.R./IR/4L-90/60, dated 1st May 1961, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for adjudication.

Issue

1. Whether the termination of service of Md. Safique Manjhi is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of the termination of the services of Md. Safique who was a Manjhi of boat No. A5114 belonging to the Company, Messrs Basantalal Shaw, carrying on business in the name and style of Ram Shankar Shaw (hereinafter called the Company). The dispute was raised by the Calcutta Boatmen Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union).

The Union's case is that Md. Safique was the Manjhi serving under the Company and was in charge of boat No. A5114. He went on leave sometime in the middle of January 1960 with the permission of the employer and that he returned from leave on the 8th March 1960. The employer permitted Md. Safique to take charge of the boat but his licence could not be renewed as the boat had been sent for repairs during March 1960. On 28th April 1960 the employer Basantalal Shaw came with a number of men armed with deadly weapons and forcibly drove out Safique from the boat and threw away all his personal belongings. It is alleged that the service of Md. Safique was terminated on and from 28th April 1960 without any justification and the Company did not pay his dues till that date. The Union prays that Md. Safique may be reinstated with all back wages.

It is the case of the Company that when the boat No. A5114 was loaded with goods and was ready for sailing some time in the middle of January 1960, it was reported to Shri Basantalal Shaw that Md. Safique, the Manjhi in charge of the boat, had suddenly left the boat without notice or permission. This caused much loss and inconvenience to the Company and the Company therefore permitted the senior Dandi Md. Suleman to work as a Manjhi in place of Md. Safique and asked him to ply the boat as the Manjhi. Md. Safique suddenly reappeared some time in the middle of April 1960 and requested the employer Shri Basantalal Shaw to excuse him for having left the boat and remaining absent for about three months without notice or permission and further requested him to permit him to resume his duties. The Company alleges that as Md. Suleman had been appointed as Manjhi of the boat No. A5114 and a licence had been taken out in his name the Company could not permit Md. Safique to work as Manjhi of that particular boat. At this the Manjhi with the assistance of the Union started a criminal case under section 147, I.P.C., against the employer Shri Basantalal Shaw and several other persons, making absolutely false allegations that they had driven him out of the boat or that they had thrown away all his personal belongings. In the criminal case, all the accused rsons including the employer were acquitted. e Company denies the allegations of the Union at Md. Safique had left on two months' leave with e permission of the employer some time in the ddle of January 1960 or that he had returned and is permitted to resume his duties from the middle March 1960 or that he was thrown out of ployment from the 28th April 1960. The mpany contends that none of the workers of the mpany was or is a member of the Union, that t a single worker of the Company took up the use of Md. Safique and the dispute therefore is an dividual dispute and not an industrial dispute and such the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to judicate upon the dispute.

Decision

I will take up the preliminary objection first. The nion alleges that Md. Safique had along been an tive member of the Union for which the employer s always putting him into trouble and eventually smissed him from service in the last part of April 60 which was clearly a case of victimisation. The nion was fromed by the boatmen working under rious Companies or Proprietors of boats plying in er Hooghly. It is not the Union of the workers this particular Company. The Company alleges at not a single worker of the Company was or is member of the Union. There is no proof on the le of the Union to show that any worker of the mpany was ever or even now is a member of the nion. So, it is clear that not a single worker of e Company took up the cause of Md. Safique who ne happened to be a member of the Union but it not known since when. When the service of d. Safique was terminated the dispute raised could an industrial dispute provided at least a number workers of the Company had taken up his cause. is not enough that an omnibus Union, the mbers of which are workers of a large number Companies, should raise a dispute in respect of e termination of the service of one particular rker of a Company when not a single worker of at Company other than the workmen under ference was or is a member of the Union. It has be proved that at least a number of workers of e Company took up the cause of the workmen der reference to make it an industrial dispute but, this case, I have already said that there is no oof that any worker of the Company took up the use of Md. Safique. This being the case it must held that the dispute is an individual dispute and t an industrial dispute. The Tribunal has erefore no jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the spute.

Even if it is held that it is an industrial dispute, nust say that the Union has completely failed to ablish its case that Md. Safique was victimised the Company and that the Company illegally minated his services. It is the case of the Union it Md. Safique went on leave for two months from middle of January 1960 to middle of March 60. The Company alleges that Md. Safique never nt on leave with the permission of the Company his employer but that he suddenly left without ice when the boat had been loaded and it was dy for despatch. P.W. 1 Md. Safique admits that en he left on leave the boat had already been ded. O.P.W. 1 Shri Basantalal Shaw, the ployer, also says that Md. Safique left at a time hout notice or intimation when the boat had been loaded for despatch. So, it is the admitted case of the parties that the boat had been loaded for despatch to its destination when Md. Safique left the boat and remained absent for about two months. Had Md. Safique any intention to go on leave with the permission of the employer he would certainly have taken permission prior to the loading of the boat so that the man appointed in his place could take charge of the boat from before the time of loading. But it is the admitted case of the Union or for the matter of that of the worker under reference that Md. Safique left when the boat had been fully loaded for despatch to its destination. There is nothing to corroborate the testimony of P.W. 1 that he had left the boat with the permission of the employer. The employer denies that Md. Safique left with his permission. In the absence of any corroboration of the statement of P.W 1, I am inclined to believe, in the facts and circumstances of the case, that he had left the boat without the employer's permission or knowledge. It appears from the cash book (Ext. A) that Md. Suleman was working as Manjhi of boat No. A5114 after Md. Safique had left and the money was paid by the Company every month to Md. Suleman till the end of May 1960. It is therefore proved that Md. Safique could not have resumed his duties sometime in the middle of March 1960. On the contrary, it goes to support the case of the Company that Md. Safique suddenly came back some time in the middle of April 1960. It is a fact that Md. Safique started a criminal case against O.P.W. 1 Shri Basantalal Shaw, the employer and some other boatmen working under him alleging that on 28th April 1960 Basantalal Shaw with the help of those men armed with deadly weapons drove him out of the boat and threw away his persnoal belongings. This case ended in the acquittal of the employer and the other accused persons. In the petition of complaint filed before the Magistrate, he made exactly similar allegations as have been made in the written statement of the Union. He miserably failed to prove his case and the accused persons were therefore acquitted of the charge under section 147 of the I.P.C. Failing to achieve his object the workman under reference, with the aid of the Union is making another attempt to get back into the boat as a Manjhi and secure a licence. I have considered the uncorroborated testimony of P.W. 1, the boatman under reference, and the evidence of O.P.W. 1 Shri Basantalal Shaw, the employer, and I disbelieve P.W. 1 that he had gone on leave with the permission and knowledge of the employer or that he was permitted to resume his duties in March 1960 or that his services were wrongfully terminated by the employer on 28th April 1960.

I therefore hold that the termination of the services of the workman under reference was justified and that he is not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

This dispute was previously referred to the First Labour Court by G.O. No. 248-I.R./IR/11L-300/59, dated 18th January 1960, for adjudication which has been replaced by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal constituted under Notification No. 3115-I.R./IR/3A-6/59, dated 21st June 1960, and has in consequence been abolished by Notification No. 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, dated the 11th July 1960.

The Schedule

1. Whether the termination of service of the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

(i) Shri Sudhir Das, (ii) Shri Hemraj, (iii) Shri Haripada Das, (iv) Shri Motichand and (v) Shri Tarapada Das.

This reference under section 10 of the Industri Disputes Act is in respect of a dispute raised by th Sur Enamel Sramik Union (hereinafter referred t as the Union) for the termination of the services o five workmen of Messrs. Sur Enamel & Stampin Works Pvt. Ltd. (hereinafter called the Company).

It is the case of the Union that the five workme under reference were first appointed by th Company sometime in 1950 and that since then the have been rendering useful services to the Company The five workmen were active members of th Union and the Company disliked their Unio activities. The Company was trying to find out a excuse to dismiss them from service and as a matte of fact the Company terminated the services of th five workmen under reference on 9th Novembe 1959 without framing any charge against them and without holding any enquiry. The Union allege that it was a clear case of victimisation and th Company dismissed the five workmen only becaus of their Union activities. The Union now prays fo their reinstatement and compensation for the perioc of unemployment from 9th November 1959 till their reinstatement.

The Company, on the other hand, denies the allegations of the Union that the workmen under reference had been dismissed from service. It is the case of the Company that workmen Shri Tarapada Das (serial No. 5) was a casual worker whose services were terminated as he was retrenched with effect from the 1st January 1957. He was working in the Minimax Depratment, i.e., the department manufacturing a brand of Fire Extinguishers. As there was a cancellation of 50 per cent. of the orders of Fire Extinguishers due to the inability of the Company to supply the goods according to the orders, the Company was compelled to terminate the services of all the casual workers including Shri Tarapada Das. The Company further states that sometime in 1958 the workers adopted a go-slow policy as a result of which there was a fall in production and the Company was suffering great financial loss due to cancellation of orders. The Company, therefore, retrenched a large number of temporary and casual workers including the workmen serial Nos. 1 to 4 under reference from September 1958. A dispute was raised with regard to the retrenchment of Shri Tarapada Das (serial No. 5) and a reference was made to the Fourth Industrial Tribunal and the Tribunal upheld the order of retrenchment of Shri Tarapada Das. He was therefore paid retrenchment benefits. The Company further alleges that another dispute was raised by the Union relating to the termination of services of a large body of temporary and casual workers including serial Nos. 1 to 4 of the reference and the Government made a reference for adjudication of the dispute to the First Labour Court. The Company and the Union settled that dispute and an agreement signed by the Company and the Union was filed before the Presiding Officer, First Labour Court, on 9th January 1959 embodying certain terms and conditions which were found to be just and fair. According to the terms of the agreement the Company agreed to give appointments to 99 workers out of the number of workers retrenched by the Company in September 1958 including the five workmen under reference. In agreeing to appoint the 99 workmen, it was agreed upon between the parties that the workers would have new appointments altogether from 9th January 1959 and onwards and that the persons so reappointed should have no lien for past services of the Company and should not be entitled to any compensation in cases of discharge and dismissal whatsoever (clause E of the Agreement). According to clause C, if the Company found that the workers had failed to reach the standard, the Company would be entitled to dismiss them without any further reference to them and that the workers dismissed would not be entitled to raise any claim whatsoever. It is now the Company's case that out of the 99 workers whom the Company agreed to reappoint, 87 reported for duty and were reappointed, i.e., new appointments were given to them includnig five workmen under reference, that before taking up the question of making these 87 workers permanent, the Company obtained reports regarding the quality of work of each of the newly appointed workers and that the departmental supervisors having given adverse reports against serial Nos. 1 to 4 their services were terminated from 9th November 1959. The remaining temporary workers were made permanent. The Company therefore submits that in view of the terms of the agreement, the workers or for the matter of that the Union cannot now come and claim reinstatement in service of serial Nos. 1-4 under reference. The Company contends that the reference is not maintainable in view of the fact that the original reference was made to the First Labour Court and the Government could not therefore supersede that order and make a fresh reference to this Tribunal.

Decision

I will take up the preliminary objection first. The Company contends that the reference for the adjudication of the dispute was made to the First Labour Court and a subsequent reference to this Tribunal superseding the order of reference to the First Labour Court could not be legally made by the Government. It is a fact that the First Labour Court was abolished sometime in April 1960 and the reference and the dispute referred to the First Labour Court for adjudication could not be adjudicated upon till it was again referred to another Labour Court or to a Tribunal. When the First Labour Court was abolished, that particular Court ceased to exist but the dispute referred to it for adjudication remained pending for adjudication. Under the circumstances, it was only just and proper that the Government would again make a reference to another Labour Court or Tribunal for adjudication of the disputes. There was no question of cancellation of the reference or of withdrawal of the same from one Court and transferring it to another. The fact is that the Court to which the reference was made being abolished a fresh reference was required to be made to another competent authority for adjudication of the dispute. I therefore hold that the reference was legal and it is maintainable.

Now regarding the merits of the case, it is admittedly a fact that serial No. 5 Shri Tarapada Das withdrew from the dispute and he took from the Company all his dues (vide Ext. C). So, the present dispute is in respect of the termination of the services of serial Nos. 1 to 4.

The four workmen under reference, serial Nos. 1 to 4, were employees of the Company whose services were terminated along with a large number of employees of the Company in September 1958. A dispute was raised and a reference was made to the First Labour Court for adjudication of the dispute whether the termination of the services of the workmen including the workmen under reference was justified. Before the case came up for hearing both the parties, i.e., the Company and the Union representing the workmen, settled their disputes and filed an agreement signed by both the parties. According to the terms of the agreement, the Company agreed to give appointment to 99 workmen out of the list of the workmen under that reference and these 99 workmen included the workmen under reference, i.e., workmen serial Nos. 1 to 5. The learned Advocate for the Union submits that by this agreement filed on 9th January 1959 before the First Labour Court on the basis of which an award was passed on 14th January 1959, all the 99 workmen were being reinstated and it must therefore be held that the workmen who had been reinstated thus became permanent employees of the Company. The Company, on the other hand, submits that according to the terms of the agreement the persons appointed were given new appointments altogther without any lien on their previous services and these workmen were therefore considered to be temporary workmen. It is further submitted that according to the terms of the agreement the workmen so employed were to maintain standard production failing which they were liable to be dischagred by the Company without payment of any compensation. The Company therefore submits that the workmen under reference can never be considered to have been given permanent appointments but it must be held that they were temporary employees having no lien on their services. So, the main question for determination is whether the four workmen under reference serial Nos. 1 to 4 were permanent workmen of the Company at the time of the termination of their services on 9th January 1959. It is conceded by the Union that if they are considered to have been temporary workers, the Union would have no case, and it was conceded by the Company that if the workers are considered to have been permanent workers then the Company has no case.

Apart from the oral evidence on record this question cannot be answered without carefully scrutinising the agreement that was filed before the Labour Court jointly by the Company and the Union on 9th January 1959. The agreement shows that according to cluase A the Company agreed to reappoint a certain number of workers of different categories. The workers agreed according to clause (b) (ii) that they would improve production both in quality and quantity. Accordnig to clause C of the agreement, the work of each of individual worker was to be reviewed and if it was found that the workers had failed to reach the standard, the Company would have the right to dismiss them without any further reference to them and that the workers so dismissed should not be entitled to raise any claim whatsoever. Then according to clause (e) these reappointments were to be treated as altogether new appointments and the persons so reappointed should have no lien for past services in the Company and should not be entitled to any compensation in cases of discharge or dismissal whatsoever. On a reading of the clauses referred to above, it appears to be abundantly clear that both the parties to the agreement clearly understood that these appointments made from 9th January 1959 were to be altogether new appointments. It is a fact that these workers had put in services for a number of years before they were discharged from service sometime in September 1958. It was definitely agreed upon that the workers given new appointments from 9th January 1959 would have no lien for their past services. These two clauses considered together clearly show that the workmen under reference were considered to be new entrants to service. I have already said that the workers undertook to step up production both in respect of quality and quantity and according to clause (c) it was agreed upon that their works were to be reviewed within four months and that if they were found to have failed to reach the standard the Company would have every right to dismiss them from service without any further reference to them. This also proves that the workers were certainly not given permanent appointments. Reservation of right by a Company to dismiss a worker on failing to fulfil certain conditions within a certain time clearly indicates that the workers were liable to be dismissed from service and not made permanent if they failed to give standard production. Considering these aspects of the agreement I hold that the five workmen under referenc along with others appointed in January 1959 were given temporary appointments and they were not permanent employees of the Company from the date of their new appointments, i.e., from 9th January 1959.

It appears from Ext. B series that when the question of confirmation of the workmen who had been given new appointments was taken up, the Company obtained reports from the departmental supervisors regarding the quality of work of each individual workmen. These documents show that the departmental supervisors found the five workmen under reference unfit for being confirmed as their works were not satisfactory at all. There are references to a number of warnings to these five workmen under reference on different dates, although the officers of the Company by mistake described some of them as charge-sheets, but the fact remains that these five workmen under reference had been given certain intimations that they had not been working properly. It appears from Exts. H-1 and H-2 that a large number of workmen given new appointments along with the five workmen under reference were made permanent on and from 9th November 1959. Ext. H shows that on the same day, i.e., 9th November 1959 the five workmen under reference were informed that their services were terminated with effect from that date. Taking the terms of agreement along with the notice of termination of service (Ext. H) there is no manner of doubt that the Company under the circumstances was not required to issue any charge-sheet or to hold any departmental enquiry to dismiss the workers. The work of each individual workman under reference was found to be unsatisfactory when the question of making them permanent was being considered and the termination of their services was according to clause (c) of the agreement filed before the First Labour Court on 9th January 1959. I have considered the oral evidence adduced in this case but in view of the terms of agreement and other documentary evidence referred to by me not much light is thrown by any of the witnesses regarding the point whether the workmen under reference were permanent or temporary workers. I have already said that according to the terms of the agreement the five workmen under reference were, in fact, temporary workers who were given new appointmnts from 9th January 1959 having no lien on their past services. After having entered into the agreement which was filed on 9th January 1959 before the First Labour Court, the Union cannot now be heard to say that the workmen under reference had been given permanent appointments from 9th January 1959 and the Company could not terminate their services without issuing charge-sheets or holding departmental enquiries. When the Company found on the basis of the reports of the departmental supervisors that the five workmen under reference had not been working in a manner that they were required to work according to the terms of the agreement, it had every justification in terminating their services and this act of the Company was on the strength of clause (c) of the agreement filed before the First Labour Court on 9th January 1959. I therefore hold that the termination of the services of the five workmen under reference was justified and that the workmen are not entitled to any relief.

This is my award.

AWARD

By Order No. 2709-I.R./IR/7L-45/59, dated 23rd ne 1959, the Government of West Bengal in the bour Department referred an industrial dispute tween Messrs. Bhutoria Brothers Private Ltd. and ir workmen represented by Howrah Zilla Chatkal zdoor Union relating to the undermentioned issue the Second Labour Court for adjudication.

Issue

. Whether the discharge of the following work- n is justified? To what relief, if any, are they itled?

(i) Shri Atmaram, (ii) Shri Abdul, (iii) Shri Navdeep, (iv) Shri Rambahal, (v) Shri Ram Surat, (vi) Shri Seonath Singh.

The case of Howrah Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union reinafter referred to as the Union), briefly stated, as follows: The workmen of Messrs. Bhutoria thers Private Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the mpany) were smarting under various grievances, the Company gave a deaf ear to the grievances. workmen at last became the members of the above Union which is a general Union of workers employed in the Jute Mills at Howrah and formed a unit of the Union in the Company. The formation of the unit was not taken in good grace by the Company and it tried to disrupt the Union by every means, fair and foul. When the management failed to break the morale of the workmen, it started victimising and harassing them in various ways. Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Surath mentioned in serial Nos. 4 and 5 of the issue in the order of reference were the members of the executive committee of the local unit of the Union. The management threatened them for their Trade Union activities and gave a proposal to disrupt the Union. When the management failed in this attempt, it dismissed them without any charge-sheet, without any enquiry and without issuing any letter of dismissal. Separate charges on false and frivolous grounds were issued to Sarvasri Atma Ram, Abdul and Navdeep mentioned in serial Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in the issue. They gave replies to their respective charges denying the charges mentioned therein. The Company dismissed them without holding proper enquiries. So the Union contends that the discharge of the above five workmen is unjustified. The Union has not stated its case as to Shri Seonath Singh mentioned in serial No. 6 of the issue.

The Company in its written statement has denied the allegations of the Union as to the workmen smarting under grievances, the Company not taking in good grace the formation of a unit of the Union and the Company trying to break the morale of the Union and starting victimising and harassing the workmen. As to circumstances leading to the discharge of the six workmen mentioned in the issue, the case of the Company, in brief, is as follows: Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Surat came to work up to Saturday, 17th January 1959; they did not turn up for work on the following Monday, i.e., 19th January 1959. They were verbally asked to resume work; but they declined to do so. Later their whereabouts could not be ascertained and so the Company issued to them at their last recorded addresses letter, dated 27th January 1959, asking them to resume duty and informing them that unless they did so, their services might stand terminated after expiry of 10 days. Still they did not resume their duties; accordingly their services were terminated. Shri Atmaram was warned several times for less production and one day he prevented his Sardar from measuring the work done by him. As the Sardar insisted on measuring his work, he behaved with the Sardar in a disorderly manner and was about to assault him. A charge-sheet for that reason was issued to him. A charge-sheet was issued to Shri Abdul for selling Gul (tobacco powder) inside the factory. Shri Navdeep was a Store cooly; he in collusion with the Store clerk had the weight of a metal bush supplied by a dealer recorded more than the actual weight; as a result, the Company had to pay for the bush more than its due price. A charge-sheet was issued to him for that reason. Shri Seonath Singh one day tried to assault Shri Maity, an Overseer of the Company. On the following day when Shri Maity was coming to duty, Seonath Singh assaulted him and tried to snatch away his spectacles and watch. A charge-sheet was issued to him for that reason. All the above four workmen gave replies to the respective charge-sheets issued to them. Proper enquiries in respect of the charge-sheets were held in their presence. As a result of the enquiries they were found guilty of the respective charges framed against them. They were also guilty of previous misconducts. Hence they were discharged. Hence the Company contends that the discharge of the above six workmen is justified.

The Company has also raised a preliminary objection to the effect that this is not an industrial dispute in that the Union mentioned in the order of reference has no right or authority to espouse the cause of the workmen mentioned in the issue of the order of reference.

Findings

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. P.W. 1 Ram Chandra Sarma, the General Secretary of the Union, says in his evidence that out of about 1,700 workmen employed in the Jute Mill of the Company about 150 are members of the Union and that this was also the number at the time when the present dispute was raised. The Company had issued to him a summons asking him to produce (1) Rules and Regulations of the Union, (2) Register of its members for the last three years, and (3) its receipt books regarding subscription for the last three years. He has not produced them in spite of having received summons. O.P.W. 1 Shri Chandra Sekhar Tewari, Labour Officer of the Jute Mill, says that none of the workmen of the Company is a member of the Union. This statement of O.P.W. 1 coupled with the failure of P.W. 1 to produce documentary evidence in support of its statement would lend support to the suggestion of the Company that the workmen mentioned in the issue of the order of reference became members of the Union after their discharge and that no other workman employed in the mill was or is a member of the Union. But the Company in raising the preliminary objection in its written statement has not stated categorically that no workman of the mill is a member of the Union. In the first paragraph of the written statement wherein the Company has raised the preliminary objection the Company has stated that neither the majority of the workmen employed by the Company in the jute mill nor a substantial number of them are members of the Union. The Union has not contended that a majority of the workmen of the mill are members of the Union. The Secretary of the Union only says that about 150 out of about 700 workmen are members of the Union. It has been held by the Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Company that a Union in order to be entitled to raise an industrial disputes need not include in its fold a majority of the workmen employed in an industrial establishment; even a Union having a minority of the workmen as its members can raise an industrial dispute. So even though the present Union does not represent a majority of the workmen employed in the jute mill in question, it can validly raise an industrial dispute on behalf of the workmen. So I hold that this is an industrial dispute and reject the preliminary objection for the Company.

I now enter into the merits of the issue. Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Surat say that they went to the mill for work on 19th January 1959; but the Line Babu, meaning the Overseer of the Jute Department, told them that they would not be given work. On the other hand O.P.W. 2 Shri Purnananda Sarm Overseer of the Jute Department as well as O.P.W. Shri Chandra Sekhar Tewari, Labour Officer of t jute mill, say that Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Su did not turn up for work on 19th January 1959. It the evidence of O.P.W. 2 that he reported the absen of Rambahal and Ram Surat with effect from 1 January 1959 to O.P.W. 1 who asked him to go their residence and call them to work. It is evidence that Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Su were living inside the mill premises. O.P.W. 2 sa that he went to them and asked them to come work; they replied that they would be coming work; but actually they did not come to wo According to the Company, thereafter letters we issued to them at their home addresses in U.P. T letter issued to Shri Rambahal came back undeliv ed with the remark in Hindi "আজ দিন উসি জায়গাপর ও হ্যায় ইসিলে উথা লৌ হ্যায়" which may be transl ed as "the letter is undelivered as the man is wor ing in that place". This means that the letter w undelivered as the addressee was at his place work. The letter issued to Rambahal appears to ha been received by somebody on his behalf. But t question is why the Company knowing fully well th they were residing inside the mill premises issu letters to their home addresses instead of issuing t letters to their mill address. Again, there is reason why they should stop coming to work w effect from 19th January 1959. The explanati suggested on behalf of the Company is that they ha cultivation at their villages and that possibly th went to their villages for looking after their cultiv tion. But there is no evidence that they left the m premises and went to their villages. According O.P.W. 2, when he asked them to come to work th replied that they would be coming. When they d not actually come, one would expect that the lette would be handed over to them at the mill premise So the evidence and the circumstances support t version of Sarvasri Ram Surat and Rambahal th they were refused work on 19th January 1959 and a contrary to the contention of the Company that the absented themselves from work. So I hold that t discharge of Sarvasri Rambahal and Ram Sur mentioned in serial Nos. 4 and 5 in the issue of th order of reference is unjustified. Hence I order tha they be reinstated and be paid back wages wit effect from 19th January 1959.

As to the other four workmen mentioned in th issue, viz., Sarvasri Atma Ram, Abdul, Navdeep an Seonath Singh, the Company has adduced evidenc to the effect that charge-sheets were issued agains them and proper enquiries were held in their presenc about the charge-sheets. The Union has not bee able to controvert the evidence of the Company o this point. It has not been able to support its con tention that enquiries were not properly held or tha they were dismissed on false and frivolous charges It is clear from the evidence adduced on behalf o the Company that the charges were proved at th enquiries. It has also been proved that some of them were guilty of misconducts on previous occasions The charges made against them are serious. So the Company could rightly come to the conclusion that the charges merited dismissal. But there is one legal defect in the orders discharging them. They had been suspended along with issue of the charge-sheets. Later enquiries were held and they were discharged with effect from the dates of suspension. This means that they were discharged with retrospective effect. It was held by the Calcutta High Court that orders of discharge or dismissal with retrospective effect are bad and cannot be sustained. As in the present case Sarvasri Atmaram, Abdul, Navdeep and Soenath Singh were discharged with retrospective effect, I hold that their discharge is unjustified. The next question is as to what relief they are entitled to. The Company has adduced evidence to the effect that Shri Navdeep collected his dues after his discharge. According to several decisions, he is not, however, precluded from raising the question of the discharge for adjudication. So the question of relief relates to all the four workmen. Shri P. K. Sanyal appearing for the Company has referred me to a decision of the Calcutta High Court in the case of Containers and Closures Ltd., reported at page 471 of L.L.J., 1962, Vol. I. In that case His Lordship, while setting aside an order of the First Labour Court upholding dismissal with retrospective effect has given liberty to the employer to impose suitable penalty on the strength of the findings reached against the concerned workman at the domestic enquiry. Shri S. N. Banerjee, Advocate appearing for the Union, has contended that the latter part of the above order of His Lordship is applicable to that case only and is not a general proposition of law and that in the present case I am not bound to order in the same manner as was done by His Lordship in that case. Irrespective of the question whether that order of His Lordship is a general porposition of law. His Lordship made that order as he was satisfied that the findings of guilt in the domestic enquiry in that case were correct. In the present case also I have held that the findings of guilt in the domestic enquiries are correct. I am finding fault with the orders of discharge in this case because they are with retrospective effect. Shri S. N. Banerjee has argued that the normal relief where an order of discharge is held to be unjustified is reinstatement with all back wages. But this normal relief can only be granted where the employer had no justification for inflicting the punishment. In the present case I have held the orders of discharge to be unjustified, because the Company made a legal mistake in making the orders of discharge and not because it had not sufficient materials for supporting the orders of discharge. It would be a pity, if guilty workmen were to escape punishment simply on account of a legal flaw in the orders of discharge. So following the decision of His Lordship of the Calcutta High Court mentioned above I set aside the orders of discharge with liberty to the Company to impose suitable penalties on the four workmen on the strength of the findings reached by it against them at the domestic enquiries. In that case His Lordship ordered that the workman should remain on suspension until such further action taken by the Company. It appears that in that case the order of suspension was valid. But in the present case it has been pointed out by Shri S. N. Banerjee, Advocate for the Union, that the orders of suspension on the four workmen are illegal. He has referred me to a decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Hotel Imperial, reported at page 544 of L.L.J., 1959, Vol. I. In that case it has been held by the Supreme Court that ordinarily the master would have no power to suspend a workman and even if he does so he will have to pay wages during the so called period of suspension, unless he has the power to suspend either on the strength of the contract of employment or the Standing Orders framed in pursuance of a statute. In the present case O.P.W. 1 has admitted that the mill had no certified Standing Orders prior to 1960, i.e., at the relevant time. The Company has not been able to show that there is any provision for suspension in the contract of service between the workmen and the Company. So at the relevant time the Company had no power to suspend the workmen in the sense of stopping their work without wages. So I hold that their suspension is illegal. As I have held that their suspension and their subsequent discharge are illegal, it is as if they were all along in the employment of the Company. Hence I order that the Company shall pay to Sarvasri Atmaram, Abdul, Navdeep and Seonath Singh their wages from the dates of their suspension until the Company exercises the liberty given to it by me or their reinstatement, whichever the Company chooses to do.

Issue

1. Whether the termination of services of Shri Viswanath Poddar is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

The relevant case put forward by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker in the written statement and at the hearing may be briefly summarised as follows: The concerned worker, Shri Viswanath Poddar, was employed as a clerk of the Company in the Stores Purchase Department for about three years. He had a clean and meritorious record of service, but his service was suddenly terminated with effect from 1st November 1961 with notice. At first, his service was terminated with effect from 1st October 1961 with one month's notice by the Company's letter, dated 31st August 1961, but after some correspondence between the concerned worker and the Company regarding the said letter, the Company issued a fresh letter, dated 7th/10th October 1961, whereby the first notice of termination was extended by one month more and thus the termination became effective from 1st November 1961. The Company terminated the service of the concerned worker on the ground that he was found inefficient and incompetent in coping with his work as a clerk attached to the Purchase Officer, Shri Sureka, and he was negligent and irregular in doing his duties to such an extent that he always kept arrears in his day-to-day work and the arrears gradually accumulated much to the prejudice of the Company and the concerned worker continued to work in such a manner in spite of warnings and instructions issued by his superior officers. This accusation which was indicated as the ground for termination of his service in the Company's first letter, dated 31st August 1961, was vehemently denied by the concerned worker in his reply, dated 7th September 1961, and then there was further correspondence in the matter between the Company and the worker in which both sides maintained their respective stands and finally came the Company's letter, dated 7th/10th October 1961, whereby the original one month's notice of termination given by the letter, dated 31st August 1961, was extended by another month resulting in final termination of his service from 1st November 1961. The concerned worker was not guilty of the charges put forward by the Company in its correspondence with him regarding his work as a clerk attached to a Stores Purchase Officer and he always worked diligently and efficiently and if there were accumulations of arrear works in his file, it happened in spite of his best efforts and utmost diligence and the reason was that his workload was very heavy and it was not possible for one clerk to keep the work up to date always. This position was brought to the notice of the Management. Such accumulations of arrear works were not unusual or unnatural and there were accumulations of arrears also in the files of other clerks under other Purchase Officers. The real reason for sudden termination of the service of the concerned worker was that he had joined the Union of the employees of this Company in or about July 1961 and had been warned by the Director of Purchase, Shri R. P. Bajoria, not to continue as a member of the Union. Shri Bajoria called him to his house and asked him not to remain in the Union, but the concerned worker paid no heed to it. This worker not only joined the Union himself but also induced some three or four other Marwari workers to join the Union and this caused much concern and resentment to the Management which did not like that the Marwari employees would also join the Union. The concerned worker was thus victimised by termination of service purporting to be a termination simpliciter with notice upon some accusation regarding the manner of performance of his duties against him but without serving any charge-sheet and holding any domestic enquiry according to the principles of natural justice and after allowing him suitable opportunity to explain his case and put forward his defence before the Management. This action of the Company was absolutely mala fide and was nothing but a colourable exercise of the power of termination of service simpliciter, though the real position was that the worker was discharged on some charges and accusation against him and with a stigma against his official work without giving him any opportunity to clear himself of the charges and accusations by submitting explanation and putting forward his own defence through evidence at a domestic enquiry conducted according to the principles of natural justice. The real motive of the Company was to do away with the service of the concerned worker on some accusations but without holding any enquiry. The termination of the service of the concerned worker as made in the present case was, therefore, wholly unjustified and he should be reinstated to his service with full back wages by way of compensation.

The relevant case put forward on behalf of the Company in its written statement and at the hearing is briefly as follows: It was soon found out after the concerned worker, Shri Viswanath Poddar, joined the service under the Company that he had been neglecting the duties entrusted to him. Shri S. N. Sureka, the Purchase Officer under whom he was directly working, warned him on various occasions and ultimately had to complain from time to time to the Director of Purchase that Shri Poddar had been neglecting his work and unnecessarily keeping his work pending. Thereupon, the Director of Purchase asked the concerned clerk several times to be more attentive to his work and to keep his work up to date, but this had no effect upon him. In these circumstances and as the work of the Company suffered greatly owing to inefficiency and negligence of work of the concerned clerk, the Company deputed from time to time some other persons to help the concerned worker to bring his work up to date. In spite of such help and indulgence shown to him by the Company, the concerned worker did not improve his work and the work in his file still accumulated and remained in arrears causing great inconvenience and dislocation of work of the Company. When this was the position, the Purchase Officer, Shri Sureka, sent a written note to the Director of Purchase on 18th August 1961 complaining against him and thereupon he was finally verbally warned to attend to his work diligently and to keep his work up to date. But this warning had also no effect. So, the Director of Purchase deputed Shri O. P. Shroff of the Accounts Department to enquire and report regarding the pending work of Shri Poddar. Shri Shroff made necessary enquiries and submitted his report on 1st August 1961. The report went against the concerned worker. On receipt of this report, the Management gave due consideration to it and other circumstances connected with the work of the concerned worker and decided to terminate his service by giving appropriate notice. Consequently, the Company issued a letter of termination, dated 31st August 1961, to this worker. Thus, Shri Poddar's service was terminated for good and cogent reasons and not for his joining the Union against the warnings of the Director of Purchase, Shri Bajoria, as alleged on his behalf. The allegation that Shri Bajoria called him and warned him against joining the Union is totally denied. The concerned worker was thus discharged as per terms and conditions of service on proper notice and he was not dismissed on any misconduct and so the question of serving any charge-sheet and holding any enquiry could not arise. Thus, the discharge of the concerned worker was fully justified and he is not entitled to any relief.

It will clearly appear from the evidence on the record that the Company exercised the right of termination of the service of the concerned clerk simpliciter with notice on the ground that his work was not satisfactory and he was keeping arrears in his work by irregular and negligent manner of working and no charge-sheet was given to the concerned worker and no domestic enquiry was held. It cannot be gainsaid that the Company has the right of such termination of service in bona fide exercise of its right of regulating its own internal administration. But when such termination of service is questioned by the worker in an industrial dispute, the Tribunal must decide upon the facts and circumstances placed before it whether the purported termination of service simpliciter was simply a colourable exercise of that power and a mere cloak over termination of the service of the concerned worker upon some charges and accusations without complying with the necessary formalities of a charge-sheet and a domestic enquiry and also whether it was done mala fide with some ulterior motive. Finally, the Tribunal must also go into the merits of the termination of service even though no charge-sheet was issued and no domestic enquiry was held for the purpose of an independent decision upon the materials placed before it whether the termination of service was justified. The reason for the termination of the service of the concerned worker as given in the letter, dated 31st August 1961 (Ext. 1), was that the concerned worker was unable to keep his files up to date in spite of occasional help given to him and it was found that even at that time hundreds of bills of the suppliers and hundreds of unconnected papers and files were lying pending. It may be convenient to mention here that the concerned worker was employed as a clerk under a Stores Purchase Officer and his principal duty was to deal with the bills of stores purchases of the Company after receipt of the connected stores receipts (S.R.R.) and to get the bills passed for payment to the suppliers. From the position taken up by the Union on behalf of the concerned worker in the written statement and by the concerned worker himself in his correspondence with the Company after the Company's letter, dated 31st August 1961, and also from the evidence of the concerned worker himself at the hearing it may be held that it is an undisputed position that there was accumulation of arrears of pending work in his file and his work was hardly up to date. The evidence further discloses that this was the position in spite of occasional help given to him. The concerned worker has himself admitted in his evidence that Shri O. P. Ajitsaria and Shri O. P. Shroff, two other clerks, used to deal with the arrear works in his file. The Management could legitimately view with displeasure and concern such accumulation of arrears of work in the file of the concerned workman and take necessary steps to prevent such accumulation by way of office management. I am satisfied from the entire evidence produced before me that the accumulation of arrear works in the file of this clerk was due to his own fault and negligence and I do not accept his present plea that the arrears accumulated in spite of his best efforts because his workload was very heavy. An attempt has also been made to prove that there is accumulation of arrears of work in the file of almost every Purchase clerk and two other Purchase clerks, P.W. 2 Shri A. K. Roy and P.W. 3 Shri A. B. Roy, have been examined to support this. I have not been impressed by their vague oral testimonies and I cannot accept this part of the worker's case as proved and satisfactorily established. I am not also satisfied upon the evidence that the workload of this worker was so heavy that it was impossible for him to cope with it without allowing arrears to accumulate. Shri Sureka was his Purchase Officer. He has testified that he complained against this clerk many times to the Director of Purchase, because he was in the habit of keeping his works in arrears and the complaints were always verbal, but as no proper action was taken on verbal complaints, he made a written complaint in August 1961. Exhibit E is that written complaint, dated 18th August 1961. There is nothing to show that Shri Sureka had any bias or prejudice or any motive against the concerned worker so that he made this report simply to bring this clerk to disgrace and cause injury to his service. After considering the surrounding facts and circumstances, I hold that it was a perfectly bona fide report by a superior officer against his subordinate clerk who was not doing his duty properly and regularly with the result that the superior officer was in a rather difficult position. After this report, the Director of Purchase, Shri Bajoria, ordered an enquiry to be held by Shri O. P. Shroff, then an assistant in the accounts department of this Company and after enquiry, Shri O. P. Shroff submitted the report, Ext. F, dated 31st August 1961. This report substantially supported the complaint of Shri Sureka against this clerk. After this report, the letter of termination of the service of this worker was issued on the same date, 31st August 1961 (Ext. 1) The superior officer of the concerned clerk was certainly the best person to judge how this clerk was working and it was his duty to make an adverse report against him if he found that his work was not satisfactory and he was not working properly, regularly and diligently with the result that there was accumulation of arrear works in this important department of the Company, which had to deal with the stores purchases. I am also not satisfied upon the evidence that Shri O. P. Shroff (O.P.W. 4), who was deputed to hold the enquiry, had any bias or prejudice or motive to make a false report against the concerned worker. The established position, therefore, comes to this. There were accumulations of arrear works in the file of this clerk in spite of occasional help given to him and in spite of warnings of the superior officers. There was no improvement in his work and ultimately his immediate superior officer was compelled to make a written report to the Director of Purchase, who was in charge of the whole department. Upon this complaint, an enquiry was held through another employee of this Company and this employee in his report supported the complaint substantially. Neither Shri Sureka, the immediate superior officer of the concerned worker, nor Shri Shroff, the employee who held the enquiry upon the complaint of Shri Sureka, had any bias or prejudice or motive against the concerned worker and it is an undisputed position that there were pending arrears in the file of this clerk almost always and occasionally there were such accumulations of arrears that other clerks had to be deputed to deal with the arrears. When this was the position, it was certainly open to the Company to exercise the right of termination of service simpliciter in respect of this clerk and the Company exercised that right. No doubt no charge-sheet was issued, nor any domestic enquiry held regarding the accusation against the clerk that he was always in arrears of work and there were accumulations of arrears in his work, but then the fact remains that this accusation has been satisfactorily established by materials placed before this Tribunal. I have already indicated above that it is practically an admitted position in the Union's written statement, in the concerned worker's letters to the Company in the correspondence which ensued after the letter of termination of his service with notice, dated 31st August 1961, and also in the evidence of the concerned worker himself that there were arrears of work in his file and his file was not always up to date and the explanation given for this state of things is that his workload was very heavy and it was impossible for one clerk to cope with this work. This explanation has not been established and upon the evidence before me I cannot accept it. The learned Advocate appearing for the Union and the worker has made much of the fact that it is admitted in the evidence of O.P.W. 1 Shri S. N. Sureka that a statistics of arrears of work in his file is maintained from year to year and this is called Statement of Pending Unexecuted Indents and has argued that when this statement has not been produced, presumption should go against the Company in regard to the accumulation of arrears in the file of this clerk. Even if such an adverse presumption is made, it is amply rebutted by the admitted position taken up in the written statement of the Union, in the worker's correspondence with the Company after the letter, dated 31st August 1961, and in the evidence of the concerned worker himself. So, this argument is of no value. So, even though no charge-sheet was issued and domestic enquiry held in regard to the accusation against the concerned worker upon which his service was terminated, the accusation itself has been independently established in the present case before this Tribunal by the materials placed before it and so the fact that no charge-sheet was issued nor any domestic enquiry held will not by itself affect the validity of the termination of service of the concerned worker.

It is further to be seen whether the termination of service of the concerned worker was made mala fide with an ulterior motive. My findings about the facts constituting the reason of the termination as recorded above certainly go against the position that the Company acted mala fide and with any ulterior motive in terminating the service of the concerned worker and on the contrary the necessary implications of the findings are that the termination was made upon an accusation about the performance of his duties which was well founded and correct. I have also considered the other facts proved in the present case and I find myself unable to accept the worker's case that the termination of his service was made mala fide at the instance of Shri Bajoria, the Director of Purchase, who got offended because the worker refused to dissociate himself from the Employees' Union which he had joined in or about July 1961 in spite of being asked to do so by Shri Bajoria, who did not like that any Marwari employee should join the Union. This case has been put forward in the written statement of the Union and the concerned worker, Shri Viswanath Poddar, has also testified to this case in his evidence. Shri R. P. Bajoria has given evidence himself and has denied this entire case. The evidence is oath versus oath and I prefer to accept the oath of Shri R. P. Bajoria. The concerned worker and Shri R. P. Bajoria belong to the same home village in Rajasthan, Ratangarh in name. He got this appointment under the Company on the recommendation made by his father to Shri Bajoria. He was attending I.Com. classes in a college when he got this appointment under the Company. These were morning classes and Shri Bajoria was good enough to permit him to attend the office a bit late, up to 10-30 a.m., after attending his morning college classes and he enjoyed this privilege till the date of his discharge. All these are admissions of the concerned worker himself. It may be safely held that he got his present appointment through the good offices of Shri R. P. Bajoria, who holds a very high position in the Company and he also enjoyed the privilege of late attendance in office after attending his morning I.Com. classes through the good offices of Shri Bajoria. Shri Bajoria was, therefore, practically his patron and looked after him as such. The only thing that, according to the worker, turned Shri Bajoria against him was that he continued to be a member of the Union in spite of the request of Shri Bajoria that he should not be a member of the Union. I have already indicated above that there is no evidence except the uncorroborated testimony of the worker to support it and Shri Bajoria has denied it and I accept Shri Bajoria's statement as correct. It has not been proved that Shri Bajoria really pulled the strings in order to make out a case against the concerned worker in regard to his dismissal on the ground of sheer inefficiency, incompetence and negligent working and at his instance the Company acted mala fide in terminating his service. After considering the entire facts and circumstances placed before this Tribunal, I hold that Shri Bajoria was all along well disposed towards this clerk and neither he nor any other responsible officer of the Company had any bias or prejudice against him and it was not a case of mala fide termination of service of the concerned worker simpliciter upon a false accusation but without any charge-sheet and enquiry and on the contrary the concerned worker proved himself to be utterly incompetent and inefficient and grossly negligent in his work by unjustifiably allowing arrears to accumulate in his works much to the prejudice of the Company in spite of the warnings and instructions of the superior officer and in these rcumstances the Company exercised bona fide the ght of termination of his service simpliciter with otice for the purpose of directing its internal office anagement in the best interests of the Company id there was nothing wrong or mala fide in this tion of the Company and the reason for which his ervice was terminated has been well established. pon this finding, it must be held that the termina- on of the service of the concerned worker was stified and so he is not entitled to any relief.

In the result, I award that the termination of ervice of the concerned worker was justified and he not entitled to any relief.

AWARD

This is a complaint lodged under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Sashi Bhusan Dey, Govinda Chandra Jana and Sukhamoy Ganguly, the three workmen, against their common employer Messrs. Associated AESBY Industries Private Ltd. (hereinafter be referred to as the Company). Their allegation is that the Company has contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act during the pendency of a proceeding in respect of some industrial disputes existing between the Company and their workmen pending before this Tribunal, by stopping annual increments, by non-payment of customary bonus payable on the foundation day and by non-payment of overtime wages, all of which are conditions of service.

The Company resisted the application by filing written objection. The Company seriously challenged the maintainability of the present application and at the same time has denied the alleged non-payment of increments and non-payment of overtime wages. It has contended that the Company made extra payment of 15 days' wages on the foundation day for five years only from 1957 to 1961 and then not only the foundation day celebrations have been stopped but also the ex-gratia payment usually made on the occasion of the foundation day.

It is well settled that a complaint under section 33A is as good as a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act and the Tribunal has all the powers to deal with it as it would have in dealing with a reference under section 10 of the Act. It is also well settled that the Tribunal to whom the complaint is made is to decide the two points, viz., (1) the fact of contravention by the employer of the provisions of section 33 and (2) the merits of the act or order of the employer.

The Company has raised serious objection to the maintainability of the present application on the ground that it is not a proper complaint under section 33A because the matters which have been brought before the Tribunal on complaint by the concerned workmen are not connected with the dispute pending before it. The workmen's common application is extremely brief. It has been simply stated therein that the opposite party meaning the Company has contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by stopping payment of annual increments and overtime wages and also customary bonus payable on the basis of foundation day. So, it is implied that the Company has contravened the provisions of section 33(1)(a) of the Industrial Disputes Act though not specifically stated in the application. But it is well settled that this Tribunal in order to have jurisdiction to entertain a complaint under section 33A read with section 33(1)(a) the complainant will have to show that the matters which have been brought before it on complaint by the concerned workmen are connected with the dispute which was pending before it. [1959 (I) L.L.J. 282.] Undisputedly, that there has been a proceeding pending in this Tribunal in respect of an industrial dispute existing between the Company and their workmen. There are three issues formulated for adjudication. They are: (1) Increment, (2) permanency of workmen, (3) dismissal of three employees. One of the matters of the present application is stopping of annual increments. But it is clear from the evidence of the workmen that practically there has been no stopping of increment. The Company usually grants annual increments in June every year after the auditing of the accounts but with retrospective effect from February. The arrears of the increased pay, if any, are paid within the year. The two workmen Govinda Chandra Jana and Sukhamoy Ganguly have admitted payments of increments even for the current year by the Company. As usual with the Company it has been granted in the month of June but with retrospective effect from February. The Company's witness Shri Benoy Bhattacharji has deposed that as usual the arrears of the increased wages will also be paid as in previous years. Therefore, there is no substance in the alleged grievance of stopping of increments. This was, no doubt, a matter connected with the dispute but as there is no substance in the alleged grievance it must go out of consideration. It is no longer a fact. It might have been a fact at the time of filing of this application at about the close of the month of May 1962 but the workmen had to admit that usual practice with the Company is to grant increments in May/June after the auditing of the accounts. So, this is a hasty application by the workmen.

The next matter is the non-payment of customary bonus payable on the occasion of the foundation day. The evidence of workman Govinda Chandra Jana (P.W. 1) is that he entered service in 1950 and from that very year he has been receiving foundation day bonus. But in the cross-examination he had to admit that the foundation day celebration was stopped for five years. The other workman Sukhamoy Ganguly (P.W. 2) has stated that he has been receiving the foundation day bonus of 15 days' wages every year but in the cross-examination he says that he has seen the foundation day celebration from 1953. This evidence of his is in conflict with the evidence of the other workman P.W. 1. The evidence on the side of the Company goes to show that ex-gratia payments were made to the workers on the occasion of foundation day for four years from 1958 to 1961 and there was no other ex-gratia payment in any other year. He has further said that the Compa has stopped foundation day celebrations from th year, so also the ex-gratia payment. This is all t material available in the evidence on this point. is extremely difficult from the above evidence whi is extremely meagre and unsatisfactory to hold th the ex-gratia payment made by the Company f four or five years acquired the character and stat of customary bonus as claimed by the workme Therefore, the matter can hardly be said to be co nected with the dispute pending before th Tribunal.

As to the last matter raised in the petition of co plaint, there is no iota of evidence to show that th Company has stopped payment of overtime wage The Company has, on the contrary, emphatical denied this allegation.

Therefore, none of the three matters raised befo the Tribunal on complaint by the concerned wor men was connected with the dispute which has be pending before it. As such, the present complai made under section 33A of the Industrial Disput Act is incompetent and without jurisdiction becau there has been no contravention of the provisions section 33(1)(a) of the Industrial Disputes Act o account of the absence of any connection betwee the complaint and the dispute pending before th Tribunal. So, the complaint is rejected.

This is my award.

AWARD

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5585-I.R./IR/11L-148/61, dated the 19th September 1961, for adjudication upon the following issue:

Weekly holidays for the durwans.

On behalf of the durwans of the abovementioned Cinema Houses two separate written statements have been filed in this case, one by the B.M.P.E.U. concerning the Purabi Cinema, Chitra Cinema, Chabighar Cinema and Bina Cinema, and the other by Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, concerning the Exhibitors' Syndicate. The written statement of the former contains the following averments. While other employees of the said Cinema Houses are granted weekly holidays, only the durwans are illegally denied weekly holidays. The workmen of the Union agitated against this injustice and as a result of the collective bargaining Messrs. Chabighar Cinema, Messrs. Purabi Cinema and Messrs. Chitra Cinema started granting weekly holidays of one and half days to the durwans. Messrs. Chabighar Cinema started granting these weekly holidays to the durwans since January 1959 in accordance with an agreement, dated 24th November 1958, before the Deputy Chief Inspector of Shops and Establishments, whereas the Purabi Cinema granted these holidays since November 1958 and the Chitra Cinema granted the same since October 1958. But the Bina Cinema did not grant any such holdiays to the durwans. Subsequently, in violation of law and agreement, the Cinema Houses stopped granting the weekly holidays since different months of 1960. This measure of denial of weekly holidays to the durwans is not only unfair but also inhuman from the viewpoints and consideration of special and natural justice. The workmen protested against these illegal curtailments of existing benefits, and industrial disputes were raised. Conciliation having failed on account of the unbending attitude of the Cinema Companies, this reference has been made to the Tribunal. The Union prays for grant of one and half days' holidays each week to the durwans.

The case made out in the written statement of the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity is briefly this: In spite of the sound financial position and the huge profits of Messrs. Exhibitors' Syndicate, the conditions of service of the employees, particularly those of the durwans, were far from satisfactory. The durwans are obliged to work for more than 14 hours a day without any extra wages for overtime work, and there is no weekly holidays for them. Some time in 1959, the workmen made a representation to the Management and demanded weekly holidays amongst other things. As a result, the Management was obliged to introduce weekly holidays for one day in a week for the durwans. But in or about May or June 1960, the Management suddenly cancelled the said weekly holidays unjustifiably and unreasonably. The Union thereafter made representation to the employer without any effect. Next, the present dispute was raised. In course of conciliation, a tripartite agreement was reached, providing weekly holidays and fixing the working hours. But the agreement remained unimplemented. Next, this dispute was raised again and conciliation proceedings proved futile. Hence this reference. The Company illegally and arbitrarily refused to allow weekly holidays to its durwans. On these allegations, the Union prays for grant of weekly holidays for the durwans for one and half days.

Five different written statements have been put in by the Cinema Companies—one by each of these Companies. The case of the Purabi Cinema is that the Management never granted weekly leave to durwans, due to any agitation by the employees as alleged; that the durwans have no strenuous work to do; that the granting of weekly holidays to durwans was or is never a condition of service; that section 5(p) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act expressly excludes durwans from benefit of weekly holidays; that the West Bengal Government by virtue of the power under section 5(2) of the said Act extended the provision relating to leave and holidays to durwans, etc., by a notification published in the "Calcutta Gazette" on 14th August 1958; that after that notification some Cinema Houses (not all) started granting weekly holidays to durwans; subsequently by another notification, dated 30th July 1959, the State Government cancelled the earlier notification withdrawing the privilege; since then, the weekly holidays so long granted were discontinued; that the employees of this Cinema House preferred an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act before 1962, which was later on withdrawn; that the present reference is bad in law by reason of the withdrawal of the aforesaid application; that the reference is without jurisdiction by reason of the withdrawal of the Government's earlier notification; that for all these reasons, the prayer of the Unions must fall through.

The case of the Chitra Cinema House is this: The story of 14 hours' work done by the durwans per day is untrue. They are custodians of valuable property and remain or stay in the Cinema House premises. They have period of inaction and relaxation. The Bengal Shops and Establishments Act has not made any provision of weekly holidays or fixed hours of duty for durwans. The Cinema House maintains durwans who reside inside its premises to watch and secure the Cinema properties and buildings, etc. The granting of weekly holidays to them was or is never a condition of service. The durwans are granted one month's privilage leave per year, 10 days casual leave a year and 14 days' medical leave on half average pay per year. The durwans have been excluded from benefit of weekly holidays by virtue of clause 5(p) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act. The Cinema House never granted any such benefit to its durwans under any agreement. The Government by notification extended the benefit to durwans but subsequently the same notification was cancelled by another notification. This Cinema House never complied with the provisions in spite of the earlier Government notification. This Cinema House also has raised objection as to maintainability of the reference like the Purabi Cinema.

The averments in the written statement of the Chabighar Cinema is briefly this: This Cinema Company denies that it had ever agreed to grant weekly holidays to its durwans. The durwans of this Cinema House are mere watchmen and must always stay on duty. They are excluded from the category of employees entitled to the benefit of weekly holidays under the Shops and Establishments Act. Although the Government of West Bengal by a notification extended this benefit to the durwans, subsequently the same privilege was withdrawn by another notification on the principle or natural justice. After the first notification of the Government, the Cinema Company granted the said benefit but withdrew it since the subsequent notification. This Cinema House, like the Purabi Cinema Company, has raised legal objection on the same line.

The general contention of the Bina Cinema Company is similar to that of the other Cinema Houses mentioned above. It is further stated that this Cinema House maintains four durwans, three of whom reside in the Cinema House premises to watch and secure the properties and buildings, etc., while the remaining durwan is called during show time to help the other three durwans. This Company grants 30 days' privilege leave in a year on average pay to the durwans, 10 days' casual leave in a year and 14 days' sick leave on half average pay in a year. The grant of weekly holidays to durwans would seriously prejudice the Management financially inasmuch as the number of durwans would have to be increased in that case.

The contention of the Exhibitors' Syndicate as per its written statement is as follows: The financial position of the Company is not sound. It is untrue that the durwans have to work for 14 or 15 hours a day. The provision of the weekly holidays under the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act does not apply to durwans. There was no valid agreement as alleged by the Union and the alleged agreement has no binding force. This Company also has raised legal objection as to the maintainability of the reference and the non-availability of weekly holidays to durwans as stated in the written statements of the other Cinema Houses.

Decision

This issue has been raised on behalf of the durwans of the several Cinema Houses mentioned in the orders of reference. Section 9(1) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act of 1940 provides thus:

> "Every person employed in an establishment for public entertainment or amusement, shall be allowed as holidays at least one and half days in each week."

The proviso thereto has no application in the present case. So, under section 9(1) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act even a durwan would become entitled to holidays for one and half days in a week. This provision, therefore, is relied upon by the Unions concerned. On the other hand, the Learned Advocate for the Cinema Company refers to and relies upon section 5(1)(p) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act. This legal provision is as follows:

> "Nothing in this Act shall apply to any person employed in managerial or confidential capacity, or as a traveller, canvasser, messenger, watchman or care-taker or exclusively in connection with the collection, despatch, delivery and conveyance or customs formalities of goods. (Except the provision of section 11 and 12.)"

According to the Cinema Companies, the durwans are watchmen and hence they are excluded from the benefit of Section 19(1) of the Act. The contention on behalf of the Union is that the durwans of the Cinema Companies are not watchmen as alleged by or on behalf of the Cinema Companies. In the written statements of the Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity, the durwans have been mentioned at some place as "durwans (watchmen". The Cinema Companies want to take advantage of this statement. Shri Moni Bose on behalf of this particular Union has said before me that the mention of "watchmen" within the bracket was due to mistake. He has referred to the evidence of O.P.W. 2 Shri Jiban Bandhu Dutta, Secretary of the Bina Cinema House. His evidence is that durwans are designated by no other names and they have no "watchman" as such. This particular evidence very much militates against the mention of "watchman" in the written statement of Bangiya Chalachitra Kamachari Samity. It is, however, in evidence that the durwans have to see that no damage is done to the properties of the Cinema Companies, and they also have to watch that no golmal takes place at the Cinema House, and they have also to look after and maintain peace at the queue of intending purchasers of cinema tickets. From this, it may be very loosely said that the durwans have sometimes to do the duty of watchmen. But that would not necessarily mean that they are by virtue of the nature of their duties watchmen in the true sense of the term. The watchmen have got to keep watch day and night over the properties of the Companies and they are also generally supplied with arms for protection of themselves and the properties of the employers. The durwans of the Cinema Houses have no such weapon or protections. On these considerations, I can confidently hold that the durwans of the Cinema Houses are not watchmen as such and therefore the provision of section 5(1)(p) of the Bengal Shops and Establishments Act does not apply against their interest. The result is that section 9(1) of the Act applies to their case and they would be entitled to the benefit thereunder. On this score alone, the Unions' claims ought to succeed.

Again, Ext. 1 is an agreement between Messrs. Exhibitors' Syndicate on one side and their workmen represented by Bangiya Chalachitra Karmachari Samity on the other. In that agreement Ramdhan Bhattacharjee, Assistant Manager of the Cinema Company, represented the employer, whereas, Mani Mukherjee, Vice-President of the Union, represented the workmen. That agreement was effected on 22nd December 1960. The terms of the settlement (Ext. 1) are as follows:

> "The representative of the Syndicate agrees to grant weekly holidays as enjoyed by them previously as directed under section 20 of the Shops and Establishments Act. This will come into effect from January 1961."

The Union claims the benefit under this agreement as well. The employer's case is that this agreement is not valid and was not acted upon. It is said that Shri R. Bhattacharjee was instructed to watch over the meeting and had no authority to effect any settlement or sign in any settlement on behalf of the employer. This argument appears to be absolutely futile. Shri Bhattacharjee has not been examined by the cinema Company in this case to give his denial as to authority. The Conciliation Officer wanted a competent representative of the Co. (vide Ext. 2). According to O.P.W. 3 Shri Anukul Mukherjee, General Supervisor of the Purabi Cinema (and Sree and Uttara Cinema Houses), General Manager only gave verbal instruction to Shri Bhattacharjee to

... the conciliation proceedings and Shri Bhattacharjee was only verbally warned for having signed the agreement. Even this story has no value, inasmuch as this witness has no personal knowledge about this matter. So, I can confidently hold that Shri Bhattacharjee was a competent person and that the agreement was real and genuine. It is said for the Cinema Companies that this agreement has no binding force after the expiry of six months from the date it bears. This argument is not accepted. Under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act a settlement is binding for such period as is agreed upon by the parties and if no such period is agreed upon it is binding for a period of six months from the date on which the agreement is signed, and shall continue to be binding on the parties after the said period of six months until the settlement is terminated by proper notice. There is nothing to show that the agreement was terminated by any notice. So, the agreement still subsists and is binding on the parties.

It appears that some employees of some Cinema Companies filed applications under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act and those applications were not proceeded with subsequently and on that account the Learned Judge of the Second Labour Court of West Bengal passed orders holding that there was no longer any complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. It is said for the Cinema Companies that by reason of that order the present reference is not maintainable. This contention is not understandable. It is not known what the nature of the original dispute was and what complaint was actually made under section 33A of that Act. At any rate, the said complaint under section 33A appears to have nothing to do with the question of weekly holidays for durwans. So, this contention is without any substance. It is said for the Cinema Companies that the grant of weekly holidays to durwans would involve further financial burden. The reason stated is that more durwans will have to be appointed in case the weekly holidays are granted to durwans. This contention does not hold good, inasmuch as the grant of weekly holidays to the existing durwans may well be arranged by rotation without the necessity of new appointments.

It is true that the agreement above mentioned (Ext. 1) was in respect of one Cinema Company and the durwans of that Company (comprising more Cinema Houses than one) would be entitled to the claimed benefit under that agreement. That being so, this principle ought to be applied in respect of other Cinema Houses covered by this reference. Besides, by virtue of the general legal interpretations, the durwans of all the Cinema Houses under the present reference are entitled to get the benefits of weekly holidays as claimed by them. In the result, the reference is allowed in favour of the Unions, and the concerned Cinema Houses are directed to grant one and half days' weekly holidays to their durwans by rotation according to convenience. This shall take effect on the expiry of one month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

AWARD

By order No. 4177-I.R./IR/11L-276/59, dated 27th August 1959, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department referred an industrial dispute between Messrs. Spences Hotel Ltd., 4 Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, and their workmen to this Court for adjudication. During the pendency of that dispute Md. Ibrahim, C/o. Spences Hotel Employees' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, a workman of the above Company, filed a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against that Company.

The facts of the case, briefly stated, are as follows:—

Shri Md. Ibrahim was a Bar-waiter at the Spences Hotel. On 15th January 1962 at about 8 p.m. a customer came to the Bar and took some rounds of drink. It is the practice at the Bar that after each round of drink a bill showing the price of the drink is placed on the table where the customer sits. After the customer in question finished his drinks, he handed over the bills and some 10-rupee notes to Md. Ibrahim who took the bills and the money to the cashier who handed over change of about Rs. 10 to Md. Ibrahim for returning to the customer. The total amount of the bills was about Rs. 30. After Md. Ibrahim handed over the change to the customer, the latter said that more money was due to him and he made a row about it. The Bar Tender who is in charge of the Bar intervened and the money in the custody of the cashier was checked; it was found that the cashier had Rs. 10 in excess. A sum of Rs. 10 was handed over to the customer who, however, said that he had paid Rs. 60 to Md. Ibrahim and as such would get Rs. 10 more. In order to avoid further row the Bar Tender paid him Rs. 10 more. Thereafter Md. Ibrahim was asked in writing to explain why he did not count the money when he took it from the customer. In reply he said that as he did not know the amount of the bills, he did not count the money. As his explanation was considered unsatisfactory, the company issued a charge-sheet to him. In his explanation to the charge-sheet Md. Ibrahim replied that he had no time to count the money as the customer wanted him to get the change quickly. Thereafter he was dismissed.

The case of the complainant in brief is that the allegations on which he was dismissed are false. No proper enquiry about the charge-sheet was held. As he was an active member of the Union, the Company dismissed him in order to crush the Union. The complainant therefore contends that his dismissal is unjustified.

The Company has denied the allegation that it dismissed the complainant on account of his being an active member of the Union. According to the Company the customer in question handed over to Md. Ibrahim six ten-rupee notes, through inadvertence, against a total bill of approximately Rs. 30. Before taking the money to the cashier it was the duty of Md. Ibrahim to count the money in presence of the customer. He intentionally omitted to do so in contravention of his routine duties. This caused a loss of Rs. 10 to the Company. A regular enquiry about the charge-sheet was held in presence of Md. Ibrahim and he was given ample opportunity to defend himself at the enquiry. His negligence was proved at the enquiry. In view of his past record which shows that he was on an earlier occasion found guilty of a similar negligence and let off with a fine of Rs. 1-8, it was considered unsafe to retain him in service. So the Company dismissed him.

The Company has also raised a preliminary objection that it has not contravened the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and that as such this complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable.

Findings.

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. The Company has not denied that an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen was pending before this Court at the time of dismissal of Md. Ibrahim. The Company has not assented that it sought for the approval of this Court or paid one month's salary to Md. Ibrahim. So it is a clear case of violation of the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Hence I hold that the present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is maintainable.

I now enter into the merits of the complaint. The Company has contended that an enquiry about the charge-sheet issued to Md. Ibrahim was held. The complainant has denied that any proper enquiry was held Even if any enquiry was held, the Company has produced no record of such an enquiry before me. Shri P. K. Nandy appearing for the Company has admitted that the enquiry was a verbal one. So this is a clear admission that no record of the enquiry was prepared. Shri S. N. Singh, the Managing Director of the Company, who is alleged to have held the enquiry has not deposed before me. So it is not possible for me to ascertain what actually took place at the alleged enquiry. Hence I can place no reliance on the finding of such an enquiry. So I hold that the case is at large before me; accordingly I enter into a consideration of the evidence adduced before me. Md. Ibrahim has admitted in his evidence that it is one of his duties to count the money handed over to him by a customer. He also admits that in the present case he did not count the money. His first explanation is that he did not count the money, as he was not aware of the amount of the bill. But the knowledge of the amount of the bill had nothing to do with the counting of the money. So this explanation is absolutely untenable. His second explanation is that as the customer was in a hurry, he did not count the money. But it could not take him more than a few seconds to count the six notes. Further it is the evidence of the cashier and the Bar Tender that when he handed over the money to the cashier, he told the cashier that the amount of the money was Rs. 40. The complainant has not been able to show that the above statement of the cashier and the Bar Tender is not true. So the complainant's plea that he had no time to count the money is false. On the other hand, his conduct lends support to the suggestion of the company that he thought the number of notes to be five, pinched off one of them and then told the cashier that the money was Rs. 40. It has been argued on behalf of the complainant that it was also the duty of the cashier to count the money handed over by the complainant and that if the cashier had done so, the matter could have been detected then and there and no subsequent trouble could ensue. It is true that it was the duty of the cashier to count the money. A charge-sheet was issued against the cashier also for his failure to count the money. The explanation of the cashier is that he did not count the money, firstly because there was a rush of work and secondly because he relied on the statement of Md. Ibrahim that the amount of the money was Rs. 40. So the Company let off the cashier with a warning. Whatever may be the degree of default committed by the cashier, there is no escape from the position that the whole trouble was due to Md. Ibrahim not counting the money in the first place and telling the cashier that the amount of the money was Rs. 40 in the second place. It has also been prov that Md. Ibrahim was guilty of a similar negligen only a few months before the present incident. view of the nature of the duties of a Bar Waiter, the Company refuses to keep as a Bar waiter a m of the conduct of Md. Ibrahim, nobody can find fau with the Company.

Hence I hold that the dismissal of the complainar Md. Ibrahim is justified. As such he is not entitle to any relief.

AWARD

By order No. 1900-I.R./IR/11L-32/61, dated the 21st April 1961, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Indian Commercial Enterprise, P-22 Swallow Lane, Calcutta-1 (Factory at 23 Mall Road, Dum Dum), and their workmen represented by Indian Commercial Enterprise Workers' Union, 8 Rishi Bankim Chandra Road, Calcutta-28, regarding the matters specified in the schedlle to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

(1) Whether the closure of the Concern is bona fide? Whether it is beyond the control of the management and whether in the circumstances it is justified?

(2) To what relief, if any, are the workmen entitled?

The reference relates to an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Indian Commercial Enterprise, P-22 Swallow Lane, Calcutta (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Indian Commercial Enterprise Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union) for adjudication by this tribunal.

On receipt of the reference from the Government, both parties were duly summoned to appear. They promptly entered appearance but obtained some adjournments before filing their respective written statements. Parties having completed all tadbirs the case was taken up for hearing. The Union examined one witness. The Company did not examine any.

The Union's case in the written statement is that the Company is a prosperous concern but the legitimate grievances of the workmen were not met in spite of repeated requests. At last with a view to collective burgaining, the workmen organised themselves under a trade union. Since the formation of the trade union in July 1960 the Company started victimising the workmen. Quite a number of them have been discharged and suspended. Therefore, the workmen resorted to strike. At the intervention of the Assistant Labour Commissioner, they were contemplating of withdrawing the strike when the company all on a sudden closed down the business by a notice, dated 14th January 1961. The said closure of the factory is illegal and unjustified. Hence the dispute.

The Company's case is that from the beginning of 1960 the workmen indulged themselves in various acts subversive of discipline and created lawlessness by their disorderly acts and conducts and resorted to stay-in-strike from 6th January 1961 and brought about stalemate condition in the working of the factory. So the Company had no other alternative but to close down the factory by a notice, dated 14th of January 1961, and thereby offered compensation to the workmen under the provisions of section 25FFF of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company at the same time also offered the workmen one month's wages in lieu of notice. It was a bona fide closure, due to abnormal circumstances created by the workmen. So, the workmen are not entitled to reinstatement as claimed.

The above two are the issues formulated by the Government for the purpose of adjudication.

Decision

Issues Nos. 1 and 2: Both these issues are being considered together for the sake of convenience as they are interlinked.

Admittedly there was a closure of the undertaking from 16th January 1961. The Union admits this fact in paragraphs 14 and 15 of the written statement filed on 8th June 1961.

Now, the question is whether the closure was real and bona fide and not a mere pretence. The Company's case is that the Union from the beginning of the year 1960 started creating troubles. The workmen indulged in acts subversive of discipline, so much so, that ultimately it had to close down the undertaking. There is indication of admission of this case of the Company in the Union's written statement and also in the evidence of P.W. 1 Shri Sudhir Bhattacharji, who is the President of the Union. Several workmen had to be discharged on misconduct. They are: Ram Bhajan Mistry, Kumar Bahadur, Kisson Deo Singh, Babunandan Pandey, Satya Deo Pandey, Ramesh Pandey, Bishnu, Ram Kripal, Ram Gurgh, Suresh and Umesh Das. P.W. 1 admits in his evidence that all these dismissals were reported to the Labour Commissioner but none of the cases was found fit for reference to tribunals for adjudication. It also transpires from the evidence of P.W. 1 that the workmen resorted to stay-in-strike with effect from 6th January 1961 without reporting to or giving any intimation or indication to the Company of the direct action. The Union's document, Ext. 2, shows that there was also tools-down-strike by the workmen. The strikes, admittedly so resorted to by the workmen without prior intimation to the Company, are certainly without justification because it has already been held that even without violence a stay-in-strike or sit-down-strike is an invasion of the rights of the employer and there could be no justification for such a strike. (Vide 1958, Volume II, L.L.J., 628). The Company closed down the undertaking with effect from 16th January 1961 by a notice, dated 14th January 1961 (which is made an annexure to the written statement). The notice shows the circumstances that led to the closure of the undertaking. The Company complained of various acts, of indiscipline, misconducts and subversive acts of the workers which made it impossible to run the factory and to carry on the work. The workmen by resorting to stay-in-strike with effect from 6th January 1961 as admitted by the President of the Union brought about complete dislocation of the work. So, the Company had no other alternative but to close down the undertaking. According to the Company it was not possible to carry on, because of the continued disruption and lawlessness created by the workmen. Some of them had to be discharged on charges of misconduct. It is admitted by the President of the Union that those cases of dismissals on misconducts were referred to the Labour Commissioner but none of the cases was found fit for reference to the tribunal for adjudication. The workmen resorted to tools-down-strike and again sit-down-strike without prior intimation to the Company of their grievance if any or of their intended direct action. It is clear from the evidence of the President of the Unoin (P.W. 1) that workmen used to be irregular and unpunctual in attendance and at the same time insisted on being employed by the Company ignoring their irregularities and they ultimately threatened the Company with strikes thereby creating complete dislocation and disruption in the work of the undertaking. The President had to admit the stay-in-strike staged by the workmen from 6th January 1961. The Union's document, Ext. 2, shows that there was tools-down-strike as well. Therefore, in the circumstances created by the workmen, the Company was constrained to close down the business by declaration in writing. The notice of the closure was duly given to the workmen. By this notice the Company closed down its business with effect from 16th January 1961. The workmen whose services stood terminated in consequence of the closure, were offered legal compensation provided in section 25FFF of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company, however, did not take aid of the proviso to section 25FFF in the matter of awarding compensation. This fact clearly appears from the notice itself which has been made annexure to the written statement. Therefore, the Company in exercise of its fundamental rights closed down the business. It was a bona fide closure. P.W. 1 Shri Bhattacharji says that more than 3 months after the Company re-started the business. There is, of course, no bar to the re-starting of the business and on such re-starting, the Company is not bound to re-employ the discharged employees who ceased to be workmen on their discharge due to closure of the business. (Vide 1956 L.L.J. II, 4).

As I have just found, that it was a real closure of the undertaking for bona fide grounds, there can be no dispute arising with reference to the said closure because of the non-existence of the undertaking due to real closure. A dispute can arise only in respect of an existing undertaking and not in respect of a dead industry. Therefore, the present dispute arising with reference to the closure in question will fall outside the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act (vide 1957 L.L.J. I, 235). On such closure of an undertaking the workmen are undoubtedly entitled to a notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F. But it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case reported in 1960 II L.L.J., page 1, that payment of compensation and payment of wages for the period of notice are not condition precedent to closure. It was observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that section 25FFF (1) only creates a right in the employees, it does not enjoin the employers to do anything before closure. Therefore, the liability to pay compensation not being a condition precedent to closure, the Company's failure to discharge the liability to pay compensation and wages in lieu of notice to the employees does not amount to contravention of the legal provisions. The workmen whose services stood terminated due to the closure of the undertaking will be entitled to get compensation in accordance with section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act and also one month's wages in lieu of notice. They will not be entitled to reinstatements as claimed.

In the result, the workmen are not entitled to reinstatements but they are entitled to get from the Company compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act and one month's wages in lieu of notice as there was no proper notice.

This is my award.

AWARD

By order No. 433-I.R./IR/11L-197/60, dated the 31st January 1961, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industria dispute between Messrs. Murarka Paint and Varnish Works (Private) Ltd., Sodepore, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Murarka Paints Workers' Union, House of Lala, Station Road, Sodepore, 24-Parganas, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

(1) Minimum wages.
(2) Annual increment.
(3) Classification of workers.
(4) Leave and holidays.
(5) Permanency of workers.
(6) Working hours, leave and holidays and minimum wages of the Durwans.

This reference was made by the Government for adjudication of some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. Murarka Paint and Varnish Works (Private) Ltd., Sodepore, 24-Parganas (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Murarka Paints Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

As usual parties were summoned to appear, who promptly entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The parties were given opportunities to file their respective documents. The case was then taken up for hearing but parties having desired for a settlement amicably, some adjournments were given for negotiations. At one point negotiations having fallen through the case was heard in part. At this stage further efforts were made successfully to end the disputes by amicable settlement. Both parties then filed a joint petition of compromise before this Tribunal on 17th August 1962. The terms of settlement have been incorporated in the joint petition of compromise. There are five issues in the order of reference, but the Company and the workmen settled the terms generally in substantial satisfaction of all the disputes existing at present between them.

It appears from the terms of settlement that in consideration of the satisfactory settlement in general terms of the main matters in dispute the workmen have not pressed some of the issues. Therefore, the terms of settlement are substantially fair and reasonable. Accordingly they are accepted. Let there be an award on compromise as prayed for in terms of the joint petition of compromise, filed on 17th August 1962. The said joint petition of compromise do form a part of the award as an Annexure.

An industrial dispute between Messrs. Parko Pen Products, 58/1 Phears Lane, Calcutta-12, Messrs. Teko Pen Industry, 90 Phears Lane, Calcutta-12, and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry, 24-25 Upper Chitpur Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Calcutta Plastic Karkhana Mazdoor Union, 35/B Wellington Street, Calcutta-13, over the following issues, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 584-I.R./IR/11L-437/61, dated the 20th February 1962.

Issues

(1) Wages.
(2) Leave.
(3) Service Book.
(4) Overtime wages.

AWARD

Upon receipt of the order of reference, notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

The workmen represented by the Calcutta Plastic Karkhana Mazdoor Union filed the written statement on 26th March 1962 duly signed and verified by Shri Bimal Banerjee described as Vice-President of the aforesaid Union.

In this reference case three distinct concerns are shown as employers in the order of reference. One of these concerns, i.e., Messrs. Teko Pen Industry, filed the written statement on 12th May 1962. The other two concerns, viz., Messrs. Parko Pen Products and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry thereafter filed separate written statements on 22nd May 1962.

On 3rd July 1962 Shri Bimal Banerjee, Vice-President of the Union, filed an application stating therein that the workmen of Messrs. Parko Pen Products do not want to proceed with the dispute and, therefore, a "no dispute" award might be passed with respect to that industry. Again on 26th July 1962 Shri Banerjee filed another application praying that a "no dispute" award in respect of Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry might be passed as the workmen do not want to proceed with the dispute. The dispute thus exists between Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and their workmen. On 17th August 1962 a joint petition of compromise signed by the representatives of Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and Shri Bimal Banerjee on behalf of the workmen was filed. The parties prayed that an award in terms of compromise might be passed. I have gone through the terms of settlement which appear to be fair and reasonable and, as such, the prayer of the parties is allowed.

In the result this dispute so far as Messrs. Parko Pen Products and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry are concerned ends in a "no dispute" award, and the dispute between Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and their workmen is settled in terms of the petition of compromise filed by the parties. The petition of compromise is made a part of this award.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by order No. 3702-I.R./IR/7L-28(A)/59, dated the 20th July 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for adjudication.

This dispute was previously referred to the First Labour Court for adjudication by G.O. No. 6837-I.R./IR 7L-28(A)/59, dated the 12th December 1959, which has been replaced by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal constituted under Notification No. 3115-I.R./IR/3A-6/59, dated the 21st June 1960, and has in consequence been abolished by notification No. 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, dated the 11th July 1960.

The Schedule

1. Whether the dismissal of Shri Saradadeo Missir was justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of dismissal of a durwan named Saradadeo Missir. The workmen are represented by the Fort William Jute Mill Employees' Union (hereinafter called the Union). The workman under reference was the durwan of the Fort William Jute Co. Ltd. (hereinafter called the Company).

It is the case of the Union that the workman under reference was attacked with illness from 28th May 1958 and he was recommended leave by the Panel Doctor of the E.S.I. Corporation for the period from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958, that after the workman had returned to resume his duties from the morning of 4th June 1958, he was not permitted to do so, but he was given a charge-sheet on the same day to which he submitted his explanation on 5th June 1958, that he was wrongfully dismissed from service and that the workman may be reinstated with back wages.

It is the case of the Company that the workman under reference who was a durwan in the Watch and Ward Department applied for privilege leave from 12th May 1958 to 10th June 1958 on account of his son's marriage ceremony in his native village, that as several durwans had already been granted leave, the leave application of the workman under reference was rejected, that the workman under reference suddenly left the mill premises where he was required to live during the course of his service and remained absent from duty without notice from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958, that he was given a charge-sheet for remaining absent from duty without notice to which he gave a reply, that an enquiry was held and as he was found guilty of gross misconduct for remaining absent from duty without notice or leave, he was dismissed from service.

Decision

It is admittedly a fact that the workman under reference applied for privilege leave on 1st May 1958 for a period from 12th May 1958 to 10th June 1958 in connection with his son's marriage in his native village (vide Ext. A). It is also admitted that his leave application was rejected. The workman further admits that he was absent from duty from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 but he explains that he had suddenly fallen ill and without giving information to anyone of the mill he left his durwan's quarters and spent the days at premises No. 4, Lucas Lane, Burrabazar, Calcutta, so that he could be properly looked after during his illness. It is in evidence of O.P.W. 2 that the Labour Welfare Officer Mr. Ghosh took him (O.P.W. 2) and two other employees of the mill along with the workman under reference to No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, and that it was ascertained from the residents of the premises that the workman under reference had not been in that particular premises for more than two months and a half prior to the first week of June 1958. It appears from Ext. E, the records of the departmental proceedings held on 4th August 1958, that three employees of the Company, viz., Shri Gobinda Ganguly (who has been conducting the case of the Union), Naresh Nath Ghosal (O.P.W. 2) and Nafiker Singh filed a joint statement, dated 4th June 1958, that they had been to 4 Lucas Lane, Burrabazar, Calcutta, on 4th June 1958 at about 6 in the morning and the residents of the premises told them that the workman under reference had not been in that particular premises for two months and a half prior to 4th June 1958. So, the story of the workman under reference that he had suddenly fallen ill and left the mill premises to live at No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, is nothing but a myth. I am fully convinced that the workman under reference left the mill premises and remained absent from duty from 28th May 1958 till 3rd June 1958 without any notice or permission. His statement that he went on leave and spent the period from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 at premises No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, is uncorroborated and it is also disproved by the joint statement of the three employees of the Company I have referred to above and the evidence of .P.W. 2. The workman under reference therefore made a false statement to explain his absence from duty at the mill gate. It is admittedly a fact that all the durwans of the Company are required to live in the mill premises in the residential quarters allotted to them. It would be quite natural to hold that they could not leave the mill premises without the permission of the authorities. There is nothing to show that the workman under reference left the mill premises giving any information to any officer of the mill. If he was so ill, it is not understood how he left the mill premises at Sibpur and came to Burrabazar to live with the friends and relatives of his. He somehow procured a "fit certificate" from the Insurance Panel Doctor (Ext. 1). This certificate was granted on 4th June 1958. It is mentioned in the "remarks" column of the certificate that the workman under reference did not attend the clinic up to 3rd June 1958. It appears from the letter (Ext. H) written by the Regional Director of the E.S.I. Corporation to the Company on 21st July 1958 that the workman under reference was called for medical examination on 2nd June 1958 but that he failed to attend and that, as such, his benefit had been suspended with effect from the said date. So, it appears that the workman did not attend the doctor's clinic up to 3rd June 1958 but he just went to the doctor on 4th June 1958 in the morning and reported to him that he was fit to resume his duties. From all these facts and circumstances, it appears to be clear that when his leave application to attend his son's marriage was rejected he took recourse to a device just for the purpose of attending the marriage ceremony. There could be no reason for the workman under reference to leave the mill premises without even telling the fellow durwans about his illness, and I am unable to believe that if he had been ill he would not have been looked after properly by his fellow workers or by the Medical Officer of the mill. I find, in consideration of the facts and circumstances discussed above, that he was guilty of gross misconduct for leaving the mill premises and remaining absent from duty from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 without any notice or permission. The dismissal was therefore justified and he is not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

AWARD

By order No. 2698-I.R./IR/10L-118/60, dated th 28th May 1960, the Government of West Bengal the Labour Department referred an industrial dispu between Messrs. Modern Construction Co. and the workmen represented by United Contractors Wor ers' Union relating to the undermentioned issue to th Second Labour Court for adjudication.

Issue

Whether the refusal of employment to Shri Sidh Charan Das is justified? What relief, if any, he entitled to?

The case of United Contractors Workers' Unio (hereinafter referred to as the Union), briefly state is as follows:—

Shri Sidhu Charan Das, the workman mentioned i the issue of the order of reference, was a Templat Maker in the employment of Messrs. Modern Con struction Co. (hereinafter referred to as the Company at Burnpur and was drawing a monthly salary o Rs. 325. He went to his native place on leave for 9t November 1959 and 10th November 1959 granted t him. While on leave he was attacked with dysenter and so could not return to Burnpur to resume dut on the expiry of the leave. He came back to Burnpu on 17th November 1959 and went to join his duty with a medical certificate in support of his illness but he was refused employment. The matter wa reported to the Assistant Labour Commissioner Asansol, and a conciliation proceeding was started During conciliation the management agreed to take him back in service; accordingly he went to the management to get back his job; but he was not taken back in service. So the Union contends that the action of the management in refusing employment to Shri Sidhu Charan Das is arbitrary and as such unjustified.

The Company has raised a preliminary objection to the effect that this is an individual dispute and not an industrial dispute, because the cause of the workman in question has not been espoused or backed by an other employee of the Company.

As to the merits of the issue, the Company admit that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was drawing a monthl salary of Rs. 325. It also admits that he was allowe leave of absence for 9th November 1959 and 10th November 1959. According to the Company he was engaged in a very important job at that time; so at the time of the granting of the leave it was pointed out to him that on no account he should overstay the leave. Notwithstanding the above specific direction he did not report for duty on 11th November 1959. He called at the office of the Company in the afternoon of 17th November 1959 with a medical certificate purported to be dated 16th November 1959 from a doctor of Bataitala, Howrah. Shri B. C. Dey who is incharge of the Section took the said medical certificate and asked Shri Sidhu Charan Das to submit a petition stating the reason of his absence from 11th November 1959 to 16th November 1959. Shri Sidhu Charan Das went away, but did not thereafter submit the petition. It later transpired that he approached the Union, and the Union took up the matter with the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol. The Company does not admit that during conciliation the management agreed to take back Shri Sidhu Charan Das in service. The Company states that it wrote to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, that it would consider the re-appointment of Shri Sidhu Charan Das provided he was able to satisfy the management about the reasons of his absence from 11th November 1959. According to the Company Shri Sidhu Charan Das did not turn up to satisfy the management about the reasons of his absence. So the Company contends that it did not refuse employment to Shri Sidhu Charan Das who should be deemed to be a deserter and to have, by his own action, deliberately brought about a cessation of the relationship of employer and employee between the Company and himself. Hence the Company contends that Shri Sidhu Charan Das is not entitled to any relief.

Findings

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. The contention of the Company is that the cause of Shri Sidhu Charan Das has not been espoused by any other employee of the Company. In this connection the lawyer of the Company has drawn my attention to paragraphs 5 and 8 of the written statement of the Union wherein it has been stated that the cause of the workman in question was taken up by the Union. The lawyer of the Company points out that it has not been stated in those two paragraphs that the cause of the workman in question was taken up by the other workmen of the Company. But it is now settled law that espousing of the cause of a workman of an establishment by a Union of the workmen of that establishment is as good as espousing by the other workmen. The Union has adduced oral evidence to the effect that Shri Sidhu Charan Das and other workmen of the Company were and are members of the Union. The Company has challenged this oral evidence of the Union and has asked it to produce the membership register and other papers for determination of the question whether the oral evidence of the Union is true. The Union has not produced these documents. So this would raise a presumption that the oral evidence of the Union in this respect is not true. But in the conciliation stage or at any time before the adducing of the above oral evidence by the Union the Company did not say that the Union was not a Union of the workmen of the Company. So the non-production of the documents by the Union does not show that the oral evidence of the Union in this respect is not true. So I hold that the Union which has espoused the cause of Shri Sidhu Charan Das is a Union of the workmen of the Company and that as such this is an industrial dispute.

I next enter into the merits of the issue. According to the Company, when Shri Sidhu Charan Das appeared at the office of the Company with the medical certificate, he was asked to submit a petition explaining his absence; but he did not turn up later. According to Shri Sidhu Charan Das, as soon as he produced a medical certificate, Shri B. C. Dey told him that his serivce had been terminated and refused to allow him to resume work. Thereafter Shri Sidhu Charan saw the Managing Director of the Company who put him off for some days and ultimately told him that he would not get back his job. It cannot be thought that Shri Sidhu Charan Das would not care to get back his job. So if the Company had asked him to submit a petition, there is no reason why he would not comply with this simple order of the Company in order to get his job. So the statement on behalf of the Company that Shri Sidhu Charan Das did not turn up with the petition alleged to have been demanded by the Company is not true. The Company has also raised the point that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was absent from 11th November 1959 to 16th November 1959 without any intimation. If the Company wants to say that for this absence without intimation he should lose his job, the Company ought to have issued a charge-sheet to him and give him an opportunity to explain the alleged misconduct. The Company has also suggested that by his unauthorised absence he has automatically lost his job. But it has been admitted by the Company that it has no Standing Orders. Again, the model Standing Orders issued under the Standing Orders Act provide for such termination of service on account of unauthorised absence for at least 8 days. In the present case the unauthorised absence is only for 6 days. So it cannot be held that this unauthorised absence led to automatic termination of service. This contention is also contrary to the assertion of the Company that it demanded a petition of leave from Shri Sidhu Charan Das. The Company has stated in its written statement that while going on leave Shri Sidhu Charan Das was specifically asked not to overstay the leave. There is no satisfactory evidence on this point. Even if it were true, this can be no ground for termination of employment. If it is believed that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was really ill, and there is no reason not to believe this, Shri Sidhu Charan Das was physically unable to resume duty on 11th November 1959, in spite of any direction that might have been given to him, at the time of granting of leave to him. The Company has also pointed out the change in the date of the medical certificate. The change does not show that Shri Sidhu Charan Das made any interpolation in the date; it is quite likely that the doctor himself changed the date. Whatever may be the truth, the change in date would have been material if the Company had held any enquiry about the absence. If it be believed that the date was 15th November 1959 and not 16th November 1959, this would only show that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was not ill on 16th November 1959. But, as I have already stated, as the Company did not enter into that question, the change of date in the medical certificate is immaterial.

The above discussion clearly shows that the Company refused employment to Shri Sidhu Charan

Das. The contention of the Company that the himself deserted his work and thereby brought about the termination of his service is not true. The above discussion also shows that the Company has failed to give any valid reason for the termination of employment of Shri Sidhu Charan Das.

The next question is as to the relief. The contention of the Company is that at all material times in the role of a sub-contractor to Messrs. Indian Iron & Steel Co. Ltd., Burnpur, it undertook on contract steel fabrication jobs for its above Principal and that Shri Sidhu Charan Das had been employed in its Iron Section at Burnpur. That work of contract has long been over. Further in 1960 in pursuance of an agreement with the Union the Company retrenched about 200 men. So the Company contends that it has no longer any suitable job in which it can employ Shri Sidhu Charan Das. But it has been admitted by O.P.W. 1 Shri Pravakar Mukherjee, a Partner of the Company, that the Company has still some work in a small scale in the Indian Iron & Steel Co. and that it has started a fabrication factorty at Raniganj. It is on evidence that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was engaged in fabrication work. So there must be some work for him either at the work in the Indian Iron and Steel Company or at the fabrication factory. Hence I order that Shri Sidhu Charan Das shall be reinstated. Shri Sidhu Charan Das admits that he has been working at Shalimar Steel Works for three months prior to the date of his evidence. He also says that he could not get employment earlier for want of a discharge certificate from the Company viz., Messrs. Modern Construction Company. But he admits that he did not request the Company for a discharge certificate. So if he was unemployed after losing his job under the Company, he was partly responsible for it. Hence I do not allow him full compensation on account of his unemployment. I order that he shall be paid compensation of Rs. 1,000 (Rupees one thousand) only on account of his forced unemployment.

An industrial dispute between Messrs. McLeod & Co. Ltd., McLeod House, 3 Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by McLeod's Indian Employees' Association, 3 Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, over the following issues, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 5925-I.R./IR/11L-371/61, dated the 12th October 1961.

Issues

1. Free tiffin or tiffin allowance in lieu thereof.
2. Re-employment of retired persons.

AWARD

Upon receipt of the order of reference, notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

After service of usual notices upon the parties, the workmen represented by the McLeod's Indian Employees' Association (hereinafter referred to as the Union), filed the written statement on 28th December 1961. The case as made out by the Union is that this Company, i.e., Messrs. McLeod & Co. Ltd., established in 1887, is a highly prosperous concern and it acts as Managing Agents, Secretaries and Treasurers of various well-known stable and prosperous companies engaged in Jute, Tea, Engineering and other kinds of business. It is alleged by the Union, which was registered in 1946, that a large number of companies doing similar type of business situated in the neighbourhood of this Company provide the clerical and sub-staff with tiffin allowance, presumably because they feel that it is not possible for the low-paid employees to set apart a sum from their limited income for the purpose of tiffin which is otherwise a necessary item of expenditure in their daily budget. The question of free tiffin or tiffin allowance was, as a matter of fact, one of the issues referred to for adjudication to the Sixth Industrial Tribunal by the appropriate Government by an order, dated the 3rd November 1956. That dispute covered various points of dispute between the parties. The parties came to a settlement in course of that adjudication proceedings and the learned Tribunal on the basis of the terms of settlement gave an award in accordance with the terms as settled by the parties. It is stated by the Union that the Company at that time assured that the matter of tiffin would be favourably considered and, therefore, the issue was left open and not decided by the Tribunal as indicated in the terms of settlement made by the parties. It is contended by the Union that discussions and negotiations had been carried on by the Union with the Company on the question of free tiffin in favour of the employees and due to the unreasonable attitude taken by the Company no final settlement could be made and for that this reference had been made.

Regarding the second issue which relates to the question of re-employment of retired persons, it is alleged by the Union that the system of reappointment of the employees after retirement is bad in principle and is all the more worse for the simple reason that such reappointed persons are given lesser pay even though they are doing the same work as they were doing at the time of their retirement and also because of the fact that by such reappointment the door for fresh employment is blocked and the scope for promotion of the employees gets hampered. It is therefore contended that the employer should not be allowed to reappoint any retired person for any reason whatsoever.

The employer, i.e., Messrs. McLeod & Co. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), then filed the written statement on 17th February 1962. It is contended by the Company that the issues as referred to this Tribunal for adjudication are not matters of industrial dispute as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Regarding tiffin allowance it is stated that the point had already been disposed of by a previous award which has not yet been terminated and therefore the workmen cannot reagitate the point.

Regarding the merits of the case it is alleged that the wages and dearness allowance paid by the Company to its employees adequately cover the expenditure to be incurred for tiffin and, as such, the question of extra payment as tiffin allowance should not arise.

Regarding reappointment of retired persons it is stated that the Company gave new appointment to few retired hands from humanitarian point of view as the employees themselves appealed to the Company for getting such employment.

The case came up for hearing on 3rd August 1962. From the side of the Union Shri Rabindra Nath Majumder, the Vice-President of the Union, has been examined. The Company did not adduce any oral evidence. The parties relied on certain documents which are marked as exhibits.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the learned lawyers of the parties advanced argument in support of their respective contentions.

The Union demands that the Company should pay a tiffin allowance at 10 annas and 8 annas per day to clerks and sub-staff, respectively.

Before entering into the merits of the case, it is necessary to dispose of the preliminary legal point of objection raised by the Company challenging the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to adjudicate upon this issue of the dispute. Firstly, it is alleged that the dispute regarding tiffin allowance or tiffin is not an "industrial dispute" as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. I would at once say that this objection is not of any substance. The definition of "industrial dispute" is wide and comprehensive enough to cover any dispute or difference between the employer and the workmen which is connected with the conditions of labour of any person. Obviously, the dispute or difference between the parties on the question of free tiffin or tiffin allowance is a matter which cannot be said to be outside the definition of "industrial dispute".

The second point of objection is that there is already an award given by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of 28th January 1958, regarding the issue of tiffin and so long as that award is not terminated, the Tribunal must refuse to decide the issue. It appears that there was an award given by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal between the same parties covering 12 issues as then referred to the Tribunal for adjudication. The learned Tribunal gave his award on the basis of a compromise made between the parties in course of the adjudication on 28th December 1957. Obviously, the terms of settlement had been made a part of the award as an annexure to the award itself. It appears that one of the issues, i.e., issue No. 9 of that adjudication proceedings, was to the effect as to whether free tiffin or tiffin allowance should be given to the clerical and sub-staff. It is necessary to examine how that issue was decided by the Tribunal in accordance with the terms of settlement covering all the issues. Evidently, the meaning and force of the decision made by that award has got to be gathered from the terms of settlement itself as annexed to the award. It is clear from the terms of settlement annexed to the award that no determination or decision on issue No. 9 relating to tiffin allowance had been made by the parties. It is simply stated in the terms of settlement that the question of tiffin would be considered by the management. The plain and simple meaning of the terms is that the parties decided not to arrive at any decision on the point either by the adjudication of the Tribunal or by a voluntary settlement in course of the adjudication proceedings as the Company would consider the matter afterwards. Clearly it is not possible to give any other meaning to the wordings except that the issue was left open and that the parties thought it proper to make fresh attempts to arrive at a solution upon further direct negotiations. It is urged by the learned Counsel for the Company that in terms of the compromise award the question of tiffin was left to the sole discretion of the management and the workmen were bound to accept whatever the management decided on the question of tiffin allowance or free tiffin. I would at once say that the settlement as made by the parties was clearly to the effect that the matter of tiffin would be taken up for consideration by the management with the expectation of the workmen that an amicable settlement would be possible by direct negotiation between the parties. The subsequent course of events proves that fact conclusively. It appears from the evidence on record that the parties entered into direct negotiation for the purpose of coming to a decision on the question of tiffin allowance soon after the award was published in the "Calcutta Gazette". Shri Mazumder, who was the General Secretary at the time the settlement was made on 28th December 1957, stated before me that the management assured that they would consider the quantum and value of free tiffin afterwards, and on the basis of such assurance discussion had been carried on between the parties to come to a settlement. Now, apart from the evidence of Shri Majumder, P.W. 1, as to the intention of the parties at the time the settlement was made, it is clear from the language of the terms of settlement regarding issue No. 9 of that adjudication proceedings that the issue was left open for further considerations. The Company issued a notice on 27th May 1958 to the effect that it had been decided to provide tiffin to the clerical and sub-staff against a nominal charge of twenty-five naye paise per head per month (vide Ext. 1). In the said notice it was at the same time mentioned that the management reserved the right to discontinue the provision as to free tiffin as proposed at any time they deemed it proper. Naturally, by such notice the management did not express any desire to give free tiffin to the workmen in a manner as could be expected to last for a reasonable period of time. It was not as well mentioned in the notice as to what would be the value and quantum of tiffin to be given to the workmen. It is clear from the documents filed by the parties that the Union held meetings and carried on discussions with the management to come to a settlement with the management regarding the value and quantum of the free tiffin or tiffin allowance, and no definite assurance was given by the employer on this point and accordingly the negotiations failed. When no settlement by direct negotiation could be arrived at, the appropriate government referred the dispute which was still alive and was existing between the parties and not decided by the award, though, of course, the appropriate government at a certain stage before making the reference took it that the question of tiffin allowance was left to the sole discretion of the management. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case I am inclined to hold that by the award of 1958 no determination of the specific dispute regarding tiffin allowance had been made and for that the award must be construed as keeping the issue, as to tiffin allowance as open issue, at the consent of the parties who wanted to enter into further negotiations for the purpose of collective bargaining to come to a voluntary settlement of such a dispute.

Assuming for the sake of argument that there is a previous award in the sense of a final determination over the issue of tiffin allowance made by a Tribunal, the question arises for consideration whether there was any necessity under the law to terminate such an award. Obviously, under section 19(3) of the Industrial Diputes Act, an award remains binding upon the parties for a definite period. Under section 19(6) of the said Act, even after the expiry of the period of operation under sub-section (3), the award continues to be binding and for that written notice terminating the award need be given to bring to an end the operative force of the award. But all these provisions regarding the binding effect of an award and the termination of the award could not apply to such an award wherein no continuing obligation upon the parties had been imposed. Section 19(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act runs as follows: "nothing contained in sub-section 3 shall apply to any award which by its nature, terms and other circumstances does not impose, after it has been given to effect to, any continuing obligation on the parties bound by the award." Evidently, by the award of 1958, no continuing obligation had been imposed upon the Union to leave the question of tiffin allowance to be considered by the employer in any manner they liked. A matter not decided and left for further discussion and considerations creates no continuing obligation. In this view I hold that there was no necessity for terminating an award so far as issue No. 9 of that award was concerned.

Furthermore it appears that the employer gave a notice, in writing, on 4th April 1960 terminating the award of 1958 in respect of leave, medical aid, scales of pay and grade and dearness allowance (vide Ext. C). It is contended by the learned Counsel for the employer that by that notice the entire award had not been terminated. In my opinion, it appears that an award cannot be split up in terminating a part. So a notice of termination of a part of an award must be taken as termination of the entire award. In this view I hold that by the said notice the entire award had been terminated by the employer. So, the legal objections taken by the Company fail for all the reasons given above.

Let me now consider the merits of the case.

It appears that the Company provides with two cups of tea and two biscuits free of charge to the clerical staff and one cup of tea and one biscuit to the sub-staff from Monday to Friday and one cup of tea and one biscuit on Saturday. It may be noted that the Company while expressing the desire to introduce a free tiffin, made it clear that such provisions as to supply of tea and biscuit would be discontinued. Naturally the privilege enjoyed by the workers in getting free supply of tea and biscuit to a limited quantity cannot continue with the introduction of tiffin allowance. It appears to me that the provisions regarding supply of tea and biscuit free of charge stand too inadequate and insufficient for the purpose of a tiffin for the workmen for whom the working hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The workmen require more substantial food for the tiffin during such long office hours. In fact, the Company also felt that some provisions for tiffin should be made. The entire dispute between the parties is regarding the quantum, quality and value of tiffin to be given to the workmen. The management failed to give any concrete idea to the workmen on such point as to the value of the tiffin, for reasons best known to them. In deciding the question of the value of tiffin the Tribunal has got to take into account the practice prevailing in similar industry in the neighbourhood of this Company. The Union submitted a chart showing in it the particulars and the rates of tiffin allowance obtaining in as many as 31 concerns (vide Ext. 10). It appears from that statement that the rate of tiffin allowance had been fixed by award with respect to five concerns. Presumably the rate of tiffin allowance for the rest of the concerns had been amicably settled. Now all these concerns mentioned in Ext. 10 are Mercantile firms which are members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. It is well known that the workmen employed by the members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce get dearness allowance at the same rate which is linked up with the cost of living index. The basic salary of the different concerns are also not very divergent. It appears that there are reasons for the workmen here to entertain a grievance in the matter of tiffin allowance. It is always necessary to fix the wages of workmen including concession in food in the shape of tiffin allowance in a region-cum-industry basis with due consideration to the financial capacity of the employer. The Company adduced no evidence to show financial incapacity. The Union in the written statement mentioned that the Officers and the Junior Grade Assistants are provided with tiffin at a value of Rs. 5 per day in some cases and 10 annas per day in other cases. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case I hold that the clerical staff should be paid at 8 annas a day and the sub-staff at 6 annas per day on all working days. This Company employs 196 clerks and 131 sub-staffs. Additional financial liability created by this award cannot be said to be heavy for a concern like Messrs. McLeod & Co. I therefore decide accordingly this issue in favour of the workmen.

The point in dispute between the parties is over the question of reappointment of retired employees as clerks or as sub-staff. It is clear from the evidence that the Company had reappointed a number of persons after their retirement. The Union made an annexure to the written statement a document wherein the names of the retired persons so appointed together with the particulars about their dates of reappointment and the period for which they are working after retirement are given (vide Annexure "E", marked as Ext. 11). In that list appears the names of 11 employees and from amongst them only one, i.e., Shri Brojendra Nath Bose, serial No. 5 of Ext. 11, had since left in November 1961. It is contended by the employer that the Company has got the absolute discretion to select and choose any person for the purpose of being employed by them and for that the Company can make selection for the purpose of giving employment from amongst the retired persons. Obviously, the employer has got the sole discretion to decide about the qualification, worth, efficiency and eligibility of a person for the purpose of being selected and employed by the Company and to outside agency can force the employer to make the selection according to certain directives imposed upon him. There cannot therefore be any interference by the Tribunal in the matter of recruitment of persons as employees by a particular employer so far as recruitment from outsiders are made by the Company. In this case, however, these persons who had been reappointed after retirement on reaching the age of superannuation stand on a different footing inasmuch as those persons are not, strictly speaking, outsiders recruited from the open market.

The only reason assigned by the employer in support of the action of reappointment of retired persons is that those persons had approached the employer putting forward their financial difficulties expecting the generosity of the employer in making provisions for them by giving them fresh appointment. All these retired hands who had been thus reappointed filed an affidavit affirmed by them wherein it is stated that they were given fresh employment by the Company only on their representation to the management of their strained economic circumstances and the Company solely from humanitarian point of view gave them employment. They further state that they had got "no dispute" with the Company and this Union is not authorised to represent their case before the Tribunal. Naturally these persons on getting reappointment feel themselves satisfied with the employer for such act done in their favour by the Company and that they cannot have any grievance whatsoever for the action of the employer to their benefit. But the whole question is whether the workmen, in general, can make a grievance for such a policy followed by the Company reappointing retired hands. It may be noted in this connection that these retired hands are not paid the same wages as they had been drawing at the time of their retirement and that the Company on reappointment of these persons paid them consolidated wages at a lesser amount. As for example, Shri Chandi Charan Banerjee, serial No. 4 in Ext. 11, who was drawing a basic pay of Rs. 380 at the time of his retirement, was reappointed at a consolidated pay of Rs. 250 without any dearness allowance. Naturally, the Company was giving Shri Banerjee about half the wages compared to what he was getting at the time of his retirement, and at the same time getting the same services from him. It seems that by such a policy as to reappointment of retired hands the Company is economising the expenses under the head of "wages to employees". There is no controversy on the point that these retired hands on their reappointment just after retirement are doing the same work as they were doing at the time of retirement. The only difference is that the emoluments got considerably decreased. Naturally the entire idea of the Company is to utilise the services of experienced hands by paying them lesser wages. Admittedly, the age of superannuation for the workmen in this concern is fixed at 55 years by the award of the Mercantile Tribunal which came into operation from 17th February 1949. The specific provision of the award regarding retiring age runs as follows:

> "We decide that a man shall retire on completing 55 years. We do not favour extension of services, thereby blocking the way for younge people to get employments. In exceptional cases where both the employer and the employee agree, extension of services may be granted."

So, if the Company wanted to utilise the service of experienced hands, still fit to carry on their work, they could take recourse to the above provision by giving extension of service to the retired hands and retaining them in service for sometime after the age of superannuation. But in that case the Company could not avoid paying wages to such persons in the same scale and grade as they were getting at the time of reaching the age of superannuation. The Company is giving fresh appointment to the retired persons instead of giving extension just in order to pay them a lesser pay and at the same time get the same duties performed by them as at the time of their retirement.

The learned lawyer for the Company urged that the question of appointment of retired hands is not an industrial dispute as defined under section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. I had already considered this point when it was raised as a preliminary point for decision and passed an order, dated 27th August 1962, holding that the defination of the Act is wide enough to cover any point of difference between workman and employer which is connected with the employment of any person, and that this question is a point of industrial dispute. Having regard to the scheme and objects of the Act, and its other provisions, the expression "any person" in section 2(k) of the Act must be read subject to such limitations and qualifications as arise from the context; the two crucial limitations are (1) the dispute must be a real dispute between the parties to the dispute so as to be capable of settlement or adjudication by one party to the dispute giving necessary relief to the other, and (2) the person regarding whom the dispute is raised must be one in whose employment, non-employment, terms of employment, or conditions of labour (as the case may be) the parties to the dispute have a direct or substantial interest. In the absence of such interest the dispute cannot be said to be a real dispute between the parties. It is contended by the learned Counsel for the Company that the workmen in employment have got no direct or substantial interest, in the matter of employment of retired hands as fresh recruits as they are not affected in their terms of employment by such appointment.

The Union, on the other hand, urged that by the policy followed by the Company regarding reappointment of retired persons the legitimate aspiration for promotion of the clerks in the lower grade to the higher grades in which vacancies occur due to retirement of clerks gets hampered. Besides, it is alleged that the Company by the policy by itself creates stagnation in the matter of recruitment of young persons from outside, in these days of unemployment amongst that class. It is also contended that the policy is unfair as the wages paid to the retired men on reappointment is much less than what they should be paid for the services rendered by them. To my mind it appears that the clerks are directly concerned in the matter of this policy of reappointment of retired hands as it is connected with the question of their promotion. It appears that there are four grades and scales of pay for the different categories of clerks known as "C" grade, "B" grade, "A" grade and "Special grade." Naturally if there be any vacancy caused by the retirement of any clerk of any grade higher than the lowest grade or "C" grade, there is obviously a question of promotion even though that is a matter left to the discretion in an employer. In the normal circumstances in the case of vacancy of higher grade there is a clear prospect for promotion from the lower grade. In this view I hold that the clerks have got direct and substantial interest on the question of reappointment of retired persons. In the case of Messrs. Standard Vacuum Refining Co. of India Ltd. and their workmen reported in 1960, II, L.L.J. p. 233, the Hon'ble Supreme Court decided that an industrial dispute can arise even between an employer, and the workmen employed by the latter's contractor. The Standard Vacuum Co. gave a contract annually for cleaning (and) maintenance of the plant and premises. In the previous year, the contractor employed 67 workmen; in the next year the contract was given to Ramji Gordhan & Co. who re-employed only 40 of the workmen. As there was thus no security of service, the contractor's men were being paid less than the company's men, and they were moreover not entitled to several other privileges, the workmen raised an industrial dispute demanding that the contract system should be abolished, and all the workmen should be taken on the rolls of the Company. The question was raised before the Supreme Court as to whether this was really an "industrial dispute". It was urged that the dispute was between the workmen and the contractor. It was held that there is undoubtedly a real and substantial dispute between the Company and the workmen on the question of employment of contract labour for the work of the Company. The fact that in this case the workmen were employed by the contractor will not make the dispute any the less a real and substantial dispute between them and the Company.

Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, I hold that the policy followed by the Company in the appointment of retired persons is unfair and that it should be stopped so far as the reappointment of retired workmen from the category of clerks above "C" grade are concerned. So far the subordinate staff are concerned, I do not find that reappointment of retired hands affects the interest of the workmen. The same is the position with respect to the lowest grade clerks. Clerks retiring from such grade may be reappointed at employer's discretion. I do not therefore interfere with the question of reappointment from amongst the retired hands belonging to the sub-staff and the "C" grade staff.

This is the award.

And whereas the said Fifth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government, its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947(XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Raleigh Industries of India Ltd. and Messrs. Sen Pandit Private Ltd., both of Mercantile Buildings, Lalbazar, Calcutta, on the one hand and their workmen represented by the Motor Transport Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-115/62.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department Order No. 3427-I.R./IR/4L-39/62, dated 30th July 1962, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Raleigh Industries of India Ltd. and Messrs. Sen Pandit Private Ltd., both of Mercantile Buildings, Lalbazar, Calcutta, on the one hand (hereafter referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by the Motor Transport Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12 (hereafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The following issues have been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication in this case:

1. Scale of pay and dearness allowance of the drivers.
2. Hours of work and rest intervals of the drivers.
3. Leave and holidays of the drivers.

AWARD

After receipt of the reference, both the parties were called upon to appear and file their written statement, if any, on the points of reference. But up till now neither party has filed any written statement. However, the Union representing the workmen appears this day and files a petition stating that the workmen concerned and the Union will not proceed with the dispute before this Tribunal as they are to settle their dispute amicably out of Court in the best interest of the parties concerned. I see no mala fides in this prayer, and so I find that there is no dispute any longer between the parties. Accordingly, I pass a "no dispute" award. The petition filed this day need not form part of the award.

This is my award.

AWARD

By order No. 4177-I.R./IR/11L-276/59, dated 27th gust 1959, the Government of West Bengal in the bour Department referred an industrial dispute ween Messrs. Spences Hotel Ltd., 4 Wellesley ace, Calcutta-1, and their workmen to this Court adjudication. During the pendency of that pute Md. Ibrahim, C/o. Spences Hotel Employees' ion, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, a workman of above Company, filed a complaint under section A of the Industrial Disputes Act against that mpany.

The facts of the case, briefly stated, are as follows:—

Shri Md. Ibrahim was a Bar-waiter at the Spences Hotel. On 15th January 1962 at about 8 p.m. a customer came to the Bar and took some rounds of drink. It is the practice at the Bar that after each round of drink a bill showing the price of the drink is placed on the table where the customer sits. After the customer in question finished his drinks, he handed over the bills and some 10-rupee notes to Md. Ibrahim who took the bills and the money to the cashier who handed over change of about Rs. 10 to Md. Ibrahim for returning to the customer. The total amount of the bills was about Rs. 30. After Md. Ibrahim handed over the change to the customer, the latter said that more money was due to him and he made a row about it. The Bar Tender who is in charge of the Bar intervened and the money in the custody of the cashier was checked; it was found that the cashier had Rs. 10 in excess. A sum of Rs. 10 was handed over to the customer who, however, said that he had paid Rs. 60 to Md. Ibrahim and as such would get Rs. 10 more. In order to avoid further row the Bar Tender paid him Rs. 10 more. Thereafter Md. Ibrahim was asked in writing to explain why he did not count the money when he took it from the customer. In reply he said that as he did not know the amount of the bills, he did not count the money. As his explanation was considered unsatisfactory, the company issued a charge-sheet to him. In his explanation to the charge-sheet Md. Ibrahim replied that he had no time to count the money as the customer wanted him to get the change quickly. Thereafter he was dismissed.

The case of the complainant in brief is that the allegations on which he was dismissed are false. No proper enquiry about the charge-sheet was held. As he was an active member of the Union, the Company dismissed him in order to crush the Union. The complainant therefore contends that his dismissal is unjustified.

The Company has denied the allegation that it dismissed the complainant on account of his being an active member of the Union. According to the Company the customer in question handed over to Md. Ibrahim six ten-rupee notes, through inadvertence, against a total bill of approximately Rs. 30. Before taking the money to the cashier it was the duty of Md. Ibrahim to count the money in presence of the customer. He intentionally omitted to do so in contravention of his routine duties. This caused a loss of Rs. 10 to the Company. A regular enquiry about the charge-sheet was held in presence of Md. Ibrahim and he was given ample opportunity to defend himself at the enquiry. His negligence was proved at the enquiry. In view of his past record which shows that he was on an earlier occasion found guilty of a similar negligence and let off with a fine of Rs. 1-8, it was considered unsafe to retain him in service. So the Company dismissed him.

The Company has also raised a preliminary objection that it has not contravened the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and that as such this complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable.

Findings.

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. The Company has not denied that an industrial dispute between the Company and its workmen was pending before this Court at the time of dismissal of Md. Ibrahim. The Company has not assented that it sought for the approval of this Court or paid one month's salary to Md. Ibrahim. So it is a clear case of violation of the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Hence I hold that the present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is maintainable.

I now enter into the merits of the complaint. The Company has contended that an enquiry about the charge-sheet issued to Md. Ibrahim was held. The complainant has denied that any proper enquiry was held. Even if any enquiry was held, the Company has produced no record of such an enquiry before me. Shri P. K. Nandy appearing for the Company has admitted that the enquiry was a verbal one. So this is a clear admission that no record of the enquiry was prepared. Shri S. N. Singh, the Managing Director of the Company, who is alleged to have held the enquiry has not deposed before me. So it is not possible for me to ascertain what actually took place at the alleged enquiry. Hence I can place no reliance on the finding of such an enquiry. So I hold that the case is at large before me; accordingly I enter into a consideration of the evidence adduced before me. Md. Ibrahim has admitted in his evidence that it is one of his duties to count the money handed over to him by a customer. He also admits that in the present case he did not count the money. His first explanation is that he did not count the money, as he was not aware of the amount of the bill. But the knowledge of the amount of the bill had nothing to do with the counting of the money. So this explanation is absolutely untenable. His second explanation is that as the customer was in a hurry, he did not count the money. But it could not take him more than a few seconds to count the six notes. Further it is the evidence of the cashier and the Bar Tender that when he handed over the money to the cashier, he told the cashier that the amount of the money was Rs. 40. The complainant has not been able to show that the above statement of the cashier and the Bar Tender is not true. So the complainant's plea that he had no time to count the money is false. On the other hand, his conduct lends support to the suggestion of the company that he thought the number of notes to be five, pinched off one of them and then told the cashier that the money was Rs. 40. It has been argued on behalf of the complainant that it was also the duty of the cashier to count the money handed over by the complainant and that if the cashier had done so, the matter could have been detected then and there and no subsequent trouble could ensue. It is true that it was the duty of the cashier to count the money. A charge-sheet was issued against the cashier also for his failure to count the money. The explanation of the cashier is that he did not count the money, firstly because there was a rush of work and secondly because he relied on the statement of Md. Ibrahim that the amount of the money was Rs. 40. So the Company let off the cashier with a warning. Whatever may be the degree of default committed by the cashier, there is no escape from the position that the whole trouble was due to Md. Ibrahim not counting the money in the first place and telling the cashier that the amount of the money was Rs. 40 in the second place. It has also been proved that Md. Ibrahim was guilty of a similar negligence only a few months before the present incident. In view of the nature of the duties of a Bar Waiter, if the Company refuses to keep as a Bar waiter a man of the conduct of Md. Ibrahim, nobody can find fault with the Company.

Hence I hold that the dismissal of the complainant Md. Ibrahim is justified. As such he is not entitled to any relief.

AWARD

By order No. 1900-I.R./IR/11L-32/61, dated the 21st April 1961, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Indian Commercial Enterprise, P-22 Swallow Lane, Calcutta-1 (Factory at 23 Mall Road, Dum Dum), and their workmen represented by Indian Commercial Enterprise Workers' Union, 8 Rishi Bankim Chandra Road, Calcutta-28, regarding the matters specified in the schedlle to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

(1) Whether the closure of the Concern is bona fide? Whether it is beyond the control of the management and whether in the circumstances it is justified?

(2) To what relief, if any, are the workmen entitled?

The reference relates to an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Indian Commercial Enterprise, P-22 Swallow Lane, Calcutta (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Indian Commercial Enterprise Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union) for adjudication by this tribunal.

On receipt of the reference from the Government, both parties were duly summoned to appear. They promptly entered appearance but obtained some adjournments before filing their respective written statements. Parties having completed all tadbirs the case was taken up for hearing. The Union examined one witness. The Company did not examine any.

The Union's case in the written statement is that the Company is a prosperous concern but the legitimate grievances of the workmen were not met in spite of repeated requests. At last with a view to collective burgaining, the workmen organised themselves under a trade union. Since the formation of the trade union in July 1960 the Company started victimising the workmen. Quite a number of them have been discharged and suspended. Therefore, the workmen resorted to strike. At the intervention of the Assistant Labour Commissioner, they were contemplating of withdrawing the strike when the company all on a sudden closed down the business by a notice, dated 14th January 1961. The said closure of the factory is illegal and unjustified. Hence the dispute.

The Company's case is that from the beginning of 1960 the workmen indulged themselves in various acts subversive of discipline and created lawlessness by their disorderly acts and conducts and resorted to stay-in-strike from 6th January 1961 and brought about stalemate condition in the working of the factory. So the Company had no other alternative but to close down the factory by a notice, dated 14th of January 1961, and thereby offered compensation to the workmen under the provisions of section 25FFF of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company at the same time also offered the workmen one month's wages in lieu of notice. It was a bona fide closure, due to abnormal circumstances created by the workmen. So, the workmen are not entitled to reinstatement as claimed.

The above two are the issues formulated by the Government for the purpose of adjudication.

Decision

Issues Nos. 1 and 2: Both these issues are being considered together for the sake of convenience as they are interlinked.

Admittedly there was a closure of the undertaking from 16th January 1961. The Union admits this fact in paragraphs 14 and 15 of the written statement filed on 8th June 1961.

Now, the question is whether the closure was real and bona fide and not a mere pretence. The Company's case is that the Union from the beginning of the year 1960 started creating troubles. The workmen indulged in acts subversive of discipline, so much so, that ultimately it had to close down the undertaking. There is indication of admission of this case of the Company in the Union's written statement and also in the evidence of P.W. 1 Shri Sudhir Bhattacharji, who is the President of the Union. Several workmen had to be discharged on misconduct. They are: Ram Bhajan Mistry, Kumar Bahadur, Kisson Deo Singh, Babunandan Pandey, Satya Deo Pandey, Ramesh Pandey, Bishnu, Ram Kripal, Ram Gurgh, Suresh and Umesh Das. P.W. 1 admits in his evidence that all these dismissals were reported to the Labour Commissioner but none of the cases was found fit for reference to tribunals for adjudication. It also transpires from the evidence of P.W. 1 that the workmen resorted to stay-in-strike with effect from 6th January 1961 without reporting to or giving any intimation or indication to the Company of the direct action. The Union's document, Ext. 2, shows that there was also tools-down-strike by the workmen. The strikes, admittedly so resorted to by the workmen without prior intimation to the Company, are certainly without justification because it has already been held that even without violence a stay-in-strike or sit-down-strike is an invasion of the rights of the employer and there could be no justification for such a strike. (Vide 1958, Volume II, L.L.J., 628). The Company closed down the undertaking with effect from 16th January 1961 by a notice, dated 14th January 1961 (which is made an annexure to the written statement). The notice shows the circumstances that led to the closure of the undertaking. The Company complained of various acts, of indiscipline, misconducts and subversive acts of the workers which made it impossible to run the factory and to carry on the work. The workmen by resorting to stay-in-strike with effect from 6th January 1961 as admitted by the President of the Union brought about complete dislocation of the work. So, the Company had no other alternative but to close down the undertaking. According to the Company it was not possible to carry on, because of the continued disruption and lawlessness created by the workmen. Some of them had to be discharged on charges of misconduct. It is admitted by the President of the Union that those cases of dismissals on misconducts were referred to the Labour Commissioner but none of the cases was found fit for reference to the tribunal for adjudication. The workmen resorted to tools-down-strike and again sit-down-strike without prior intimation to the Company of their grievance if any or of their intended direct action. It is clear from the evidence of the President of the Union (P.W. 1) that workmen used to be irregular and unpunctual in attendance and at the same time insisted on being employed by the Company ignoring their irregularities and they ultimately threatened the Company with strikes thereby creating complete dislocation and disruption in the work of the undertaking. The President had to admit the stay-in-strike staged by the workmen from 6th January 1961. The Union's document, Ext. 2, shows that there was tools-down-strike as well. Therefore, in the circumstances created by the workmen, the Company was constrained to close down the business by declaration in writing. The notice of the closure was duly given to the workmen. By this notice the Company closed down its business with effect from 16th January 1961. The workmen whose services stood terminated in consequence of the closure, were offered legal compensation provided in section 25FFF of the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company, however, did not take aid of the proviso to section 25FFF in the matter of awarding compensation. This fact clearly appears from the notice itself which has been made annexure to the written statement. Therefore, the Company in exercise of its fundamental rights closed down the business. It was a bona fide closure. P.W. 1 Shri Bhattacharji says that more than 3 months after the Company re-started the business. There is, of course, no bar to the re-starting of the business and on such re-starting, the Company is not bound to re-employ the discharged employees who ceased to be workmen on their discharge due to closure of the business. (Vide 1956 L.L.J. II, 4).

As I have just found, that it was a real closure of the undertaking for bona fide grounds, there can be no dispute arising with reference to the said closure because of the non-existence of the undertaking due to real closure. A dispute can arise only in respect of an existing undertaking and not in respect of a dead industry. Therefore, the present dispute arising with reference to the closure in question will fall outside the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act (vide 1957 L.L.J. I, 235). On such closure of an undertaking the workmen are undoubtedly entitled to a notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F. But it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case reported in 1960 II L.L.J., page 1, that payment of compensation and payment of wages for the period of notice are not condition precedent to closure. It was observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that section 25FFF (1) only creates a right in the employees, it does not enjoin the employers to do anything before closure. Therefore, the liability to pay compensation not being a condition precedent to closure, the Company's failure to discharge the liability to pay compensation and wages in lieu of notice to the employees does not amount to contravention of the legal provisions. The workmen whose services stood terminated due to the closure of the undertaking will be entitled to get compensation in accordance with section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act and also one month's wages in lieu of notice. They will not be entitled to reinstatements as claimed.

In the result, the workmen are not entitled to reinstatements but they are entitled to get from the Company compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act and one month's wages in lieu of notice as there was no proper notice.

This is my award.

AWARD

By order No. 433-I.R./IR/11L-197/60, dated the 31st January 1961, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Murarka Paint and Varnish Works (Private) Ltd., Sodepore, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Murarka Paints Workers' Union, House of Lala, Station Road, Sodepore, 24-Parganas, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

(1) Minimum wages.
(2) Annual increment.
(3) Classification of workers.
(4) Leave and holidays.
(5) Permanency of workers.
(6) Working hours, leave and holidays and minimum wages of the Durwans.

This reference was made by the Government for adjudication of some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. Murarka Paint and Varnish Works (Private) Ltd., Sodepore, 24-Parganas (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Murarka Paints Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

As usual parties were summoned to appear, who promptly entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The parties were given opportunities to file their respective documents. The case was then taken up for hearing but parties having desired for a settlement amicably, some adjournments were given for negotiations. At one point negotiations having fallen through the case was heard in part. At this stage further efforts were made successfully to end the disputes by amicable settlement. Both parties then filed a joint petition of compromise before this Tribunal on 17th August 1962. The terms of settlement have been incorporated in the joint petition of compromise. There are five issues in the order of reference, but the Company and the workmen settled the terms generally in substantial satisfaction of all the disputes existing at present between them.

It appears from the terms of settlement that in consideration of the satisfactory settlement in general terms of the main matters in dispute the workmen have not pressed some of the issues. Therefore, the terms of settlement are substantially fair and reasonable. Accordingly they are accepted. Let there be an award on compromise as prayed for in terms of the joint petition of compromise, filed on 17th August 1962. The said joint petition of compromise do form a part of the award as an Annexure.

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri K. K. MITRA, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

An industrial dispute between Messrs. Parko Pen Products, 58/1 Phears Lane, Calcutta-12, Messrs. Teko Pen Industry, 90 Phears Lane, Calcutta-12, and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry, 24-25 Upper Chitpur Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Calcutta Plastic Karkhana Mazdoor Union, 35/B Wellington Street, Calcutta-13, over the following issues, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 584-I.R./IR/11L-437/61, dated the 20th February 1962.

Issues

(1) Wages.
(2) Leave.
(3) Service Book.
(4) Overtime wages.

AWARD

Upon receipt of the order of reference, notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

The workmen represented by the Calcutta Plastic Karkhana Mazdoor Union filed the written statement on 26th March 1962 duly signed and verified by Shri Bimal Banerjee described as Vice-President of the aforesaid Union.

In this reference case three distinct concerns are shown as employers in the order of reference. One of these concerns, i.e., Messrs. Teko Pen Industry, filed the written statement on 12th May 1962. The other two concerns, viz., Messrs. Parko Pen Products and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry thereafter filed separate written statements on 22nd May 1962.

On 3rd July 1962 Shri Bimal Banerjee, Vice-President of the Union, filed an application stating therein that the workmen of Messrs. Parko Pen Products do not want to proceed with the dispute and, therefore, a "no dispute" award might be passed with respect to that industry. Again on 26th July 1962 Shri Banerjee filed another application praying that a "no dispute" award in respect of Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry might be passed as the workmen do not want to proceed with the dispute. The dispute thus exists between Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and their workmen. On 17th August 1962 a joint petition of compromise signed by the representatives of Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and Shri Bimal Banerjee on behalf of the workmen was filed. The parties prayed that an award in terms of compromise might be passed. I have gone through the terms of settlement which appear to be fair and reasonable and, as such, the prayer of the parties is allowed.

In the result this dispute so far as Messrs. Parko Pen Products and Messrs. Sree Vijoy Industry are concerned ends in a "no dispute" award, and the dispute between Messrs. Teko Pen Industry and their workmen is settled in terms of the petition of compromise filed by the parties. The petition of compromise is made a part of this award.

K. K. MITRA,

Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Depart-nt, by order No. 3702-I.R./IR/7L-28(A)/59, dated e 20th July 1960, referred under section 10 of the dustrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the ovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for judication.

This dispute was previously referred to the First bour Court for adjudication by G.O. No. 6837-I./IR/7L-28(A)/59, dated the 12th December 1959, nich has been replaced by the Sixth Industrial ibunal constituted under Notification No. 3115-I. IR/3A-6/59, dated the 21st June 1960, and has consequence been abolished by notification 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, dated the 11th July 60.

The Schedule

1. Whether the dismissal of Shri Saradadeo Missir justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial sputes Act is in respect of dismissal of a durwan med Saradadeo Missir. The workmen are resented by the Fort William Jute Mill Employees' nion (hereinafter called the Union). The workman der reference was the durwan of the Fort William te Co. Ltd. (hereinafter called the Company).

It is the case of the Union that the workman under erence was attacked with illness from 28th May 58 and he was recommended leave by the Panel ctor of the E.S.I. Corporation for the period from th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958, that after the work-an had returned to resume his duties from the rning of 4th June 1958, he was not permitted to so, but he was given a charge-sheet on the same y to which he submitted his explanation on 5th ne 1958, that he was wrongfully dismissed from rvice and that the workman may be reinstated with back wages.

It is the case of the Company that the workman der reference who was a durwan in the Watch and ard Department applied for privilege leave from 12th ay 1958 to 10th June 1958 on account of his son's marriage ceremony in his native village, that as several durwans had already been granted leave, the leave application of the workman under reference was rejected, that the workman under reference suddenly left the mill premises where he was required to live during the course of his service and remained absent from duty without notice from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958, that he was given a charge-sheet for remaining absent from duty without notice to which he gave a reply, that an enquiry was held and as he was found guilty of gross misconduct for remaining absent from duty without notice or leave, he was dismissed from service.

Decision

It is admittedly a fact that the workman under reference applied for privilege leave on 1st May 1958 for a period from 12th May 1958 to 10th June 1958 in connection with his son's marriage in his native village (vide Ext. A). It is also admitted that his leave application was rejected. The workman further admits that he was absent from duty from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 but he explains that he had suddenly fallen ill and without giving information to anyone of the mill he left his durwan's quarters and spent the days at premises No. 4, Lucas Lane, Burrabazar, Calcutta, so that he could be properly looked after during his illness. It is in evidence of O.P.W. 2 that the Labour Welfare Officer Mr. Ghosh took him (O.P.W. 2) and two other employees of the mill along with the workman under reference to No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, and that it was ascertained from the residents of the premises that the workman under reference had not been in that particular premises for more than two months and a half prior to the first week of June 1958. It appears from Ext. E, the records of the departmental proceedings held on 4th August 1958, that three employees of the Company, viz., Shri Gobinda Ganguly (who has been conducting the case of the Union), Naresh Nath Ghosal (O.P.W. 2) and Nafiker Singh filed a joint statement, dated 4th June 1958, that they had been to 4 Lucas Lane, Burrabazar, Calcutta, on 4th June 1958 at about 6 in the morning and the residents of the premises told them that the workman under reference had not been in that particular premises for two months and a half prior to 4th June 1958. So, the story of the workman under reference that he had suddenly fallen ill and left the mill premises to live at No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, is nothing but a myth. I am fully convinced that the workman under reference left the mill premises and remained absent from duty from 28th May 1958 till 3rd June 1958 without any notice or permission. His statement that he went on leave and spent the period from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 at premises No. 4, Lucas Lane, Calcutta, is uncorroborated and it is also disproved by the joint statement of the three employees of the Company I have referred to above and the evidence of .P.W. 2. The workman under reference therefore made a false statement to explain his absence from duty at the mill gate. It is admittedly a fact that all the durwans of the Company are required to live in the mill premises in the residential quarters allotted to them. It would be quite natural to hold that they could not leave the mill premises without the permission of the authorities. There is nothing to show that the workman under reference left the mill premises giving any information to any officer of the mill. If he was so ill, it is not understood how he left the mill premises at Sibpur and came to Burrabazar to live with the friends and relatives of his. He somehow procured a "fit certificate" from the Insurance Panel Doctor (Ext. I). This certificate was granted on 4th June 1958. It is mentioned in the "remarks" column of the certificate that the workman under reference did not attend the clinic up to 3rd June 1958. It appears from the letter (Ext. H) written by the Regional Director of the E.S.I. Corporation to the Company on 21st July 1958 that the workman under reference was called for medical examination on 2nd June 1958 but that he failed to attend and that, as such, his benefit had been suspended with effect from the said date. So, it appears that the workman did not attend the doctor's clinic up to 3rd June 1958 but he just went to the doctor on 4th June 1958 in the morning and reported to him that he was fit to resume his duties. From all these facts and circumstances, it appears to be clear that when his leave application to attend his son's marriage was rejected he took recourse to a device just for the purpose of attending the marriage ceremony. There could be no reason for the workman under reference to leave the mill premises without even telling the fellow durwans about his illness, and I am unable to believe that if he had been ill he would not have been looked after properly by his fellow workers or by the Medical Officer of the mill. I find, in consideration of the facts and circumstances discussed above, that he was guilty of gross misconduct for leaving the mill premises and remaining absent from duty from 28th May 1958 to 3rd June 1958 without any notice or permission. The dismissal was therefore justified and he is not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

AWARD

By order No. 2698-I.R./IR/10L-118/60, dated the 28th May 1960, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department referred an industrial dispute between Messrs. Modern Construction Co. and their workmen represented by United Contractors Workers' Union relating to the undermentioned issue to the Second Labour Court for adjudication.

Issue

Whether the refusal of employment to Shri Sidhu Charan Das is justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

The case of United Contractors Workers' Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union), briefly stated, is as follows:—

Shri Sidhu Charan Das, the workman mentioned in the issue of the order of reference, was a Template Maker in the employment of Messrs. Modern Construction Co. (hereinafter referred to as the Company) at Burnpur and was drawing a monthly salary of Rs. 325. He went to his native place on leave for 9th November 1959 and 10th November 1959 granted to him. While on leave he was attacked with dysentery and so could not return to Burnpur to resume duty on the expiry of the leave. He came back to Burnpur on 17th November 1959 and went to join his duty with a medical certificate in support of his illness; but he was refused employment. The matter was reported to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, and a conciliation proceeding was started. During conciliation the management agreed to take him back in service; accordingly he went to the management to get back his job; but he was not taken back in service. So the Union contends that the action of the management in refusing employment to Shri Sidhu Charan Das is arbitrary and as such unjustified.

The Company has raised a preliminary objection to the effect that this is an individual dispute and not an industrial dispute, because the cause of the workman in question has not been espoused or backed by any other employee of the Company.

As to the merits of the issue, the Company admits that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was drawing a monthly salary of Rs. 325. It also admits that he was allowed leave of absence for 9th November 1959 and 10th November 1959. According to the Company he was engaged in a very important job at that time; so at the time of the granting of the leave it was pointed out to him that on no account he should overstay the leave. Notwithstanding the above specific direction he did not report for duty on 11th November 1959. He called at the office of the Company in the afternoon of 17th November 1959 with a medical certificate purported to be dated 16th November 1959 from a doctor of Bataitala, Howrah. Shri B. C. Dey who is incharge of the Section took the said medical certificate and asked Shri Sidhu Charan Das to submit a petition stating the reason of his absence from 11th November 1959 to 16th November 1959. Shri Sidhu Charan Das went away, but did not thereafter submit the petition. It later transpired that he approached the Union, and the Union took up the matter with the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol. The Company does not admit that during conciliation the management agreed to take back Shri Sidhu Charan Das in service. The Company states that it wrote to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, that it would consider the re-appointment of Shri Sidhu Charan Das provided he was able to satisfy the management about the reasons of his absence from 11th November 1959. According to the Company Shri Sidhu Charan Das did not turn up to satisfy the management about the reasons of his absence. So the Company contends that it did not refuse employment to Shri Sidhu Charan Das who should be deemed to be a deserter and to have, by his own action, deliberately brought about a cessation of the relationship of employer and employee between the Company and himself. Hence the Company contends that Shri Sidhu Charan Das is not entitled to any relief.

Findings

I first take up the preliminary objection raised by the Company. The contention of the Company is that the cause of Shri Sidhu Charan Das has not been espoused by any other employee of the Company. In this connection the lawyer of the Company has drawn my attention to paragraphs 5 and 8 of the written statement of the Union wherein it has been stated that the cause of the workman in question was taken up by the Union. The lawyer of the Company points out that it has not been stated in those two paragraphs that the cause of the workman in question was taken up by the other workmen of the Company. But it is now settled law that espousing of the cause of a workman of an establishment by a Union of the workmen of that establishment is as good as espousing by the other workmen. The Union has adduced oral evidence to the effect that Shri Sidhu Charan Das and other workmen of the Company were and are members of the Union. The Company has challenged this oral evidence of the Union and has asked it to produce the membership register and other papers for determination of the question whether the oral evidence of the Union is true. The Union has not produced these documents. So this would raise a presumption that the oral evidence of the Union in this respect is not true. But in the conciliation stage or at any time before the adducing of the above oral evidence by the Union the Company did not say that the Union was not a Union of the workmen of the Company. So the non-production of the documents by the Union does not show that the oral evidence of the Union in this respect is not true. So I hold that the Union which has espoused the cause of Shri Sidhu Charan Das is a Union of the workmen of the Company and that as such this is an industrial dispute.

I next enter into the merits of the issue. According to the Company, when Shri Sidhu Charan Das appeared at the office of the Company with the medical certificate, he was asked to submit a petition explaining his absence; but he did not turn up later. According to Shri Sidhu Charan Das, as soon as he produced a medical certificate, Shri B. C. Dey told him that his serivce had been terminated and refused to allow him to resume work. Thereafter Shri Sidhu Charan saw the Managing Director of the Company who put him off for some days and ultimately told him that he would not get back his job. It cannot be thought that Shri Sidhu Charan Das would not care to get back his job. So if the Company had asked him to submit a petition, there is no reason why he would not comply with this simple order of the Company in order to get his job. So the statement on behalf of the Company that Shri Sidhu Charan Das did not turn up with the petition alleged to have been demanded by the Company is not true. The Company has also raised the point that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was absent from 11th November 1959 to 16th November 1959 without any intimation. If the Company wants to say that for this absence without intimation he should lose his job, the Company ought to have issued a charge-sheet to him and give him an opportunity to explain the alleged misconduct. The Company has also suggested that by his unauthorised absence he has automatically lost his job. But it has been admitted by the Company that it has no Standing Orders. Again, the model Standing Orders issued under the Standing Orders Act provide for such termination of service on account of unauthorised absence for at least 8 days. In the present case the unauthorised absence is only for 6 days. So it cannot be held that this unauthorised absence led to automatic termination of service. This contention is also contrary to the assertion of the Company that it demanded a petition of leave from Shri Sidhu Charan Das. The Company has stated in its written statement that while going on leave Shri Sidhu Charan Das was specifically asked not to overstay the leave. There is no satisfactory evidence on this point. Even if it were true, this can be no ground for termination of employment. If it is believed that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was really ill, and there is no reason not to believe this, Shri Sidhu Charan Das was physically unable to resume duty on 11th November 1959, in spite of any direction that might have been given to him, at the time of granting of leave to him. The Company has also pointed out the change in the date of the medical certificate. The change does not show that Shri Sidhu Charan Das made any interpolation in the date; it is quite likely that the doctor himself changed the date. Whatever may be the truth, the change in date would have been material if the Company had held any enquiry about the absence. If it be believed that the date was 15th November 1959 and not 16th November 1959, this would only show that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was not ill on 16th November 1959. But, as I have already stated, as the Company did not enter into that question, the change of date in the medical certificate is immaterial.

The above discussion clearly shows that the Company refused employment to Shri Sidhu Charan

Das. The contention of the Company that the himself deserted his work and thereby brought about the termination of his service is not true. The above discussion also shows that the Company has failed to give any valid reason for the termination of employment of Shri Sidhu Charan Das.

The next question is as to the relief. The contention of the Company is that at all material times in the role of a sub-contractor to Messrs. Indian Iron & Steel Co. Ltd., Burnpur, it undertook on contract steel fabrication jobs for its above Principal and that Shri Sidhu Charan Das had been employed in its Iron Section at Burnpur. That work of contract has long been over. Further in 1960 in pursuance of an agreement with the Union the Company retrenched about 200 men. So the Company contends that it has no longer any suitable job in which it can employ Shri Sidhu Charan Das. But it has been admitted by O.P.W. 1 Shri Pravakar Mukherjee, a Partner of the Company, that the Company has still some work in a small scale in the Indian Iron & Steel Co. and that it has started a fabrication factorty at Ranigunj. It is on evidence that Shri Sidhu Charan Das was engaged in fabrication work. So there must be some work for him either at the work in the Indian Iron and Steel Company or at the fabrication factory. Hence I order that Shri Sidhu Charan Das shall be reinstated. Shri Sidhu Charan Das admits that he has been working at Shalimar Steel Works for three months prior to the date of his evidence. He also says that he could not get employment earlier for want of a discharge certificate from the Company viz., Messrs. Modern Construction Company. But he admits that he did not request the Company for a discharge certificate. So if he was unemployed after losing his job under the Company, he was partly responsible for it. Hence I do not allow him full compensation on account of his unemployment. I order that he shall be paid compensation of Rs. 1,000 (Rupees one thousand) only on account of his forced unemployment.

An industrial dispute between Messrs. McLeod & Co. Issues

1. Free tiffin or tiffin allowance in lieu thereof.
2. Re-employment of retired persons.

AWARD

Upon receipt of the order of reference, notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

After service of usual notices upon the parties, the workmen represented by the McLeod's Indian Employees' Association (hereinafter referred to as the Union), filed the written statement on 28th December 1961. The case as made out by the Union is that this Company, i.e., Messrs. McLeod & Co. Ltd., established in 1887, is a highly prosperous concern and it acts as Managing Agents, Secretaries and Treasurers of various well-known stable and prosperous companies engaged in Jute, Tea, Engineering and other kinds of business. It is alleged by the Union, which was registered in 1946, that a large number of companies doing similar type of business situated in the neighbourhood of this Company provide the clerical and sub-staff with tiffin allowance, presumably because they feel that it is not possible for the low-paid employees to set apart a sum from their limited income for the purpose of tiffin which is otherwise a necessary item of expenditure in their daily budget. The question of free tiffin or tiffin allowance was, as a matter of fact, one of the issues referred to for adjudication to the Sixth Industrial Tribunal by the appropriate Government by an order, dated the 3rd November 1956. That dispute covered various points of dispute between the parties. The parties came to a settlement in course of that adjudication proceedings and the learned Tribunal on the basis of the terms of settlement gave an award in accordance with the terms as settled by the parties. It is stated by the Union that the Company at that time assured that the matter of tiffin would be favourably considered and, therefore, the issue was left open and not decided by the Tribunal as indicated in the terms of settlement made by the parties. It is contended by the Union that discussions and negotiations had been carried on by the Union with the Company on the question of free tiffin in favour of the employees and due to the unreasonable attitude taken by the Company no final settlement could be made and for that this reference had been made.

Regarding the second issue which relates to the question of re-employment of retired persons, it is alleged by the Union that the system of reappointment of the employees after retirement is bad in principle and is all the more worse for the simple reason that such reappointed persons are given lesser pay even though they are doing the same work as they were doing at the time of their retirement and also because of the fact that by such reappointment the door for fresh employment is blocked and the scope for promotion of the employees gets hampered. It is therefore contended that the employer should not be allowed to reappoint any retired person for any reason whatsoever.

The employer, i.e., Messrs. McLeod & Co. Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), then filed the written statement on 17th February 1962. It is contended by the Company that the issues as referred to this Tribunal for adjudication are not matters of industrial dispute as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Regarding tiffin allowance it is stated that the point had already been disposed of by a previous award which has not yet been terminated and therefore the workmen cannot reagitate the point.

Regarding the merits of the case it is alleged that the wages and dearness allowance paid by the Company to its employees adequately cover the expenditure to be incurred for tiffin and, as such, the question of extra payment as tiffin allowance should no arise.

Regarding reappointment of retired persons it is stated that the Company gave new appointment to a few retired hands from humanitarian point of view as the employees themselves appealed to the Company for getting such employment.

The case came up for hearing on 3rd August 1962 From the side of the Union Shri Rabindra Nath Majumder, the Vice-President of the Union, had been examined. The Company did not adduce any oral evidence. The parties relied on certain documents which are marked as exhibits.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the learned lawyers of the parties advanced argument in support of their respective contentions.

The Union demands that the Company should pay a tiffin allowance at 10 annas and 8 annas per day to clerks and sub-staff, respectively.

Before entering into the merits of the case, it is necessary to dispose of the preliminary legal point of objection raised by the Company challenging the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to adjudicate upon this issue of the dispute. Firstly, it is alleged that the dispute regarding tiffin allowance or tiffin is not an "industrial dispute" as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. I would at once say that this objection is not of any substance. The definition of "industrial dispute" is wide and comprehensive enough to cover any dispute or difference between the employer and the workmen which is connected with the conditions of labour of any person. Obviously, the dispute or difference between the parties on the question of free tiffin or tiffin allowance is a matter which cannot be said to be outside the definition of "industrial dispute".

The second point of objection is that there is already an award given by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of 28th January 1958, regarding the issue of tiffin and so long as that award is not terminated, the Tribunal must refuse to decide the issue. It appears that there was an award given by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal between the same parties covering 12 issues as then referred to the Tribunal for adjudication. The learned Tribunal gave his award on the basis of a compromise made between the parties in course of the adjudication on 28th December 1957. Obviously, the terms of settlement had been made a part of the award as an annexure to the award itself. It appears that one of the issues, i.e., issue No. 9 of that adjudication proceedings, was to the effect as to whether free tiffin or tiffin allowance should be given to the clerical and sub-staff. It is necessary to examine how that issue was decided by the Tribunal in accordance with the terms of settlement covering all the issues. Evidently, the meaning and force of the decision made by that award has got to be gathered from the terms of settlement itself as annexed to the award. It is clear from the terms of settlement annexed to the award that no determination or decision on issue No. 9 relating to tiffin allowance had been made by the parties. It is simply stated in the terms of settlement that the question of tiffin would be considered by the management. The plain and simple meaning of the terms is that the parties decided not to arrive at any decision on the point either by the adjudication of the Tribunal or by a voluntary settlement in course of the adjudication proceedings as the Company would consider the matter afterwards. Clearly it is not possible to give any other meaning to the wordings except that the issue was left open and that the parties thought it proper to make fresh attempts to arrive at a solution upon further direct negotiations. It is urged by the learned Counsel for the Company that in terms of the compromise award the question of tiffin was left to the sole discretion of the management and the workmen were bound to accept whatever the management decided on the question of tiffin allowance or free tiffin. I would at once say that the settlement as made by the parties was clearly to the effect that the matter of tiffin would be taken up for consideration by the management with the expectation of the workmen that an amicable settlement would be possible by direct negotiation between the parties. The subsequent course of events proves that fact conclusively. It appears from the evidence on record that the parties entered into direct negotiation for the purpose of coming to a decision on the question of tiffin allowance soon after the award was published in the "Calcutta Gazette". Shri Mazumder, who was the General Secretary at the time the settlement was made on 28th December 1957, stated before me that the management assured that they would consider the quantum and value of free tiffin afterwards, and on the basis of such assurance discussion had been carried on between the parties to come to a settlement. Now, apart from the evidence of Shri Majumder, P.W. 1, as to the intention of the parties at the time the settlement was made, it is clear from the language of the terms of settlement regarding issue No. 9 of that adjudication proceedings that the issue was left open for further considerations. The Company issued a notice on 27th May 1958 to the effect that it had been decided to provide tiffin to the clerical and sub-staff against a nominal charge of twenty-five naye paise per head per month (vide Ext. 1). In the said notice it was at the same time mentioned that the management reserved the right to discontinue the provision as to free tiffin as proposed at any time they deemed it proper. Naturally, by such notice the management did not express any desire to give free tiffin to the workmen in a manner as could be expected to last for a reasonable period of time. It was not as well mentioned in the notice as to what would be the value and quantum of tiffin to be given to the workmen. It is clear from the documents filed by the parties that the Union held meetings and carried on discussions with the management to come to a settlement with the management regarding the value and quantum of the free tiffin or tiffin allowance, and no definite assurance was given by the employer on this point and accordingly the negotiations failed. When no settlement by direct negotiation could be arrived at, the appropriate government referred the dispute which was still alive and was existing between the parties and not decided by the award, though, of course, the appropriate government at a certain stage before making the reference took it that the question of tiffin allowance was left to the sole discretion of the management. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case I am inclined to hold that by the award of 1958 no determination of the specific dispute regarding tiffin allowance had been made and for that the award must be construed as keeping the issue, as to tiffin allowance as open issue, at the consent of the parties who wanted to enter into further negotiations for the purpose of collective bargaining to come to a voluntary settlement of such a dispute.

Assuming for the sake of argument that there is a previous award in the sense of a final determination over the issue of tiffin allowance made by a Tribunal, the question arises for consideration whether there was any necessity under the law to terminate such an award. Obviously, under section 19(3) of the Industrial Diputes Act, an award remains binding upon the parties for a definite period. Under section 19(6) of the said Act, even after the expiry of the period of operation under sub-section (3), the award continues to be binding and for that written notice terminating the award need be given to bring to an end the operative force of the award. But all these provisions regarding the binding effect of an award and the termination of the award could not apply to such an award wherein no continuing obligation upon the parties had been imposed. Section 19(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act runs as follows: "nothing contained in sub-section 3 shall apply to any award which by its nature, terms and other circumstances does not impose, after it has been given to effect to, any continuing obligation on the parties bound by the award." Evidently, by the award of 1958, no continuing obligation had been imposed upon the Union to leave the question of tiffin allowance to be considered by the employer in any manner they liked. A matter not decided and left for further discussion and considerations creates no continuing obligation. In this view I hold that there was no necessity for terminating an award so far as issue No. 9 of that award was concerned.

Furthermore it appears that the employer gave a notice, in writing, on 4th April 1960 terminating the award of 1958 in respect of leave, medical aid, scales of pay and grade and dearness allowance (vide Ext. C). It is contended by the learned Counsel for the employer that by that notice the entire award had not been terminated. In my opinion, it appears that an award cannot be split up in terminating a part. So a notice of termination of a part of an award must be taken as termination of the entire award. In this view I hold that by the said notice the entire award had been terminated by the employer. So, the legal objections taken by the Company fail for all the reasons given above.

Let me now consider the merits of the case.

It appears that the Company provides with two cups of tea and two biscuits free of charge to the clerical staff and one cup of tea and one biscuit to the sub-staff from Monday to Friday and one cup of tea and one biscuit on Saturday. It may be noted that the Company while expressing the desire to introduce a free tiffin, made it clear that such provisions as to supply of tea and biscuit would be discontinued. Naturally the privilege enjoyed by the workers in getting free supply of tea and biscuit to a limited quantity cannot continue with the introduction of tiffin allowance. It appears to me that the provisions regarding supply of tea and biscuit free of charge stand too inadequate and insufficient for the purpose of a tiffin for the workmen for whom the working hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The workmen require more substantial food for the tiffin during such long office hours. In fact, the Company also felt that some provisions for tiffin should be made. The entire dispute between the parties is regarding the quantum, quality and value of tiffin to be given to the workmen. The management failed to give any concrete idea to the workmen on such point as to the value of the tiffin, for reasons best known to them. In deciding the question of the value of tiffin the Tribunal has got to take into account the practice prevailing in similar industry in the neighbourhood of this Company. The Union submitted a chart showing in it the particulars and the rates of tiffin allowance obtaining in as many as 31 concerns (vide Ext. 10). It appears from that statement that the rate of tiffin allowance had been fixed by award with respect to five concerns. Presumably the rate of tiffin allowance for the rest of the concerns had been amicably settled. Now all these concerns mentioned in Ext. 10 are Mercantile firms which are members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. It is well known that the workmen employed by the members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce get dearness allowance at the same rate which is linked up with the cost of living index. The basic salary of the different concerns are also not very divergent. It appears that there are reasons for the workmen here to entertain a grievance in the matter of tiffin allowance. It is always necessary to fix the wages of workmen including concession in food in the shape of tiffin allowance in a region-cum-industry basis with due consideration to the financial capacity of the employer. The Company adduced no evidence to show financial incapacity. The Union in the written statement mentioned that the Officers and the Junior Grade Assistants are provided with tiffin at a value of Rs. 5 per day in some cases and 10 annas per day in other cases. Considering the facts and circumstances of the case I hold that the clerical staff should be paid at 8 annas a day and the sub-staff at 6 annas per day on all working days. This Company employs 196 clerks and 131 sub-staffs. Additional financial liability created by this award cannot be said to be heavy for a concern like Messrs. McLeod & Co. I therefore decide accordingly this issue in favour of the workmen.

The point in dispute between the parties is over the question of reappointment of retired employees as clerks or as sub-staff. It is clear from the evidence that the Company had reappointed a number of persons after their retirement. The Union made an annexure to the written statement a document wherein the names of the retired persons so appointed together with the particulars about their dates of reappointment and the period for which they are working after retirement are given (vide Annexure "E", marked as Ext. 11). In that list appears the names of 11 employees and from amongst them only one, i.e., Shri Brojendra Nath Bose, serial No. 5 of Ext. 11, had since left in November 1961. It is contended by the employer that the Company has got the absolute discretion to select and choose any person for the purpose of being employed by them and for that the Company can make selection for the purpose of giving employment from amongst the retired persons. Obviously, the employer has got the sole discretion to decide about the qualification, worth, efficiency and eligibility of a person for the purpose of being selected and employed by the Company and to outside agency can force the employer to make the selection according to certain directives imposed upon him. There cannot therefore be any interference by the Tribunal in the matter of recruitment of persons as employees by a particular employer so far as recruitment from outsiders are made by the Company. In this case, however, these persons who had been reappointed after retirement on reaching the age of superannuation stand on a different footing inasmuch as those persons are not, strictly speaking, outsiders recruited from the open market.

The only reason assigned by the employer in support of the action of reappointment of retired persons is that those persons had approached the employer putting forward their financial difficulties expecting the generosity of the employer in making provisions for them by giving them fresh appointment. All these retired hands who had been thus reappointed filed an affidavit affirmed by them wherein it is stated that they were given fresh employment by the Company only on their representation to the management of their strained economic circumstances and the Company solely from humanitarian point of view gave them employment. They further state that they had got "no dispute" with the Company and this Union is not authorised to represent their case before the Tribunal. Naturally these persons on getting reappointment feel themselves satisfied with the employer for such act done in their favour by the Company and that they cannot have any grievance whatsoever for the action of the employer to their benefit. But the whole question is whether the workmen, in general, can make a grievance for such a policy followed by the Company reappointing retired hands. It may be noted in this connection that these retired hands are not paid the same wages as they had been drawing at the time of their retirement and that the Company on reappointment of these persons paid them consolidated wages at a lesser amount. As for example, Shri Chandi Charan Banerjee, serial No. 4 in Ext. 11, who was drawing a basic pay of Rs. 380 at the time of his retirement, was reappointed at a consolidated pay of Rs. 250 without any dearness allowance. Naturally, the Company was giving Shri Banerjee about half the wages compared to what he was getting at the time of his retirement, and at the same time getting the same services from him. It seems that by such a policy as to reappointment of retired hands the Company is economising the expenses under the head of "wages to employees". There is no controversy on the point that these retired hands on their reappointment just after retirement are doing the same work as they were doing at the time of retirement. The only difference is that the emoluments got considerably decreased. Naturally the entire idea of the Company is to utilise the services of experienced hands by paying them lesser wages. Admittedly, the age of superannuation for the workmen in this concern is fixed at 55 years by the award of the Mercantile Tribunal which came into operation from 17th February 1949. The specific provision of the award regarding retiring age runs as follows:

> "We decide that a man shall retire on completing 55 years. We do not favour extension of services, thereby blocking the way for younger people to get employments. In exceptional cases where both the employer and the employee agree, extension of services may be granted."

So, if the Company wanted to utilise the service of experienced hands, still fit to carry on their work, they could take recourse to the above provision by giving extension of service to the retired hands and retaining them in service for sometime after the age of superannuation. But in that case the Company could not avoid paying wages to such persons in the same scale and grade as they were getting at the time of reaching the age of superannuation. The Company is giving fresh appointment to the retired persons instead of giving extension just in order to pay them a lesser pay and at the same time get the same duties performed by them as at the time of their retirement.

The learned lawyer for the Company urged that the question of appointment of retired hands is not an industrial dispute as defined under section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. I had already considered this point when it was raised as a preliminary point for decision and passed an order, dated 27th August 1962, holding that the defination of the Act is wide enough to cover any point of difference between workman and employer which is connected with the employment of any person, and that this question is a point of industrial dispute. Having regard to the scheme and objects of the Act, and its other provisions, the expression "any person" in section 2(k) of the Act must be read subject to such limitations and qualifications as arise from the context; the two crucial limitations are (1) the dispute must be a real dispute between the parties to the dispute so as to be capable of settlement or adjudication by one party to the dispute giving necessary relief to the other, and (2) the person regarding whom the dispute is raised must be one in whose employment, non-employment, terms of employment, or conditions of labour (as the case may be) the parties to the dispute have a direct or substantial interest. In the absence of such interest the dispute cannot be said to be a real dispute between the parties. It is contended by the learned Counsel for the Company that the workmen in employment have got no direct or substantial interest, in the matter of employment of retired hands as fresh recruits as they are not affected in their terms of employment by such appointment.

The Union, on the other hand, urged that by the policy followed by the Company regarding reappointment of retired persons the legitimate aspiration for promotion of the clerks in the lower grade to the higher grades in which vacancies occur due to retirement of clerks gets hampered. Besides, it is alleged that the Company by the policy by itself creates stagnation in the matter of recruitment of young persons from outside, in these days of unemployment amongst that class. It is also contended that the policy is unfair as the wages paid to the retired men on reappointment is much less than what they should be paid for the services rendered by them. To my mind it appears that the clerks are directly concerned in the matter of this policy of reappointment of retired hands as it is connected with the question of their promotion. It appears that there are four grades and scales of pay for the different categories of clerks known as "C" grade, "B" grade, "A" grade and "Special grade." Naturally if there be any vacancy caused by the retirement of any clerk of any grade higher than the lowest grade or "C" grade, there is obviously a question of promotion even though that is a matter left to the discretion in an employer. In the normal circumstances in the case of vacancy of higher grade there is a clear prospect for promotion from the lower grade. In this view I hold that the clerks have got direct and substantial interest on the question of reappointment of retired persons. In the case of Messrs. Standard Vacuum Refining Co. of India Ltd. and their workmen reported in 1960, II, L.L.J. p. 233, the Hon'ble Supreme Court decided that an industrial dispute can arise even between an employer, and the workmen employed by the latter's contractor. The Standard Vacuum Co. gave a contract annually for cleaning (and) maintenance of the plant and premises. In the previous year, the contractor employed 67 workmen; in the next year the contract was given to Ramji Gordhan & Co. who re-employed only 40 of the workmen. As there was thus no security of service, the contractor's men were being paid less than the company's men, and they were moreover not entitled to several other privileges, the workmen raised an industrial dispute demanding that the contract system should be abolished, and all the workmen should be taken on the rolls of the Company. The question was raised before the Supreme Court as to whether this was really an "industrial dispute". It was urged that the dispute was between the workmen and the contractor. It was held that there is undoubtedly a real and substantial dispute between the Company and the workmen on the question of employment of contract labour for the work of the Company. The fact that in this case the workmen were employed by the contractor will not make the dispute any the less a real and substantial dispute between them and the Company.

Considering the facts and circumstances of the case, I hold that the policy followed by the Company in the appointment of retired persons is unfair and that it should be stopped so far as the reappointment of retired workmen from the category of clerks above "C" grade are concerned. So far the subordinate staff are concerned, I do not find that reappointment of retired hands affects the interest of the workmen. The same is the position with respect to the lowest grade clerks. Clerks retiring from such grade may be reappointed at employer's discretion. I do not therefore interfere with the question of reappointment from amongst the retired hands belonging to the sub-staff and the "C" grade staff.

This is the award.

and Messrs. Sen Pandit Private Ltd., both of Mercantile Buildings, Lalbazar, Calcutta, on the one hand and their workmen represented by the Motor Transport Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12, on the other, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the third schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947(XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Fifth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government, its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947(XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Raleigh Industries of India Ltd. and Messrs. Sen Pandit Private Ltd., both of Mercantile Buildings, Lalbazar, Calcutta, on the one hand and their workmen represented by the Motor Transport Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-115/62.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department Order No. 3427-I.R./IR/4L-39/62, dated 30th July 1962, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sen Raleigh Industries of India Ltd. and Messrs. Sen Pandit Private Ltd., both of Mercantile Buildings, Lalbazar, Calcutta, on the one hand (hereafter referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by the Motor Transport Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12 (hereafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The following issues have been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication in this case:

1. Scale of pay and dearness allowance of the drivers.
2. Hours of work and rest intervals of the drivers.
3. Leave and holidays of the drivers.

AWARD

After receipt of the reference, both the parties were called upon to appear and file their written statement, if any, on the points of reference. But up till now neither party has filed any written statement. However, the Union representing the workmen appears this day and files a petition stating that the workmen concerned and the Union will not proceed with the dispute before this Tribunal as they are to settle their dispute amicably out of Court in the best interest of the parties concerned. I see no mala fides in this prayer, and so I find that there is no dispute any longer between the parties. Accordingly, I pass a "no dispute" award. The petition filed this day need not form part of the award.

This is my award.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by order No. 3868-I.R./IR/7L-10/59, dated the July 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

Issue

1. Is the dismissal of Shri Upendra Nath Ghose justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of dismissal of a workman named Shri Upendra Nath Ghose. The workmen are represented by the Hooghly Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union (hereinafter referred to as the Union). The workman under reference was a Turner working in the Angus Jute Works, P.O. Angus, district Hooghly (hereinafter called the Company).

It is the case of the Union that Shri Upendra Nath Ghose (hereinafter called Shri Ghose) was in the service of the Company as a Turner since 1931. During his long period of service he was never charge-sheeted and was never given any warning or punishment for any misconduct. During the absence on leave of the Head Turner Shri Radhika Prosad Ghosh, the workman under reference was working as a Head Turner without getting the pay and allowance of the Head Turner. The workman under reference was an active member of the Union and sometime in September 1959 he reported against the durwans of the Company when a theft of a brass piece weighing about 20 lb. was detected by him. On 5th October 1959 when Shri Ghose was going out of the Finishing gate he was suddenly stopped by two durwans and was manhandled by them. He then reported the matter to the Labour Officer who sent them to the Manager. Next day, i.e., on 6th October 1959, he was given a charge-sheet with the allegations that he had been caught when trying to remove a brass piece from the factory. He replied to the charge-sheet in the morning of 7th October 1959 but no enquiry was held against him. He was given a letter of dismissal. The Union submits that this dismissal of the workman under reference was illegal and unjustified as it was clearly a case of victimisation. The Union therefore prays for reinstatement of Shri Ghose with all his back wages.

It is the case of the Company that Shri Ghose had been serving in the factory of the Company for a long time, that on 5th October 1959 he was caught by the durwans at the Finishing gate and was brought to the Manager at about 4-45 p.m. or 4-50 p.m., and a brass piece was recovered from him which was tied round the waist cloth of Shri Ghose, in presence of the Manager. The Manager then sent him to the Labour Officer for necessary action. It is the case of the Company that Shri Ghose admitted his guilt before the Manager and prayed for his mercy. When he was given a charge-sheet on 6th October 1959 he replied to the charges in the morning of 7th October 1959 admitting his guilt and prayed for mercy. The Company further states that the workman under reference was informed that an enquiry would be held at 2-30 p.m. on 7th October 1959, that Shri Ghose attended the enquiry, that the witnesses examined by the Company in presence of the workman under reference were not cross-examined by him and during the enquiry held in presence of the workman under reference and in presence of the workers' representative to the Works Committee the workman himself admitted his guilt, refused to cross-examine the witnesses and begged for mercy. After the enquiry was held the enquiring officer, i.e., the senior Labour Officer, Mr. Sen, submitted his report to the Manager and the workman being found guilty of theft of Company's article was dismissed from service. The Company denies any knowledge that Shri Ghose was an active member of the Union or that Shri Ghose ever made any complaint regarding theft of any brass piece sometime in September 1959 or that the workman under reference submitted a report against the durwans for any alleged connivance in the matter of theft of any brass piece. It is the case of the Company that although the workman under reference expressed his regret for having committed theft and he having admitted his guilt in an enquiry that was properly held the Company had every justification to dismiss him from service.

Decision

It is admittedly a fact that the workman under reference Shri Ghose had been working in the factory of the Company for a long time. There is nothing on record and there is no documentary evidence to prove that Shri Ghose was an active member of the Union or that he ever conducted any case against the Company or that he had ever any dispute with the durwans in connection with theft of any brass piece belonging to the Company. O. P. W. 1 Mr. T. A. I. Hogg, the Manager of the Company, gave evidence in this case. He said that Shri Ghose was brought to him in the afternoon of 5th October 1959 by a durwan, that the person of Shri Ghose was searched in his presence and that a brass piece (which has been produced before me) was recovered from Shri Ghose which was found tied round his waist by his cloth. Mr. Hogg further says that the workman under reference fell on his knees and begged for mercy. It appears from Ext. C that the Manager witnessed the recovery of a brass piece which was found concealed in the waist cloth of the workman under reference at about 4-45 p.m. on 5th October 1959. It further appears from this document that the Manager ordered the durwan to produce the workman under reference before the Labour Officer for necessary action. Exhibit B is the charge-sheet which was given to Shri Ghose on 6th October 1959. In his reply to the charge-sheet, dated 7th October 1959, it was noted under the signature of Shri Ghose that he explained the circumstances regarding the alleged occurrence in a separate petition, dated 6th October 1959. Both the petition and the note in the charge-sheet were under the signature of the workman under reference. In this petition which is a part of Ext. B, being the reply to the charge-sheet, the workman under reference admitted his guilt and asked for forgiveness or to permit him to tender resignation from service. In Ext. A Shri Ghose made statements on 5th October 1959 admitting his guilt that he had taken a brass piece for the purpose of removing it from the factory. It appears from Ext. D that the Labour Officer who held the enquiry considered the evidence adduced before him and also the statement of Shri Ghose and he submitted his report to the Manager recommending punishment.

During the proceedings, only three persons were examined, viz., the two durwans, Naina Singh and Harka Bahadur and the workman under reference Shri Ghose. One Shri Guru Das who is O.P.W. 4 is admittedly a member of the Works Committee. It appears from the records of the proceedings that the statements of the two durwans and of Shri Ghose were also signed by this particular member of the Works Committee Shri Guru Das. O.P.W. 4 Shri Das deposed that all the statements were recorded by Mr. Sen, and after the statements had been recorded, the same were read over and explained to the witnesses and the persons who made statements. This witness further says that the two durwans and Shri Ghose made their statements in his presence as he was all along present at the enquiry. I do not see anything to disbelieve O.P.W. 4 Shri Guru Das, and I fully believe the statement made by the other witnesses of the Company—the Manager and the two durwans. From 5th October 1959 to 7th October 1959 the workman under reference all along admitted his guilt and prayed for mercy. His first suggestion was that he might be excused and reinstated or that he might be permitted to tender his resignation so that he could withdraw his gratuity and Provident Fund money. It further appears from Exts. F and F-1 that Shri Bibhas Ghose, the Secretary of the Hooghly Zilla Chatkal Mazdoor Union, wrote to Mr. Chatterjee of the I.J.M.A. and to Mr. Sen, the Labour Officer of the Company requesting both of them to exert their influences and request the Manager of the Company to review the order of dismissal passed against the workman under reference and permit him to resign from service on compassionate grounds so that the workman might get the normal retirement benefits including gratuity and Provident Fund. From the evidence adduced before me from the documents that I have referred to above, it is abundantly clear that Shri Ghose committed theft of a brass piece belonging to the Company and was caught when he was trying to pass through the gate with the stolen property, that since he was caught he begged for mercy both from the Manager and from the Labour Officer. Finding that his entreaties were of no avail, he made out a long story in the written statement which the Union has completely failed to prove.

I have already said that the Union has completely failed to prove that the workman under reference was an active member of the Union or that he ever conducted any case against the Company or that any one of the management had any grudge against him for which he might be falsely implicated for an alleged theft. There is absolutely no evidence that any employee of the Company had any grudge against Shri Ghose. The Union has completely failed to establish any case of victimisation or unfair labour practice. The proceedings, it appears to me, were properly conducted and the workman under reference had every opportunity to defend himself and submit all that he had wanted to say. As a matter of fact, whatever statement he made was recorded by the enquiring officer in presence of a member of the Works Committee and it is in evidence that the statement of the workman under reference was read over and explained to him in Bengali by the Labour Officer. On the basis of the evidence adduced before the enquiring officer, the only possible conclusion that the Labour Officer could come to was that Shri Ghose was guilty of grave misconduct for having committed theft of an article belonging to the Company. This being the case, I am unable to interfere with the action taken by the management in dismissing Shri Ghose. The documents produced before me and the evidence given before me prove conclusively that Shri Ghose did commit theft of a brass piece and that he had admitted his guilt to the Manager and to the Labour Officer. The only finding that I can give under the circumstances is that the order of dismissal passed by the management is fully justified. The workman under reference, therefore, is not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

AWARD

An industrial dispute between the Bengal Club Limited and one of its employees Shri Santi Ranjan Samaddar was referred to the First Labour Court by the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department by their order No. 1410-I.R./IR/11L-104/57, dated the 7th April 1958. During the pendency of that dispute Md. Khalil, a workman of the above Company, filed a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against that Company before that Court. That Court passed its award in respect of the above industrial dispute. Before it could dispose of the above complaint, it was abolished by notification No. 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, dated the 11th July 1960. So, in exercise of the power conferred by clause (c) of sub-section (i) of section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department by their order No. 2772-I.R./IR/11L-104/57, dated 23rd May 1961, referred the above complaint to this Court (Second Labour Court) for adjudication.

Shri J. K. Ghosh, appearing for the Company, has raised the preliminary objection that the order by which the Government of West Bengal has referred this complaint to this Court for adjudication is bad in law. His contention is that section 10(i)(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act under which the reference is purported to have been made has empowered the appropriate Government refer an industrial dispute or any matter appearing to be connected with or relevant to the dispute to a Labour Court for adjudication. In the present case the Government of West Bengal has referred a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act and not an industrial dispute to this Court for adjudication. Shri N. R. Roy, appearing for the complainant, replies that it has been stated in section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act that the complaint mentioned in that section shall be adjudicated upon as if it were an industrial dispute. From this Shri Roy concludes that a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act may be treated as an industrial dispute. So in the preesnt case the Government of West Bengal have acted correctly in referring the complaint under section 10(i)(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Section 10(i)(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act says that where the appropriate Government is of opinion that any industrial dispute exists or is apprehended, it may refer the dispute or any matter appearing to be connected with or relevant to the dispute to a Labour Court for adjudication. So the first requisite for any reference under the above section is that what is referred must be an industrial dispute. According to Shri N. R. Roy a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is an industrial dispute and in support of his contention he refers to the concluding lines of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. But those lines only say that a complaint should be adjudicated upon as if it were an industrial dispute. They simply enjoin upon a Court dealing with the complaint to follow the same procedure and to demand the same standard of proof as are required in adjudication of an industrial dispute. They do not equate a complaint mentioned in that section with an industrial dispute. So I reject the contention of Shri N. R. Roy that a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act should be treated as an industrial dispute for the purpose of section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The next question is, though the complaint is not an industrial dispute, whether it is a matter appearing to be connected with or relevant to an industrial dispute. In the present case as the preamble to the present order of reference shows, an industrial dispute existed betwen the Company and an employee named Shri Santi Ranjan Samaddar. The complainant in this case does not claim that his dismissal is in any way connected with that dispute. There is also nothing to show that this dismissal is relevant to that dispute. So I hold that the complaint of Md. Khalil which has been referred to this Court is neither an industrial dispute nor any matter appearing to be connected with or relevant to any industrial dispute. As a matter of fact, the order of reference does not say that the Government of West Bengal are referring any industrial dispute to this Court for adjudication. It clearly states that they are referring the complaint of Md. Khalil to this Court for adjudication.

It may be contended that the Government of West Bengal treated the complaint of Md. Khalil or his dismissal leading to the complaint as a subject-matter of an industrial dispute, and as such referred the dispute to this Court. But there is nothing in the order of reference to show that the Government of West Bengal were of opinion that an industrial dispute existed or was apprehended about the subject-matter of the complaint of Md. Khalil. It is true that this Court has no jurisdiction to enter into the reasons which lead an appropriate Government to come to an opinion about the existence or apprehension of an industrial dispute. But before this Court can assume any jurisdiction under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, it must be told in clear language that the appropriate Government is of opinion that an industrial dispute exists or is apprehended. In the present case the Government of West Bengal have not said so.

So I hold that the Government of West Bengal have failed to confer any jurisdiction on this Court to adjudicate upon the complaint of Md. Khalil. The other method by which this Court could assume jurisdiction to adjudicate about the complaint were the filing of a complaint before this Court and the legal transfer of a complaint to this Court. Neither of these methods has been adopted in the present case. Hence I hold that I have no jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the complaint of Md. Khalil purported to have been referred to me by the Government of West Bengal. So I refuse to enter into the merits of the complaint.

AWARD

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by the petitioner Shri Pancham, for reinstatement to his former job with full back compensation, etc., on the following allegations: The petitioner has been a permanent worker in the Reeling Department of the Company, having put in long years of continuous service. He possesses a strong physique and was discharging duties efficiently. On and from 15th December 1961 he has been refused employment by the Opposite Party Company without good reason and by violating the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Despite repeated representations the Company did not allow him to resume his duties.

Briefly stated, the case of the Opposite Party Company is this: The story of violation of the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by the Company is untrue and hence the present application under section 33A of the Act is untenable. There has been no change in the condition of petitioner's service, so that the present application is quite misconceived. The Company denies about good physical condition of the petitioner and the allegations of refusal of employment to him. On a complaint by the Departmental in-charge that the petitioner lue to his old age and infirmity was not capable of loing his normal work with normal skill and efficiency, the Company by its letter, dated 7th November 1961, required him to get himself medically examined by the Company's Medical Officer. Upon a medical examination on 16th November 1961 the petitioner was found medically unfit for discharge of his duties with normal skill and efficiency. In the circumstances, the Company intimated to the petitioner by letter, dated 16th November 1961, that n terms of the provision of clause 18 of the Standing Orders of the Company, the services of the petitioner should stand terminated with effect from 18th December 1961. In view of the physical condition and old age of the petitioner, it was impossible for him to work with normal efficiency and he was incapable of being kept in employment, and as such he question of change in the condition of service loes not arise. For these reasons the application nust be rejected.

I first deal with the legation objection taken by he Company. In order that an application under ection 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is to be naintainable. it must necessarily be proved that there as been violation of the provisions of section 33 of Act by the Company.

It is, therefore, to be seen whether the Company ad at all violated the provisions of section 33 of ne Industrial Disputes Act. According to the ne Industrial Disputes Act. According to the Com- any it took action against Pancham, the workmen oncerned, on medical grounds under clause 18 of its tanding Orders. The Company has put in its tanding Orders before the Tribunal (Ext. E). It rovides that the services of any workman are liable o be terminated, if he is found to be medically unfit y the management or in the event of his partially r permanently being disabled. Now, section 33(2)(a) f the Industrial Disputes Act provides that during endency of a proceeding before a Tribunal the mployer may, in accordance with his Standing rders applicable to a workman concerned in such ispute, may alter, in regard to any matter not onnected with the dispute, the conditions of service pplicable to that workman immediately before ommencement of such proceedings. According to he applicant, he had right to remain in service and o his usual jobs, and these conditions of his services ere altered by refusing him further employment by ne Company. Although it is denied on behalf of ne Company that there was change in the conditions f applicant's service, there was in fact termination f the workman's service by the order of the Company nd this termination would naturally tantamount to scharge of the workman. That being so, the roviso to the said section would come to apply. nder this proviso, no workman shall be discharged nless he has been paid one month's wages and the ompany has applied before the Tribunal for approval its action taken against the workman concerned. the present case, one month's wages are not said have been paid to Shri Pancham and no application r approval of the Company's action was also filed. aus the provisions contained in the said proviso ere contravened, and hence the application under ction 33A of the Act is found to be maintainable.

Coming to the question of merits, it is admitted at the applicant, Shri Pancham, was involved in an cident within the Company's factory pretty long ago and, as a result, his left leg had to be amputated up to the thigh. For this reason, therefore, he was certainly disabled physically. But the man was not discharged about that time; rather he was allowed to work in somewhat lighter job. Before the accident he worked in the machine of two ply ropes, whereas after the accident he used to fit loaded bobbins in the machines. This continued for some years. Two years before his discharge he was given the work of cutting remnants of threads in used bobbins. The Company does not appear to have taken any steps even during those two years to terminate his service on medical grounds. It was only on 16th November 1961 that the in-charge officer made a report to the Factory Manager that Shri Pancham was unable to do his duties due to old age so his retirement from duty should be arranged. Upon that report the Company by its letter, dated 7th November 1961, asked the applicant to get himself examined by the Company's Medical Officer as it was reported that due to his old age and infirmity he was not capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency. The report itself (Ext. A) did not mention about infirmity and incapability of doing normal work with normal efficiency; it only stated about inability to do duty due to old age. So the Company, instead of retiring the applicant upon that report, added something of its own in its letter, dated 7th November 1961 (Ext. D), and got the applicant medically examined.

The Medical Officer has deposed before the Tribunal and proved his medical report, dated 16th November 1961 (Ext. B). According to this medical report, the Medical Officer examined the man and his opinion is the man was not capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency due to old age, age being over 70 years. The doctor (O.P.W. 2) says that he examined the applicant by making a general check and examined the heart, chest, etc., but in cross-examination he admits having not personally seen what works the applicant used to do about the time of his medical examination and having not wanted to get first-hand knowledge about the man's work and efficiency by actual demonstration. Thus, he gave his medical report without any verification as to the applicant's works and ability on the spot. The doctor appears to have made in his report only a ditto of what the Company actually wanted him to do (vide Ext. D, dated 7th November 1961). Such a medical report should not, in the circumstances, be depended upon in a case like this.

Of course, the applicant has undoubtedly become physically disabled partially, not wholly, and he is also sufficiently old in age. But old age alone was not a ground of his discharge. The real ground of his discharge appears to be inability to do normal duty. In this respect the evidence appears to be confusing. While the applicant himself says that he could cut 2 or 2½ skips of threads of bobbins a day when his colleague could cut 4/5 skips of bobbin threads daily, stating that he told the departmental-in-charge about his inability to cut quantities like others, the in-charge officer (O.P.W. 1) has deposed somewhat in favour of the applicant. At first he said the applicant could cut 1½ skips of threads while other workers could cut 3 skips. But towards the close of his cross-examination he said that by working 8 hours the applicant could cut 3/3½ skips of threads. If this statement be correct then the applicant can be easily said to have been maintaining the required standard of work. In this state of things I rather consider the applicant's discharge a very unfortunate step taken by the Company after the man was allowed to go on with the same sort of work for years in spite of his partial physical disability due to the accident. There does not appear to be very strong and sufficient reason for terminating his services at long last. In my view, the applicant should be allowed to do the self-same job which he had been doing for two years or more before the order of his discharge. Accordingly I allow the application and direct that the Company shall reinstate him to his former job with continuity of his service, and to give him all back wages for the period of his involuntary unemployment, within a month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sohanlal Mohanlal, 62 G. T. Road, Pilkhana, Howrah, and their workmen represented by West Bengal Chakki Workers' Union, 90 Lower Chitpore Road, Calcutta. (Case No. VIII-610 of 1960.)

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act made by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6068-I.R./IR/11L-497/60, dated Calcutta, the 22nd November 1960, of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Sohanlal Mohanlal and their workmen represented by the West Bengal Chakki Workers' Union. The only issue in the reference is whether the termination of employment of Shri Biseswar Mondal is justified and to what relief, if any, he is entitled. By a Corrigendum made by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6231-I.R./IR/11L-229/61, dated the 30th October 1961, this issue was substituted by the following issue; Whether Shri Biseswar Mondal is entitled to get wages for the period he was absent from the 18th July 1960 to the 25th July 1960, due to accident.

Neither party filed a written statement in the case in spite of notices. On the 9th of March 1962 one Shri Kali Charan Ghosh appeared for the Company and Shri Ram Chandra Pandey, Assistant Secretary of the Union, appeared for the Union. On that day Shri Ghosh filed a petition stating that the case had been compromised before the Labour Officer and that in terms of that Shri Biseswar Mondal resumed his duties, with effect from 16th January 1962, and drew all his dues on 17th January 1962. Another application was filed on the 16th March 1962 along with a copy of the settlement. But there is no note in the order-sheet that this is so. In any case, as the settlement was arrived at after the reference, it was legally invalid but it was open to the parties to act on that compromise if they wanted, and I told them as much on that date and they were given time till 12th March 1962, vide order No. 16, dated 9th March 1962. On 12th March 1962 Shri Kali Charan Ghosh appeared for the Company again and told me that the Union representative was not co-operating with the Company and the compromise petition could not be filed. The Company thereafter sent another application by registered post. This application was received on the 16th March 1962. Along with the application a copy of the memorandum of settlement arrived at before Shri R. M. Paul, Labour Officer, Howrah, on 21st December 1961, long after the reference was sent. The application stated that as it had been compromised, the Tribunal should pass a "no dispute" award on the matter. On this application a notice was issued on the Union directing it to say whatever it had to say about the compromise. The notice was duly served but the Union never appeared thereafter. Thereafter another notice was issued on the Union directing it to file its written statement. Although the notice was duly served, the Union did not take any step to file its written statement. Then the Company was directed to file written statement. It did so. Thereafter neither party appeared although orders requiring the parties to file their documents and also for their appearance for fixing a date of hearing were passed. Even after the notice on the parties after the date of hearing was fixed neither party appeared. It appears from the copy of the settlement that the worker would be paid all his arrear dues amounting to Rs. 206.06 nP. and he would be taken back in employment within a month's time and the period of his absence would be treated as leave without pay. The Company in its written statement stated that all the terms and conditions of the settlement were given effect to and the workman Shri Biseswar Mondal resumed his duties on 16th January 1962. The fact that neither party appeared even after the notices of the date of hearing were served on them goes to show that the matter has been settled and there is no longer any dispute between the parties. The Tribunal has therefore no option in the circumstances but to pass a "no dispute" award. My award therefore in this reference is that there is no longer any dispute between the parties.

Taken at my dictation and corrected by me.

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of the closure of Messrs. Ashok Biri Factory, at Kharagpur, district Midnapore (hereinafter called the "Company"). The workmen are represented by the Biri Mazdoor Union of Kharagpur (hereinafter referred to as the "Union").

It is the case of the Union that the Company employs a large number of workers for manufacturing biris in its factory, but the wages paid to the workers being very low, there was an agreement between the workers represented by the Union and 18 Biri Manufacturing Concerns at Kharagpur. It is alleged that by the terms of the agreement this particular Company was required to pay the workers at the rate of Rs. 2 per thousand biris made by each worker and the agreement was executed in April 1958. The Union alleges that since the agreement, the Proprietor of the Company was insisting upon the workers to accept lower rates and that when the workers refused to accept the rate lower than what was agreed upon between the Company and the Union of the workmen, the Proprietor of the Company suddenly closed the factory on 17th August 1958 without giving any notice of the closure to the workmen. The Union therefore prays that the Proprietor may be directed to pay full wages to the workers for the period of forced unemployment from 17th August 1958, or in the alternative, to grant the workers retrenchment benefits.

The Company in its written statement admits that by the agreement arrived at between a large number of Biri Manufacturing Concerns and their workmen represented by the Union this particular Company agreed to pay the workers Rs. 2 per thousand biris manufactured by each of them. The Company alleges that there is no factory or any particular place of work for the workers to manufacture biris but that the workers used to take biri leaves, tobacco, cotton threads, etc., at their residences or some of them used to make biri either in the retail shop of the Proprietor or at his own residence and the workers who had no fixed hours of work used to get Rs. 2 per thousand biris made by each of them which was paid to them at the end of each week. The Company denies that the Proprietor ever wanted to reduce the rate from Rs. 2 or that he ever insisted upon the workers to accept lower rates for thousand biris made by each of them or that he closed the business as the workers refused to accept lower rates. The Company alleges that some time in the middle of 1958 Shri Biren Chakraborty who happened to be the Secretary of the Union came to the shop of the Proprietor and insulted the Manager of Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee who used to supply tobacco leaves to the Company. The Secretary of the Union threatened to assault the Manager of Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee. A few days after the occurrence the firm of Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee wrote to the Proprietor of the Company that the firm would not supply any tobacco leaves to this particular Company as a result of which the business had to be closed. The Proprietor immediately informed the Labour Commissioner about the situation and of the closure of the business. It is further alleged by the Company that since the closure of the business of manufacturing biris the Proprietor is selling biris which he purchases from open market.

Decision

The President of the Biri Mazdoor Union of Kharagpur (P.W. 1, Shri Jatindra Nath Mitra) was examined in this case. He does not appear to have any personal knowledge of any occurrence in the shop of the Proprietor of the Company. His evidence is that the Company closed its factory on 17th August 1958 without giving any notice of closure. It is his evidence that the Company employed 41 workers and although there was an agreement by which the Company was required to pay each worker Rs. 2 per thousand biris made by them, the Company was insisting on the workers to accept lower rates and that when the workers refused to accept lower rates he closed the factory and started a new business in a separate place with the help of 23 of the old workers who eventually agreed to accept lower rates. The President of the Union did not sign the agreement which was entered into between the Biri Manufacturing Concerns of Kharagpur and their workmen in April 1958. P.W. 1 says that the Union wrote a letter to the Labour Commissioner that this particular Company illegally laid off the workers but he could not produce the copy of such a letter. P.W. 1 admits that the Company maintain registers and that all payment made to the workers are entered in the registers. The Company has produced the biri account Khata (Ext. A), the licence from the Central Excise Collectorate (Ext. D) and the Central Excise Book (Ext. E). The biri account book shows that in 1958 the Company had been employing daily 9/10 workers and that 6,000 to 7,000 biris were made by the workers everyday. The Central Excise Book (Ext. E) shows the entries in respect of sale and production of biris per day. This book appears to have been regularly checked by the Central Excise Collectorate and the Khata contained the signatures of the Officer who had examined it. It appears from the Khata (Ext. E) that the business was closed from 17th August 1958 and the entries were made in this Khata till 16th August 1958. The endorsements made by an officer of the Central Excise Collectorate show absence of transactions from October 1958. O.P.W. 1 Shri Radha Raman Karmakar was the Proprietor of the Company. It is admittedly a fact that no attendance register was maintained by the Company. The reason must be this that in a place where biris are usually made there cannot be any fixed hours of attendance or regular hours of work as the workers are paid on piece rates and not for working in a factory for a fixed number of hours. It is the admitted case of both the parties that each worker was paid Rs. 2 for making one thousand biris. The biris are really made by an individual worker without the help of any machine or without the aid of power. It is the usual practice for a worker to make biris according to his own convenience, either at a place provided by the employer or sometimes in his own residence. It cannot be said that a person making biri for an employer was paid any fixed wage for doing any work in a fixed place for any specified number of hours. I believe O.P.W. 1, the Proprietor, that some of the workers used to make biris in the space that he could provide in his retail shop, that some used to work in his own residence and that the other workers used to make biris in their homes. As there was no factory and as the workers were not paid wages for working for any specified number of hours everyday and as there was no question of granting of holidays to workers making biris, the Proprietor of such concern could close his business at any time if circumstances compelled him to do so. In this particular case, it is alleged by the Proprietor that he is himself a "refugee" and as he started the business of making biris by purchasing biri leaves and tobaccos on credit from a particular firm, he could not run his business by making cash purchases of biri leaves and tobaccos. He alleges that some time in the middle of 1958, the Manager of Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee came to his shop when the Secretary of the Union insulted him and threatened him with assault. In view of this fact, Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee wrote to the Proprietor telling him that the Company would not supply the biri leaves, tobaccos, etc., to the Proprietor. O.P.W. 1 says that as the Company had stopped supplying biri leaves, tobaccos, etc., and she was not in a position to make cash purchases, he was compelled to close the business and he immediately sent a telegram to the Labour Commissioner. The Company has filed the letter written to the Proprietor by Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee and a copy of another letter shows that the Proprietor also wrote to the Labour Commissioner on 16th August 1958. Whether the Secretary of the Union did insult the Manager of the supplying firm of Messrs. Virjee Dharamshee or not is a different matter altogether, but the fact remains that this particular firm which had been supplying tobaccos, leaves, etc., to the Proprietor of the Company on credit stopped supplying the articles, as a result of which the Proprietor was in distress. O.P.W. 1, the Proprietor says that on account of the suppliers stopping supplies of tobaccos, leaves, etc., he was compelled to close the business and that since then he is doing the business of selling biris which he purchases from the open market. T closure was therefore due to circumstances beyo his control. It is the case of the Union that t Proprietor has again started business of manufa turing biris, but I must say that the Union has con pletely failed to prove this allegation. There is n satisfactory evidence to prove that O.P.W. 1 is aga manufacturing biris with the help of some of the o workers whom he is paying at a rate lesser than t rate that had been fixed by the agreement of Ap 1958. I do not see anything to disbelieve O.P.W. that he has not been manufacturing biris since t closure of his business of manufacturing biris fro 17th August 1958.

I have considered the evidence adduced by t Union and also by the Company and I find that th closure of the biri manufacturing business of t Company was justified. The workers are therefo not entitled to any relief.

This is my award.

An industrial dispute between Messrs. Pan Chap Bidi Factory, P.O. Jhalda, district Purulia, and their workmen represented by Purulia District Bidi Karigar Union, P.O. and district Purulia, over the following issues, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7733-I.R./IR/11L-511/61, dated the 12th December 1961.

Issues

1. Whether the lock-out declared by the Management on and from 17th September 1961 was justified?
2. What relief, if any, are the workmen entitled to?

AWARD

Upon receipt of the order of reference, notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

Registered notice issued upon the employer, i.e., Messrs. Pan Chap Bidi Factory, was returned by the postal authorities with an endorsement on the postal cover to the effect that the factory was found abolished. After that the workmen represented by Purulia District Bidi Karigar Union filed the written statement on 11th July 1962. Along with the written statement, the Union filed a list of workmen employed in this concern, who are alleged to have been locked out without any justification by the employer. As the employer did not turn up, a registered notice was again issued by me which as well was returned unserved with a similar endorsement, dated 4th May 1962, made by the postal authorities on the postal cover that the factory was abolished. It is apparent from the case made out by the Union in the written statement that as soon as the employer declared lock-out from 17th September 1961, a telegram was sent by Shri Amulya Karmakar, the President of the Union, to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, intimating the fact of lock-out and soliciting intervention of the Directorate. It further appears that the Assistant Labour Commissioner called a joint conference of the parties with a view to effect conciliation. The Union made annexures to the written statement the copies of the letters written by the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, for the purpose of holding the joint conference on 29th September 1961 and 4th October 1961. In the last letter addressed by the Assistant Labour Commissioner to the Management, it had been pointed out that in case they failed to attend the meeting, the dispute might be referred to Tribunal for adjudication. Apparently, the reference had been made by the Government as all attempts for conciliation failed due to the unreasonable attitude taken by the employer. As the employer failed to turn up before the Tribunal in spite of intimation about the existence of dispute and about the reference of the dispute to the Tribunal, I feel that the employer has no mind to contest the case. I thus took up the case for ex-parte hearing on 27th August 1962.

From the side of the Union Shri Rabin Chakraborty, the Vice-President of the West Bengal Bidi Mazdoor Union, of which organisation this Union, i.e., Purulia District Bidi Karigar Union, is affiliated, was examined. It appears from his evidence that the employer all on a sudden declared a lock-out without giving any prior notice on and from 17th September 1961. The lock-out so declared is apparently illegal. It appears that the lock-out was declared as the Union had been representing their grievances of the workmen to the Company for redress of the same. Apparently, the employer closed down the place of business by reasons of the dispute that the workers raised to redress their grievances. Clearly, the employer thus refused to continue to employ the workmen without in any way terminating their services by way of discharge, dismissal or retrenchment. It is clearly established by the evidence that there was refusal by the employer to allow the workmen to attend to their duties without in any way terminating their services. The lock-out continued in full for three days, i.e., up to 19th September 1961. As I find that the lock-out was illegal and unjustified, I hold that all the 70 workers as named in Annexure "A" attached to the written statement would get full wages for those three days. I appears from the evidence that the daily earning of a worker was Rs. 2-4. It is accordingly held that the workers would get wages for those three days at the rate of Rs. 2-4 daily.

It appears further from the evidence that the lock-out was partially lifted, with effect from 20th September 1961 when the employer allowed 37 of the workmen to resume their duties and refused employment to the rest 33 workmen. Clearly, therefore, the employer has not closed down the business. It cannot thus be said on the evidence on record that the factory stood abolished. The names of 33 workmen appear in serial Nos. 38 to 70 in Annexure "A" to the written statement. So far as these 33 workmen are concerned, the lock-out is continuing. As there has been no termination of service of these persons, I take it that the relationship of master and servant still subsists and that the employer simply by refusing to continue to employ these 33 persons as were employed by them had locked them out. Such partial lock-out is clearly unjustified and illegal. For them I direct that they be paid at the rate of 9 annas daily, i.e., at one-fourth rate from 20th September 1961 up to date, for all the working days in that period.

This is the award.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Blackwood Hodge (India) Private Ltd., 139 Beliaghata Road, Calcutta-15, and their workmen represented by Blackwood Hodge Employees' Welfare Union, 16/2 Sibtola Lane, Calcutta-15. (Case No. VIII-97/61.)

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department, order No. 1111-I.R./IR/11L-55/61, dated 9th March 1961, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Blackwood Hodge (India) Private Ltd., 139 Beliaghata Road, Calcutta-15 (hereafter referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Blackwood Hodge Employees' Welfare Union, 16/2 Shibtola Lane, Calcutta-15 (hereafter referred to as the Union) for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication in this case runs as follows:

Bonus for the year 1958-59.

AWARD

After service of usual notices, both the parties have entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. In the order of reference the workmen were purported to be represented by Blackwood Hodge Employees' Welfare Union, 16/2 Shibtola Lane, Calcutta. But during the pendency of the proceedings another Union also made its appearance and filed a separate written statement. This Union is named Blackwood Hodge Workers' and Employees' Union. Though the two Unions file two different written statements and differ in certain respects regarding calculation of available surplus, in fact they have common case and their contention is that the workmen are entitled to additional bonus out of surplus profits of the year 1958-59. The workmen's case is that the present Company is one of the largest and well-established concerns of all-India repute having its branches in different parts of India, and it earns a huge profit as sole Distributor and Agent of well-renowned trading concerns of the world. It is conceded that the Company has already paid two months' bonus for the year under consideration, and their contention is that the Company should pay additional bonus equivalent to three months' wages for that year.

The Company in its written statement opposes the workmen's prayer and raises different objections in this respect. The first objection of the Company is that in view of an award, dated 11th March 1956, based on terms and settlement between the parties as also a tripartite agreement, dated 2nd December 1959, the workmen are no longer entitled to raise any dispute in respect of bonus for the year under consideration.

As regards merit, the Company's contention is that in view of wages and other benefits and amenities provided by this Company to its employees, they cannot legitimately demand any additional bonus, because the provisions thus made by this Company are in no way less favourable than that is provided by other similar industries of the region. It is also submitted that the Company never paid any bonus to the workmen which can be construed as customary or as a condition of service for the workmen. Whatever bonus, if any, the Company paid in the past was to be determined on the basis of the trading results of the Company. It is also urged that the profits earned during the year are not sufficient enough for payment of additional bonus to the workmen as claimed.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows.

Decisions

I may observe at the very outset that it is nobody's case before me that the additional bonus claimed by the workman is a customary one or a condition of service. It is the clear contention of the workmen that the bonus they are praying for is a profit sharing bonus and not a customary or traditional one. In fact, no such custom or tradition has been proved before this Tribunal. There is no evidence before this Tribunal that payment of bonus was made a condition of service either expressly or impliedly. So, the bonus, if any, due to these workmen must be determined by the available surplus, if any, calculated according to the principles commonly known as Full Bench Formula.

Before entering into the issue of bonus, I must consider the technical objections raised on behalf of the Company in this connection. The Company draws my attention to an award passed by Shri B. L.

Sarkar, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal, published in the "Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary", dated 10th September 1956. This award was passed in terms of a settlement arrived at by the parties and the terms of settlement have been incorporated in that award. By this settlement, the Company and the workmen came to terms in respect of bonus for the years 1956, 1957, and 1958 also. In other words, it was settled that the bonus claim up to the end of the year 1958 will be guided by the said settlement. The Company next draws my attention to a tripartite settlement, dated 2nd December 1959, published in the West Bengal Labour Gazette in December 1959. From that settlement it will appear that the Union submitted a fresh charter of demands on 7th January 1959, and after several tripartite and bypartite conferences they came to an agreed settlement on 2nd December 1959. This settlement was to come into effect from 1st January 1960 and remain valid and operative for three years, i.e., up to and ending 31st December 1962. By that tripartite settlement the parties fixed certain grades and scales of pay, came to terms relating to tiffin, overtime wages, privilege leave, sick leave, medical aid, gratuity, special increment, upgrading, etc. It was further agreed between the parties that the Union would not raise any issue involving any financial commitment by the Company or incurring any further financial liabilities other than those already committed in the body of the settlement, during the currency of the agreement, i.e., up to and ending 31st December 1962. It was also provided that nothing contained in this agreement should adversely affect or take away from any employee or any group of employees any financial advantages and amenities that were already being enjoyed by such employees or group of employees. From the above circumstances, it is urged on behalf of the Company that the workmen are not entitled to raise any claim for additional bonus in view of the stipulations already referred to in the above tripartite agreement before the expiry of the year 1962. I may at once mention in this connection that the business year of this Company commences on the first of November and ends on the last day of October following. In fact, it is conceded before me also that the workmen claim bonus in the present case in respect of the year 1958-59, i.e., for the business year ending 31st October 1959. Thus it will be clear that at least two months of this business year are covered by the award referred to above, because the award was intended to be effective up to the last day of the year 1958. The workmen's contention is that the claim for additional bonus for the relevant year was due and was actually raised after the completion of the business year 1958-59 and before the advent of the year 1960, and that the relevant point of time in which the claim was actually raised is not covered either by the previous award or the subsequent tripartite settlement. It is also contended that by the last proviso to the tripartite settlement it was made clear that the workmen should not be precluded from claiming advantages and amenities which they were already enjoying. I think these contentions of the workmen have considerable force. Of course, there is no escape from the conclusion that bonus in respect of the first two months of the year under consideration was intended to be governed by the previous award of 1956. So, the workmen cannot but abide by that award, so far as these two months are concerned. On the other hand, so far as the next 10 months are concerned, the workmen cannot be estopped either by the said award or the subsequent tripartite agreement, because this period was not intended to be covered by either of the two settlements. So, I have no reason to dismiss the claim of the workmen forthwith as desired by the Company. So, the preliminary objection raised on behalf of the Company cannot succeed in full.

Now I shall discuss the claim for bonus on merit. It is no longer in dispute that the present claim for bonus should be determined in accordance with the Full Bench Formula evolved by the Full Bench of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Mill Owners' Association, Bombay vs. Rastriya Mill Mazdoor Sangh, Bombay, in 1950. Their lordships in that case made the following observations:

> "As both capital and labour contribute to the earnings of the industrial concern, it is fair that the labour should derive some benefit if there is a surplus after meeting the prior or necessary charges. This formula was approved in several later decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The formula was however thoroughly examined and explained by their lordships of the Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Companies vs. Their workmen (A.I.R. 1959, 967). This formula which has been adopted all throughout the country and has so far worked satisfactorily should be adhered to, though there is scope for certain flexibility in the working thereof in accordance with the exigencies of the situation."

In the present case also, I may observe, neither party has seriously disputed the applicability of this formula, because the demand is for profit-sharing bonus and not for any bonus on the ground of custom or condition of service. The first essential condition for raising a demand of bonus is that the wages of the workmen concerned must fall short of the living wages standard, and the onus of proving that there is disparity between the existing wages and the living standard lies with the workmen themselves. In the present case, there is really no dispute between the parties on this point. It is not the case of the Company that it has been paying living wages to its workmen. In fact, it is the definite case of the workmen concerned that their wages fall far short of the living standard, and the Company also indirectly admits this position by paying certain amount of bonus amicably to their workmen. So, without further discussion, I at once conclude that the workmen of the present Company also are not getting living wages as yet. It will not be superfluous to add that the ideal of living wages is yet to be achieved in our country, and this dream may remain unfulfilled for many more years to come.

Next essential condition for a successful claim for bonus is that the Company must earn some profits, because profit sharing bonus can be paid only out of surplus profits after meeting the prior charges. The claim for bonus in the present case relates to the year 1958-59, and the accounting period or the business year of the Company ends on 31st October each year. The business year of this Company is from September to October. The Company has filed its balance-sheet and the profit and loss account in respect of the year under consideration. The profit and loss account of the Company shows a net profit of Rs. 8.02 lakhs. The Company has earned a fairly big amount of net profits, and accordingly it must be held that the second condition has also been duly fulfilled in the present case.

In this view of the matter, I am next to consider how the profits are to be computed for determining the available surplus for distribution as bonus. For this purpose, the Tribunal is required to ascertain the gross profit of the Company and to deduct therefrom prior or necessary charges to find out surplus, if any, out of profits. Actually both the parties have filed their calculations of available surplus. I may point out here that on 2nd October 1961 a chart showing the computation of available surplus for the purpose of bonus distribution was filed on behalf of the Company. But this chart was subsequently partially modified and a fresh chart was filed by the Company on 2nd March 1962. For facilitating further discussion in the matter, I quote below the later chart of the Company:

Similarly the Employees' Welfare Union submitted two different calculations on two different dates regarding available surplus. This Union filed the first calculation on 15th January 1962, but subsequently it was modified partially by a fresh one which was filed on 7th May 1962, and I quote below the second chart of the Union for facilitating further discussions.

I may mention in this connection that the Workers and Employees' Union also purported to file a computation chart of available surplus. But I do not think, it will be worthwhile to reproduce the same in this case, because this calculation has been done in a different way and is not very helpful for the purpose of discussion. From the charts quoted above, it will be clear that the parties do not differ as to the amount of net profits earned during the year by the Company. In fact, the profit and loss account read with the balance-sheet supports this net profit. I may also mention in this connection that the workmen do not seriously challenge the details of figures mentioned in the balance-sheet or the profit and loss account. In fact, all the figures taken by the Unions for computation of available surplus have been taken from the balance-sheet and profit and loss account of the Company for the relevant year. It is the common case of both the parties that for ascertaining the gross profits, total provision for depreciation amounting to Rs. 2.08 lakhs, development rebate reserve amounting to Rs. 05 lakhs, depreciation reserve (new machines) amounting to Rs. .05 lakhs, bonus already paid to employees amounting to Rs. 1.30 lakhs, the amount shown as extraneous loss on account of sale of old assets, the difference between provision and actual payment of leave passage amounting to Rs. .10 lakhs should be added back to the net profit quoted above. The Union, however, contends that a sum of Rs. .33 lakhs written off as bad debts should also be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. The learned representative for the Company strongly opposes this contention. It is the accepted principle of law by now that bad debts within off should be charged to the profits of the year and must be treated as revenue expenditure. Shri Baidyanath Mitra (P.W. 2) states in his deposition that the Company should not have written off the bad debts, because they did not take proper steps for recovery thereof. The witness's idea is that the Company could have realised the bad debts and yet it did not make proper attempts to realise the same. But I find no basis for this contention of Shri Mitra. On the contrary, Shri V. Nagarajan, Accountant of the Company, swears that the amount shown as bad debts was actually written off during the year, and the Company actually wrote off such bad debts only when it was definite that the amount was no longer recoverable. In fact, I may point out that the Company has filed a photostat copy of its ledger to show the amount of written off bad debts. In the circumstances, I may at once observe that there is no reason why the amount written off as bad debts should be added back for assessing the gross profits. Even assuming that the whole or a portion of this amount of written off bad debts may be eventually recovered in any later year, the workmen shall in that case be entitled to claim the realised amount as profit of the year in which it is recovered. So, without further discussion, I reject this contention of the Union.

It is next argued on behalf of the workmen that the amount of Rs. .10 lakhs paid as wealth tax should be added back because no wealth tax was actually payable in respect of the year in question. Shri Nagarajan states in his deposition that wealth tax has not been and should not be added back because such a sum was actually paid during the year though in respect of a previous year. He, however, concedes that no wealth tax was payable by the Company for the business year 1958-59. Shri Sambhunath Basu Mullick (P.W. 3), a witness on behalf of the workmen, swears that for the trading year 1958-59, the assessment year will be 1960-61. If any wealth tax was paid during the year 1958 in respect of any previous trading year, the amount should be added back for ascertaining the gross profits, and this amount should not be charged to the earnings of the year 1958-59. Thus it is more or less conceded by both the parties that no wealth tax was actually payable for the year 1958-59, though some payment was made during this year towards wealth tax. If the amount paid as wealth tax related to any earlier year, it cannot be charged to the revenue of the relevant year for the purpose of calculation of bonus. On the other hand, in view of the provisions of the Finance Act, 1961, no wealth tax is payable by a Company in respect of assessment year 1960-61, which is based on the net wealth of the Company as it stood on the last day of the previous trading year. In other words, the net wealth of the Company as it stood on the last day of the previous completed trading year shall determine the wealth tax payable for the assessment year 1960-61, and no tax is payable for this assessment year. In the present case, the Company's trading year does not correspond with the financial year. We are concerned with the trading year 1958-59 which ends on the 31st day of October 1959. As the last date of the trading year falls within the financial year 1959-60, the last day of the trading year 1958-59 will determine the wealth tax payable in 1960-61. So, in view of the provisions of the Finance Act, 1960-61 no wealth tax is actually payable by the present Company in respect of its trading year 1958-59 which over-laps the financial year 1959-60. So, the Union rightly asks for addition of this wealth tax for the purpose of determining the gross profits of the year.

The next question is whether the sum of Rs. .45 lakhs paid as additional customs duty during the year should be added back. The contention of the workmen is that this amount was paid in respect of imported goods during the previous business year and so it should not be charged to the revenue of the year under consideration. The Company's case on the other hand is that the additional customs duty was paid on consignments received in or after November 1958, of course, barring 2/3 items thereof. With regard to the excepted 2/3 items, it is contended that these goods were received and taken into account during the year in question. Exhibit A will show what were the items for which this additional customs duty was actually realised. The schedule annexed to this exhibit will show that four of the items related to previous trading year. Under the Sea Customs Act, the customs duty is payable in respect of the goods taken delivery of from the Custom House, and this payment is to be made before the goods are actually released by the Custom House. So, the payment of duty is not regulated by the fact as to when the goods were really received by the Company or to which year's real account the goods were entered. So, I think, the additional customs duty paid in respect of four items connected with the previous year should not be charged to the revenue of the year under consideration. So, instead of adding the whole amount of Rs. .45 lakhs for ascertaining the gross profits, a sum of Rs. .03 lakhs should be added back, the rest of the additional customs duty being paid for the year under consideration.

The next contention on behalf of the workmen is that a sum of Rs. 5,691 paid as subscription and donations during the year should be added back. The learned representative for the Company draws my attention to the fact that in the calculation submitted by the workmen on 15th January 1962 this amount was not sought to be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. But in the revised statement filed on 7th May 1962 the workmen for the first time sought to include the said amount for assessment of gross profits. In this connection, I may refer to the profit and loss account, and from there it will appear that there was an expenditure to the tune of Rs. 13,393 towards subscriptions and donations. For reasons best known to the Union, the whole of this amount is not sought to be added back. The learned representative for the workmen refers me to the Income-tax Assessment Order wherein a sum of Rs. 5,691 only under the head donations, etc., has been added back for ascertaining the assessable gross profits. Of course, it is not clear from the assessment order why out of the said amount of Rs. 13,000 and odd, only a sum of Rs. 5,000 and odd has been sought to be added back. From a scrutiny of the profit and loss account, however, it appears that this amount of expenditure includes two kinds of expenses—some being donations and some being subscriptions. I may point out here that donations cannot be said to be business expenditure or revenue expenditure. But certain subscriptions may be of the nature of business expenditure. As the workmen themselves do not want to add back more than Rs. 5,691, for the purpose of this case, I think, this sum alone should be treated as donations and thus liable to be added back. So, I direct that for the purpose of assessment of gross profits, a sum of Rs. 5,691 shall also be added back.

It is next urged that a sum of Rs. 450 shown as legal charges should also be added back for ascertaining the gross profits, because this amount was disallowed by the Income-tax Authorities. Similarly it is urged on behalf of the workmen that a sum of Rs. .39 lakhs shown as entertainment expenses and a sum of Rs. .10 lakhs shown as Directors' remunerations should be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. It may be mentioned at once that in the earlier calculation chart filed on behalf of the workmen, these items of expenditures were not sought to be added back. These claims for add backs have been made for the first time in the latter chart. P.W. 3 Shri Sambhu Nath Basu Mullick prepared both these charts on behalf of the workmen. This witness happens to be a Chartered Accountant. He states in his deposition as follows:

> "I have made some additional add backs as Shri Jiten Banerjee (workmen's representative) pointed out to me that the Income-tax Officer disallowed certain items of expenditure on the ground that they were non-trading expenses. This is the only reason why I have added back certain items in the calculation filed today."

The revised calculation is thus primarily based on the findings of the Income-tax Authorities alone. In this connection, I may point out that the latitude of the Income-tax Authorities is far more extensive than that of a Tribunal in the matter of assessment of gross profits for bonus purpose. Here I may refer to the decision of the Supreme Court in the case between Crompton Parkinson Works (Private) Ltd., Bombay, and its workmen and others (vide 1959 II L.L.J. 382). It has been held in that case that the test of commercial necessity applied by the Income-tax Authorities for determining whether the expenditure is allowable under section 10(2)(xv) of the Income-tax Act could not be applied by the Industrial Tribunal in determining as to whether any item of expenditure found in the accounts relating to the year in question should be allowed in whole or part in order to determine the available surplus. The Income-tax Authorities are entitled to apply the test of commercial necessity by reason of express provision of section 10(2)(xv) which authorises them to arrive at the taxable income, profits and gains after making allowance for expenditure laid out and expended wholly or exclusively for the purpose of the business. There is no such provision in the Industrial Disputes Act. In the absence of cogent and compelling evidence leading to the definite conclusion and finding that a purported expenditure was sham or had been made with the express object of minimising the profits with a view to deprive the workmen of their bonus, it is no part of the duty of the Industrial Tribunal to substitute its own judgment as to what was or was not commercially justified in the place of the judgment exercised by the Company and its Directors in whom in law the Management of the Company is confided. Hence, no portion of the contractual service fee payable and in fact paid in the year in question to the parent Company, could be disallowed on the ground of its being excessive and beyond the requirements of commercial necessity, etc.

From what I have stated above, it will be clear that the workmen have no cogent evidence to establish that these items of expenditure were really sham expenditure for reducing the profits of the year. It was suggested on behalf of the workmen that the legal charges mentioned above were actually incurred in connection with some personal litigations of some of the Directors. But there is not an iota of evidence to establish any such allegation. It has been pointed out on behalf of the workmen that the Directors are entitled to certain remunerations and certain amount for entertainments on the basis of an express contract between the Company and the employee concerned. Those amounts spent for entertainment and as Directors' remunerations were really contractual liabilities of the Company. As the Board of Directors or the Company has allowed the entire amount as revenue expenditure, this Tribunal has no authority to deduct any portion thereof, simply on the ground that the Income-tax Authorities disallowed a portion thereof on the plea of absence of commercial necessity. In this view of the matter, my considered opinion is that all these items cannot be added back for ascertaining the gross profits for bonus purpose.

It is next contended on behalf of the workmen that a sum of Rs. 34,386 entered as doubtful debt reserve in the balance-sheet should be added back for ascertaining the gross profits. But I may at once point out that there was no such revenue expenditure in the profit and loss account, and as such the question of adding back the same for assessing the gross profits does not arise. If in appropriating the net profits of the year the Company has transferred a portion of its profits to the doubtful debts reserve account, that amount cannot be said to be a revenue expenditure out of profits. So, this claim made on behalf of the workmen must be negatived. In this connection, it is urged on behalf of the workmen that a sum of Rs. 2,712 obtained as refund of customs duty during the year should be deducted out of the gross profits of the year. Of course, if this amount of customs duty was refunded in respect of transactions of any earlier year, certainly the amount would not be the profits of the relevant year. So, this is a question of fact and must be judged on the basis of the evidence adduced by the parties. Thus much is clear from the profit and loss account that this refund was actually allowed in course of this year. Whether this amount was in respect of the transactions of any previous year can be best proved by the Company. The workmen no doubt challenge the allegation that this refund was due to any previous year's transaction. The Company's Accountant, Shri V. Nagarajan, states in his deposition that the refund of customs duty deducted out of gross profits was in respect of the previous year. But at the same time he admits that there is no paper to support this statement of his, and therefore he is not sure if this refund was actually in respect of any transaction of the previous year. So this amount cannot be deducted out of gross profits of the year.

In view of the above discussion, the calculation of gross profits will be as follows:

		Rs. (lakhs)
Net profit as per Profit and Loss Account		8
Add back—	Rs. (lakhs)
Depreciation of fixed assets ..	2·09
Development rebate reserve ..	·05
Depreciation reserve (new machines)	·05
Difference between provision and actual payment on account of leave passage	·10
Capital loss due to sale of assets ..	Small amount
Bonus already paid	1·30
Wealth tax	·10
Additional Customs Duty ..	·03
Donations	·06
	3·78	3·78

The gross profits having been ascertained for the year under consideration, the next step is to determine how much of this profits is to be distributed as bonus amongst the workmen. But the entire gross profits are not surely distributable as bonus, because the Full Bench Formula has categorically laid down that the question of distribution of bonus arises only after deducting the prior charges from the gross profits. If there be any surplus available after deduction of prior charges, then only the question of distribution of bonus arises. The first prior charge to be deducted is notional normal depreciation calculated in Straight Line Method in accordance with the Full Bench Formula read with the Income-tax Act and Rules thereunder. It has been laid down in different decisions of their Lordships of the Supreme Court that no initial or additional or development rebate is to be deducted out of the gross profits. The notional normal depreciation is to be calculated in Straight Line Method with reference to original cost of the plants and machineries, etc., in accordance with the Income-tax rules irrespective of what the Company has set apart for the purpose. We are not concerned in this connection with the actual depreciation allowed by the Income-tax Authorities in assessing the assessable income. In the present case, the Company has not furnished sufficient materials for calculation of notional normal depreciation in Straight Line Method with reference to original cost of acquisitions. However, from the assessment order of the relevant year it appears that normal depreciation under the Income-tax Act was calculated with reference to written down value, and this normal depreciation for the year under consideration was Rs. 1.32 lakhs approximately. Usually, the notional normal depreciation is not likely to be smaller than the simple normal depreciation under the Income-tax Act. But in the absence of any better material I think, the amount of normal depreciation should be deducted out of the gross profits as a prior charge. In fact, both the workmen and the Company have deducted this amount of normal depreciation out of the gross profits as if it is the notional normal depreciation.

The next prior charge for deduction is income-tax. It is more or less settled law by now that the actual income-tax payable by the Company on the basis of the statutory depreciation allowed by the Income-tax Authorities for the relevant accounting year should be taken into account as a prior charge irrespective of any set off allowed by the said authorities for prior losses and also irrespective of any other considerations such as building up of income-tax reserves for payment of enhanced liabilities of income-tax accruing in future. Thus for the purpose of bonus, income-tax should also be determined more or less notionally. It is conceded by both the parties that the gross income-tax payable for the year should be roughly 45 per cent. of the gross income. The Company's latest chart will show that it has for obvious reasons under-assessed the gross profits, and so the income-tax has been assessed at Rs. 4.63 lakhs. On the other hand, the Employees Welfare Union has over-assessed the gross profits and accordingly the income-tax was assessed at Rs. 5.43 lakhs. I am afraid neither of these two calculations can be accepted for our purpose. I have already calculated the total amount of gross profits for the purpose of bonus. So, the income-tax should be calculated on that gross profits less full statutory depreciation as per Income-tax Assessment Order filed by the Company. Thus the total amount of income-tax under the Full Bench Formula will be Rs. 4.70 lakhs.

The next item of prior charge to be deducted is return on capital—paid up and working. The present Company is more or less a trading concern and the paid up capital thereof is Rs. 3.50 lakhs. The Company has claimed six per cent. return on this paid up capital, and the Union also does not object to this. It is not the Company's case that the business of the Company is unusually risky, and therefore it deserves return at a higher rate. Nor it is the contention of the workmen that the return should be less than six per cent. in the present case for any special reason. So, accepting the common case of both the parties, I allow six per cent. return on paid up capital, and this return comes to Rs. 2.21 lakhs. The Company's case is that it utilised the reserve fund of Rs. 19.17 lakhs as working capital during the year under consideration, and so it should be allowed a reasonable return thereon for the entire year. However, for the purpose of assessment of return, the Company divides this amount into two parts. The Company's contention is that the reserve fund of Rs. 17.99 lakhs was there from the beginning of the year under consideration, and this whole amount was utilised as working capital throughout the year, and so four per cent return should be allowed on this sum. It is alleged that a reserve of Rs. 1.18 lakhs was earned during the year and was utilised also in course of the year, and as such two per cent. return should be allowed on this sum. The contention of the workmen on the other hand is that though the reserve in the commencement of the year amounted to Rs. 17.99 lakhs, on the closing date of the year a sum of Rs. .74 lakhs only was in hand as cash and bank balances, and so this amount should be deducted out of the reserve fund, and return should be calculated on the balance thereof. In other words, according to the Union four per cent. return should be allowed on a reserve of Rs. 17.25 lakhs used as working capital. In this connection, I may refer to the balance-sheet, and it will be clear therefrom that the Company roughly had a sum of Rs. 17.99 lakhs at the commencement of the year as reserve and surplus. In appropriating the net profits earned during the year, the Company has lately added to the amount of reserve, but there is no proof on record to show that the profit earned during the year was actually utilised as working capital. In fact, before the amount of net profits was transferred to the reserve fund, it cannot be said to be a reserve in the true sense of the term, and it cannot be treated as Company's own money. In this view of the matter, no return is allowable on the amount of so-called increase in reserve at the close of the year. So, no return whatsoever is allowable on the sum of Rs. 1.18 lakhs added to the previous reserve by way of appropriation of net profits calculated at the close of the year. The balance-sheet further shows that an amount of Rs. 74 lakhs was there in the Company's hand as cash and bank balance, and this amount cannot be said to be reserve used as working capital. However, as the Company has earned a fairly big amount of net profits during the year which was there somewhere, this amount of cash and bank balance need not be deducted from the general reserve and surplus for calculation of return thereon. In this view of the matter, I think, a reasonable return should be allowed on the entire general reserve available at the commencement of the year, i.e., on the amount of Rs. 17.99 lakhs. It is conceded by both the parties that four per cent. return is a reasonable one for the reserves used as working capital. So, without further discussion, I find that the Company is entitled to Rs. .72 lakhs as return on reserve fund used as working capital.

The next item of prior charge which the Company could claim is rehabilitation charge. But there is no evidence before this Tribunal to show that the Company deserves extra rehabilitation charges besides what have been allowed as statutory depreciation or notional normal depreciation. In fact, nothing has been claimed on account of rehabilitation charge by the Company. I have already found that no wealth tax was payable for the relevant year. So, there is no other prior charge to be deducted from the gross profits of the year. The following is the calculation of available surplus under the circumstances:

		Rs. (lakhs)
Gross profits		11·78
Less—
National normal depreciation ..	1·32
Income-tax	4·70
Return on paid-up capital ..	·21
Return on reserve used as working capital.	....
	6·95	6·95
Available surplus ..		4·83

The available surplus having been determined, now it is for me to decide what quantum of bonus should be paid in this particular case. The precise quantum of bonus that should be paid to the workmen is a matter of considerable difficulty, and each case has to be determined on the facts and circumstances thereof. In the A.C.C. case their Lordships of the Supreme Court have pointed out that three parties are entitled to claim a share in the available surplus, i.e., the labour claims bonus from it, the industry claims a share for the purpose of its expansion and other needs and the share-holders claim a share by way of additional return on the amount invested by them. It is not in dispute that the present Company is a commercial concern, and is not a manufacturing unit. They are mainly distributors of machineries, etc., imported from abroad. The Company's paid up capital is not very big, and it has to depend largely on borrowed capital. Of course, in the meantime, it has accumulated a fairly big amount of general reserve. It is also a fact that the Company being a trading concern, the workmen's contribution in earning the profits is not as big as ordinarily presumed in manufacturing concerns. The salesmen have to contribute largely in disposing of the stock in trade. So, these facts are some of the relevant circumstances which are to be kept in mind while distributing the available surplus amongst the different parties. The Company has already paid Rs. 1.30 lakhs as bonus roughly, and it is in evidence that one month's wages of the workmen come to Rs. .65 lakhs. Thus after carefully considering all the facts and circumstances, my considered opinion is that the workmen are entitled to bonus equivalent to four months' wages which will roughly come to Rs. 2.60 lakhs. It must also be remembered that the Company will be entitled to a refund or rebate of income-tax in view of its payment of bonus to the workmen. So, the amount of outstanding available surplus for the industry and the shareholders will be quite big and reasonable. So, I direct that the Company shall pay to its workmen bonus equivalent to one-third of the wages earned by the workmen during the relevant year less bonus already paid to them. The payment shall be made within one month of the publication of this award.

This is my award.
